New Orleans snipers elude copter gunners

Watergate trial gets under way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.

The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.

The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Five of the men were captured at gunpoint inside the sixth-floor offices at 4:30 a.m. last June 17 at a time when Democrats were winding up a long run of presidential primary races.

The incident immediately became a campaign issue because of the links between the men and the Nixon administration and campaign. But the White House and Republican party have consistently denied any connection with the break-in and the alleged related electronic eavesdropping and theft of documents.

Congressional attempts to bring some kind of official inquiry into the open before the Nov. 7 presidential election failed, making this trial the first public display of an official investigation.

So far, most of the investigation which has reached the public has been conducted by news media, which have reported allegations that the break-in was part of a wide-scale campaign of political espionage and sabotage against Democrats.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield disclosed over the weekend that he has ordered a full-scale Senate investigation, ensuring a probe into any political areas that might be overlooked by the trial.

In a pretrial hearing last week, Charles Morgan Jr., a lawyer representing a number of Democratic officials and party employes, said he had information that the government prosecutors would try to show that blackmail, and not politics, was the motive behind the bugging.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert has said he intends to offer evidence "from which the jury may draw, we think, an appropriate inference as to perhaps a variety of interests."

Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has said he would not brook a prosecution which treats the case as just another burglary.

"This jury is going to have to know what did these men go into that headquarters for," Sirica said at a pretrial conference. "Was their sole purpose political espionage? Were they paid? Was there financial gain? Who hired them? Who started this?"

Six dead in hotel gun battle

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police gunners at the ready in a Marine helicopter hovered over a battle-scarred downtown hotel today but couldn't spot two snipers believed to be still alive after an overnight shooting spree in which 6 persons were killed and 16 injured.

It was one of the few passes by the big Chinook chopper that did not draw gunfire.

City officials blockaded many streets around the downtown Howard Johnson Hotel for fear somebody might be hit by stray bullets or ricochets if firing resumes.

Police were moving cautiously in an effort to prevent further fatalities. The 18-floor hotel was deserted except for police and the surviving snipers.

One of the snipers was killed Sunday night, gunned down by policemen riding the big Marine Sikorsky chopper during one of many assaults on the concrete structure atop the roof where the snipers holed up.

A firefight flared before dawn, passing overhead by the chopper, with policemen, firing, forced one of the snipers down a stairwell — where three policemen were trying to get into firing range.

The three policemen were superficially wounded in the gunfight before it was broken off.

It all started about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when the snipers, described by police as blacks, began setting fires in the hotel. When firemen arrived, they came under gunfire.

At one point during the predawn darkness, one of the surviving snipers was reported to have crawled to the other end of the hotel roof. Police sharpshooters in surrounding buildings opened fire, but Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except by marksmen 600 yards away in the federal building.

His order came when policemen on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were being fired upon, apparently by their own men.

Giarrusso, who lost his No. 2 man and two other officers in the sniping which began Sunday, had said earlier he would take no chances.

"Time is our ally," he said. "They're at our will now. We're going to win.'

The snipers had started their shooting before noon Sunday, peppering the area with gunfire throughout the day after setting sections of the hotel afire. The hotel is

Kissinger, Tho in showdown talks

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho resumed their peace talks in an apparently icy atmosphere today, conferring for 4½ hours in a suburban villa owned by the French Communist party.

It was the first meeting of the two top negotiators since the talks were suspended Dec. 13 and followed by massive American bombing raids on North Vietnam.

Resumption of the peace talks was reportedly part of a backstage deal under which President Nixon ordered the raids halted above the 20th Parallel on Dec. 30. North Vietnamese public statements since then have given no hint of a softening in Hanoi's position.

Tho, as host of today's meeting, seemed to go out of his way to demonstrate Hanoi's anger over the bombing. For the first time since the secret talks began, Kissinger and his aides were given no handshake when they arrived and left the meeting.

On their arrival, the Americans were left standing for almost a minute at the front door of the villa in suburban Gif sur Yvette. Kissinger finally pushed open the door and went inside. The American negotiators emerged grim-faced after the meeting, again with no North Vietnamese official on hand to bid them farewell as in the past. During previous meetings, Tho and Kissinger were frequently seen shaking hands and smiling together. There was no information from either delegation on what was discussed at the meeting, or when the two sides would meet again.

HIGH-FLYING ROMANCE — The first "airborne wedding" at the Fayette County Airport took place Saturday afternoon when Eddie Pendergraft, of 508 Carolyn Dr., center, and Miss Betty Shatz, exchanged vows a mile high over the landing strip. Jeffersonville Mayor Donald M. Morrow, left, performed the civil ceremony and Airport Manager Bill Dennis piloted the plane. Two other planes carrying friends of the betrothed couple flew in formation beside the nuptial aircraft and "witnessed" the rites. The bridegroom, maintenance superintendent at Memorial Hospital, holds a pilot's license.

U.S. planes err, bomb Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — An American flight leader mistakenly guided five U.S. fighter-bombers into an accidental attack on the Da Nang Air Base today.

Ten Americans and one Vietnamese were reported wounded by shrapnel or injured while running for cover. No deaths were reported. The western part of the base where be the bombs hit is thinly populated.

The U.S. Command reported that about half a dozen U.S. AC119 gunships and one helicopter were lightly damaged by flying shrapnel and four fuel tanks were destroyed.

The command first reported the explosions at 8:20 a.m. as an enemy shelling attack. Seven hours later, it announced that an investigation showed five Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers "flying above a heavy overcast accidentally dropped 34 500-pound bombs at Da Nang Air Base."

The intended target was suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions near Da Nang. The flight leader reportedly ordered the bombs dropped at the wrong map coordinates.

The planes — an Air Force F4 Phantom, two Marine F4s and two Navy A7 Corsairs — came from two bases in Thailand and from a carrier off the coast, and the pilots may have been unfamiliar with the Da Nang area.

The U.S. Command reported continued heavy aerial assaults on North Vietnam's southern panhandle with the object of slowing war materiel moving down to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Forty-five B52s dropped about 1,300 tons of bombs, and there were 124 strikes by fighter-bombers during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks in South Vietnam dropped from an average of 100 per day during the past five days to 77 for the 24 hours ending at dawn today, the Saigon command said. Sixty of the attacks were carried out by rockets and mortars and involved no infantry assaults, headquarters said.

Laird says Vietnamization makes U.S. pullout viable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, the first Cabinet official to face Congress since last month's heavy bombing of North Vietnam, said today that Vietnamization has made possible the total withdrawal of U.S. forces once POWs are released.

"The South Vietnamese people today, in my view, are fully capable of providing for their own in-country security against the North Vietnamese," Laird said in a final report to Congress prepared for the House Armed Services Committee.

He said the Saigon government's ability to defend itself makes possible a settlement in which American war prisoners could be returned and the South Vietnamese would have a chance to survive as an independent nation.

Laird's 104-page report reviewed his four-year stewardship of the Pentagon and his recommendations for the future. but made no reference to the recent heavy bombing of North Vietnam.

But as the first high-level administration official to go before Congress since the bombing was broadened on Dec. 16 and then restricted to below the 20th Parallel Dec. 30, Laird was certain to be questioned closely on the matter.

The defense secretary said the equipment and training provided Saigon in the Vietnamization program, of which he has been an architect, "has significantly enhanced the prospect for successful negotiation, but should negotiations fail, Vietnamization makes possible the complete termination of American involvement in the war."

This, he added, is contingent on the safe return of American POWs and an accounting of the missing in action.

Laird, who leaves office Jan. 20, apparently believes that even if President Nixon's efforts to reach a broader peace settlement for Indochina fail, South Vietnam is now strong enough to hold on even with the presence of an estimated 140,00 North Vietnamese troops within its borders.

Tax payment deadline now Feb. 20

Fayette Countians have received another extension of time for payment of 1972 taxes.

County Treasurer Harold A. Hise announced Monday that the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals has extended the deadline until Feb. 20, following an earlier extension until Jan. 20 approved by the Board of Commissioners.

The normal deadline is Dec. 20, but a series of complications, principally at the state level, delayed the preparation of bills which Hise hopes to have in the mails by the end of the week.

Commissioners re-elect Mace

REORGANIZED BOARD — Robert Mace (right) was re-elected as chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at the annual reorganization meeting Monday morning. Left to right are the new members of the board, Ray Warner and J. Herbert Perrill, both Republicans and Mrs. Mary Morris, county auditor and board clerk, who also is a Republican. Mace, a veteran holdover, is a Democrat.

Robert Mace, Ohio 238-NE, was re-elected chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday as the board reorganized for the new year. J. Herbert Perrill was elected vice chairman and County Auditor Mary Morris was renamed the board's clerk.

Although he is now the only Democrat on the three-man board, Mace was still the choice for the chairmanship. Perrill, who, along with Ray Warner is a new Republican commissioner, said Mace was re-elected to show "Decisions will not be made on a partisan basis." Perrill also pointed to Mace's experience on the board as a factor in his election to head it.

Mace is serving his third term as a commissioner, having first taken office in 1963. This will be his fifth term as chairman. He previously was chairman in 1964, 1966, 1969 and 1972.

Perrill said the board's "keynote is cooperation" for the coming year. "We won't go out of our way to be uncooperative in any way. We'll try to do what is best for the public welfare, and we mean that."

The commissioners spent Monday morning wrestling with the county budget for 1973. Commissioners Mace and Perrill spent most of last week (Warner was ill) working on appropriations for the various county offices, trying to balance expenditures with anticipated revenues.

The commissioners expect to complete work on the budget Monday afternoon.

Crisis phone becomes many-faceted service

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—The volunteers who man this city's crisis intervention telephone service hope t(offer a comforting ear to the would-be suicide, the despondent person who has nowhere else to go for help.

But they've found themselves operating a many-faceting listening and advice service, and the callers have also included the lonely, the lovesick and a lady who simply needed a recipe for white sauce.

"I thought everyone knew how to make white sauce," smiled the elderly CONTACT volunteer who fielded the request. "I gave her the recipe...and I found out later she called back the next day to ask how to get the lumps out of the white sauce."

Other calls, most of them from people under 25, involve love problems, drugs, pregnancies, sex education and, occasionally, a bad report card.

Volunteers say they also spend a great deal of time talking to persons whose only problem is simple loneliness.

"It is a fact of our society that a person can be among people constantly and still be lonely," said the Rev. James L. Sager, the director of CONTACT.

He trains and coaches the volunteers and is available to debrief them after they end a four-to six-hour stint answering phones.

"Sometimes they call about an especially complex problem to see if they handled it properly," he said. "Sometimes it is a matter of the worker becoming so emotionally worked up by a caller's problems that the worker needs to talk it out with someone else to unwind."

The ultimate object of the CONTACT program is to offer the potential suicide a last-ditch handhold. Because the program works best in anonymity, the REv. Mr. Sager said, volunteers' names and even the CONTACT office's whereabouts are never revealed.

The service is supported by 25 Warren area churches who contribute from $50 to $1,500 a year toward the operation. More than 160 volunteers man the phones, usually spacing their services several weeks apart to prevent themselves from becoming emotionally drained or apathetic.

Senior counselors-ministers, priests, social workers and doctors-are always on call to aid the housewives and laymen who actually man the phones.

So far, the Rev. Mr. Sanger said, the program has worked smoothly over the 15 months it has been in operation. And even though the phone calls may include an occasional request for white sauce recipes, no caller is taken lightly, he said.

Because wide worth of mouth publicity is the service's most valuable advertising, the volunteers do their best to respond to every request, he said.

In some respects, that has paid off, too. He said CONTACT has now compiled probably the most complete directory of community services in the Warren area and can quickly refer many calls to the exact agency or person that can help.

The volunteers, who undergo up to 50 hours of "basic training" and never learn the names of the people they help, say they receive something from the service, too.

"When they call up crying fearfully and then they are practically laughing when they hang up two hours later..." explained one volunteer, "well, that's a sense of accomplishment that is hard to beat."

Soviets launch lunar spacecraft

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union sent an unmanned spacecraft toward the moon today.

Tass news agency said Luna 21's mission "is to further scientific studies of the moon and near-lunar space."

"The station was launched to the moon from the orbit of an artificial satellite of the earth and was placed on a trajectory close to the estimated one," the agency added.

Mr. Blackmore, born in Bloomingburg the son of George and Elizabeth Sollars Blackmore, died Saturday morning in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. A retired Clinton County employe for 31 years, he had spent most of his life here.

He is survived by his wife, Frances Hurley Blackmore, and a grandson, William C. Patrick, of Clarksville.

CLIFFORD A. BOWDLE — Services for Clifford A. Bowdle, 94, formerly of Clarksburg and New Holland, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Orville Farmer, pastor of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Bowdle, a retired farmer, died Wednesday in Valley View Manor Nursing Home, near Frankfort.

Burial was in Brown's Chapel Cemetery with Elza, Lloyd, Russell, Robert Bowdle, Homer Bowdle Jr. and Clark Martin as the pallbearers.

MISS HELEN ATER — Services for Miss Helen Ater, 68, of Columbus, were held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Printis Spear officiating. The Rev. Lester Woosley assisted. Miss Ater died Thursday.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Gordon Dunkle, James Connors, Warren and Harold Dundon and Fred and Mike Baughn.

Kissinger, Tho

Technical experts met independently to continue their discussion of details of a possible future cease-fire agreement. These discussions apparently were not concerned with the major political problems still under dispute between the two sides.

Tho and Xuan Thuy, the head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, arrived more than 20 minutes before the Americans and smiled and waved at the waiting newsmen.

Most of the Americans had tense, serious expressions when they arrived.

It has been more than 10 weeks since Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand." Arriving from Washington Sunday night in a more subdued mood, he said: "The President has sent me back to Paris to make one more major effort to conclude the negotiations. "We expect that the talks this time will be serious and worthy of the yearning of people all over the world for an early end of the war," Kissinger continued. "As far as the United States is concerned, we shall dedicate ourselves to this effort with patience, good will and hope."

But Tho — on his arrival Saturday from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow — gave no indication he was ready to concede anything. He said the decisive moment had come for the United States to sign the draft agreement he and Kissinger worked out in October "or continue the war."

Kissinger and Tho broke off their last round of secret talks Dec. 13. The United States reportedly demanded that Hanoi recognize the Saigon government's sovereignty over all of South Vietnam, and North Vietnam charged that Nixon was trying to perpetuate the division of Vietnam.

Following the breakdown of the last Kissinger-Tho talks, Nixon ordered the war's heaviest bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area. After two weeks of enormous destruction on the ground and the loss of at least 29 U.S. planes and 97 American airmen, Nixon halted the bombing above the 20th parallel, and Hanoi agreed to another round of negotiations with Kissinger.

Officials in Washington have refrained from predictions about the outcome of the new talks. Nixon told congressional leaders Friday: "I cannot tell you the prospects are optimistic or pessimistic."

The President said he wants three elements in the agreement: "the return of American prisoners of war, a cease-fire in Vietnam and an agreement to allow all parties in South Vietnam to determine their future."

Although President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam continues to demand that the agreement provide for withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, sources in the Nixon administration said the United States is not insisting on this.

2 men escape CCI in truck

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Authorities were searching for two honor inmates from the Chillicothe Correctional Institute who escaped early today.

Officials said Gerald Sullivan, 38, and Denzil C. Stout, 51, both serving terms for armed robbery, drove a truck out of the institution. Sullivan was sentenced from Franklin County, Stout from Summit.

An airplane and a helicopter joined in the three-county search, authorities said.

Congress begins campaign to better control budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing to begin its organized effort to get better control of the budget—and in the process to regain some of the power which, its members contend, has slipped over the years to the White House.

The 16 House members of a special committee created by the last Congress to devise effective legislative budget machinery have set their first meeting for Wednesday, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., said.

Ullman is author of the provision creating the committee, enacted when Congress turned down President Nixon's request for sweeping authority to cut back funds the legislators had already authorized.

Ullman said he will propose establishment of permanent budget committees in both House and Senate, composed of senior members of the two taxing and spending committees in each body.

These committees would be charged, he said, with examining the president's spending proposals and developing, within 60 days, a congressional budget that would set limits on all appropriations.

The regular congressional committees then would take over and produce the money bills for the various government activities.

At the end of the appropriating process, the budget committees would make a final review, recommending cutbacks and adjustments or, if the state of the economy required it, modifying the original budget ceiling

Snow, sleet, freezing rain hit wide areas of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, sleet and freezing rain glazed areas from Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley to the Atlantic early today, causing hazardous driving conditions and downing trees and power lines.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas residents were again looking for snow shovels, wondering where to pile the latest 4 to 10 inches on top of last week's accumulation. Three thousand electric customers in Kansas City were shivering again early today as power lines snapped.

Moist air from the Gulf of Mexico clashed with cold air over North Carolina and Tennessee Sunday, dumping 7 inches of snow at some spots. U.S. 441 across the Smoky mountains into North Carolina was closed.

At least two deaths in Georgia and one in Tennessee were caused in part by icy roads, and 17 persons were injured slightly when an ice-ladden tree topped onto U.S. 61 near Leland, Miss., forcing a Greyhound bus off the road.

Northern Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and western South Carolina were blanketed with snow and sleet. Flashflood warnings were issued for north Georgia as the Gulf system brought more rain. Ice warnings were posted for the area.

Snow whitened most of the central Plains and mid-Mississippi Valley. Travelers advisories were posted for Kansas, Kentucky, Illinois, southern Indiana and Louisiana.

Kansas City reported a total of 15 inches of snow so far this winter, most of it coming the past week.

Elsewhere, a band of freezing drizzle hit central Texas, snow flurries were swirling over the northern Midwest and Great Lakes region, a storm in the Pacific spread cloudiness and rain over north and central California. Snow flurries hit the northern Rockies.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 32 below at Hibbing, Minn., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Hotel battle

about six blocks from the city's famed French Quarter.

Police on Sunday evening had reported a total of 10 persons killed. Early today, they lowered the count to seven and said the mistake apparently was made in duplicate count of the dead found on the top floor of the hotel. They said three bodies, instead of the six originally reported, were found on the top floor. The other dead included the three policemen and a body found in a stairwell.

It was not immediately known whether all of the victms died of gunshot wounds or in fires set by the snipers.

Mayor Moon Landrieu said that efforts to negotiate with the snipers were fruitless. "They said crazy things," he said. "Things like, 'come and get us.'"

A police spokesman said there was "some indication" that the incident might be related to the New Year's Eve sniping attacks on two other policemen, one of whom was killed.

There were three snipers in the bunker at one time, but one was killed by police gunfire from a Marine helicopter Sunday night.

The sniper exposed himself when he leaped from the concrete-block house to shoot at the helicopter.

Police said the snipers were armed with pistols and rifles shooting .44-caliber magnum bullets. Their big-caliber guns were a bass boom compared to the sharp crack of the smaller, high-velocity police weapons.

Police and firemen first were drawn to the hotel before noon Sunday by fires apparently set by the snipers. Firemen managed to keep the flames under control even while ducking volleys of bullets hurled at them by the gunmen.

Two separate fires in which arson is suspected and which authorities say may be linked with the shootings destroyed two downtown warehouses Jan. 1.

Another arson-suspected blaze caused five deaths at the Rault Center — a high-rise office and apartment building across the street from the Howard Johnson — just over a month ago.

Asked if police expected the two remaining snipers to be taken alive, a spokesman said: "We don't think so, because they were apparently on a suicide mission and don't want to give up."

One of the policemen killed was Deputy Supt. Louis Sirgo, who was accompanying a group of officers searching for the snipers.

They were walking down a 15th floor corridor when one of the gunmen stepped out behind them, shot Sirgo in the back and raced up the stairs to the roof.

Another patrolmen chased him, kicking open a steel door to get onto the roof only to be blown back down the stairs by a gun's blast. He was not killed.

An ambulance attendant, Chris Caton, was shot while helping load a wounded policeman into his ambulance on a grassy mall across the street from the hotel.

"This is diabolical, picking off those officers as they go to the aid of each other," said Police Chaplain Peter Rogers.

Large crowds stood in the rain and mist Sunday afternoon, pressing as close as they could to police barricades several blocks from the scene and applauding each time police opened up with a barrage of gunfire.

2 men killed

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Two men were killed today in a head-on collision of two tractortrailer rigs on U. S. 224 west of Homerville in Medina County, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol identified the victims as Larry Ginnever, 31, of Bettsville, Ohio, and Melbourne Schaller of Columbiaville, Mich., drivers of the trucks.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Ohio was on the northern fringes of a large area precipitation area surrounding a low in the Gulf of Mexico today.

The low was expected to dump one to three inches of snow over southern sections of the state today and tonight, and bring a chance of light snow to central and northern portions.

Traces of snow fell overnight in northern and eastern Ohio, with heavier amounts reported in the Cleveland area. Cleveland Hopkins Airport reported a half inch of new snow.

Winter continued its grip on the Buckeye State. Highs Sunday ranged from 16 at Youngstown to 25 at Dayton and Cincinnati. Overnight lows dropped to as low as six degrees at Youngstown and 12 at Akron-Canton Airport. Readings generally were in the 15-to-20-degree range.

Highs today were forecast from 20 to 25 and lows tonight 5 to 10 degrees in the north and 10 to 15 degrees south.

Partly cloudy skies are forecast for Tuesday with little change in temperature.

Temperatures will remain cold in Ohio Wednesday through Friday, with highs in the 30s. Lows Wednesday morning of 5-10 will moderate to the teens and low 20s Thursday and Friday, with a chance of snow both days.

Israeli planes pound Syrians

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes raided Syrian army and guerrilla bases twice today and shot down five Syrian planes, the Israeli military command announced.

The Syrian MIGs challenged the Israelis on their second strike of the day, when they attacked radar bases, a spokesman said.

Earlier, Israeli fliers hit six guerrilla and army bases.

All Israeli jets returned unharmed from both raids, the command said.

A spokesman said all five Syrian planes were MIG21s.

It was the largest aerial kill claimed by Israel since Nov. 21, when Israel claimed six Syrian MIGs. The Israelis say they have shot down 45 Syrian planes since the 1967 war, 14 of them in the past three months.

A spokesman said the raids were in retaliation for three border incidents in the last 24 hours, including a half-hour artillery barrage against Israeli positions on the Golan Heights Sunday night.

It was the fifth Israeli air attack on Syria in two months.

The spokesman said the Israeli planes first crossed the cease-fire line east of the Golan Heights at 9 a.m. and attacked a Syrian army base at Nawa, about 25 miles east of the Sea of Galilee; two guerrilla bases near Dail, about 20 miles from the frontier and near El Muzeirib, and two army outposts and an artillery battery southeast of Queneitra.

Damascus Radio said one soldier was killed and six were wounded in these attacks.

The Israelis returned less than three hours later to bomb radar stations at El Kuweiyah and Sharbah, in southern Syria, the Israeli spokesman said.

"In the course of the raid, a dogfight ensued with Syrian aircraft," a communique reported. "Five Syrian MIG21 planes were downed."

Canada's seacoast, one of the longest in the world, comprises 17,860 miles of mainland and 41,810 miles of islands.

Stock list irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market wobbled along today, slightly lower after Friday's sharp gains. Trading was moderate.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.28 to 1,046.21. The Dow had set another all-time closing high of 1,047.49 Friday. Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange were trailing decliners by a small margin. Most price changes were fractional.

Block trades were slower today than on Friday, indicating the institutional investors were resting on their oars.

A block of 99,900 shares of Panhandle Eastern Pipeline sold at 44⅜, up ⅛, making that issue the Big Board's most active stock.

Mountain Fuel Supply, which has been a volatile issue for several weeks, dropped 3¾ to 87½.

On the American Stock Exchange Jefferson Stores was active and 4¼ higher to 10¼. Friday the Montgomery Ward unit of Marcor announced an agreement in principle to acquire Jefferson Stores.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was off .09 to 65.28.

The Amex's price-change index was up .02 to 26.70.

Adolph Zukor reaches 100

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was his birthday, and Adolph Zukor sat in the unaccustomed spotlight as the movie stars he made famous rose and applauded the achievements of his 100 years.

Zukor — the man most historians claim was the Henry Ford of the movies, the man who founded mass production of motion pictures — was saluted Sunday night on his 100th birthday by the film industry which he founded.

The star-studded gathering included salutes from Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Diana Ross.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Shawnee State Lodge to open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new $3.4 million, 50-room Shawnee State Lodge 12 miles west of Portsmouth will be opened by the state Jan. 14, Natural Resources Director William Nye announced.

The facility overlooking Turkey Creek Lake includes a dining room that seats 170, two large meeting rooms, a gift shop, balcony and two large fireplaces.

It has both an indoor and outdoor pool, and facilities for various types of recreation. One feature is an extensive system of ramps to accomodate the handicapped.

The air-conditioned facility is the state's fifth lodge. The others are at Punderston, Burr Oak, Hueston Woods and Salt Fork.

Members of the United States Marine Corps earned the nickname "leathernecks" because of a distinctive part of the uniform they formerly wore. The black leather collars, formerly a part of the Marine uniform, served as protection for their throats against sabers and cutlasses.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JAN. 9

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
New opportunities indicated — some not obvious at first. Keep searching. In the meantime, however, do not neglect regular obligations.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
Emphasize team work and lend a hand to those who could use it. Don't shunt aside small jobs because you think them unimportant.

GEMINI
(May 21 to June 21)
Your outlook, highly favorable, indicates that dividends are now rapidly accruing from past wise investments. However, don't offset gains by overspending.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Neither be extravagant in an effort to impress others nor fall for any ostentatiousness displayed for your benefit. Concentrate on what's REAL and dependable.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Do not overtax yourself, and do avoid anxiety. If you are doing your very best, both in job and personal matters, it will prove rewarding enough.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Good influences stimulate your skills and capabilities. You should feel enthusiastic about the way things go now.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Planetary influences point to new interests. Make sure you are ready for them — but without slighting current obligations. Don't let "moods" cause misunderstandings.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Putting "heart and soul" into your activities is fine — IF yu don't overtax yourself. Set a reasonable pace and follow it calmly, confidently.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Some interference with your plans indicated, but take it in stride. What you do with your own talents is what counts. Use THEM well, then note where other puzzle pieces fit.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan.20)
Being faithful to a trust brings its own reward. So, whether or not your efforts seem to be appreciated, keep right on — with integrity and consistent endeavor.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Don't try to cover too much territory at once — a tendency now — but, with well-planned procedure, aim for top goals. Going off on tangents will only slow up your progress.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Things will run smoothly in some areas, roughly in others. In all, however, maintain serenity of disposition and manner. Rewards for your efforts promised soon.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely strong-willed and determined individual, talented along both business and artistic lines; are self-reliant, mentally active and physically dexterous. If you decide on business as a career, it is more than likely that you will choose one of the arts as an avocation; could find, especially in music, poetry or writing, a splendid outlet for your very deep emotions. In the commercial world or in the professions, many fields are suited to your talents, notably: medicine, real estate, the law, teaching, banking or politics. You are strong on reform and may become an activist in one cause or another, even if not actually engaged in the political arena.

Short circuit blamed in fire on Delta Queen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A short circuit in wiring is blamed for a fire that caused $2,300 damage to the nation's only remaining overnight passenger riverboat, the Delta Queen.

No injuries were reported in the fire that struck the officers' quarters on the top deck of the boat Sunday.

Crew members used the boat's sprinkler system and other fire equipment to battle the blaze until firemen arrived.

The craft's home port is Cincinnati, and it is docked here over the winter for renovation.

UMW district installs new officers Sunday

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — United Mine Workers District Six installed its new officers Sunday. They are largely affiliated with union president Arnold Miller.

The 13,221-member district, which encompasses Ohio and West Virginia's Northern Panhandle, installed John Guzek as president.

Nightclub uses nude waiters to give business a boost

HONOLULU (AP) — A Honolulu nightclub owner, concerned over sagging interest in topless and bottomless waitresses, is offering a new twist—nude waiters.

"It's really giving business a shot in the arm," said Jack Cione. He says his Dunes nightclub is the first establishment in the United States to feature waiters in the buff.

Cione unveiled the new approach Thursday at a luncheon show which drew a capacity audience of 350 persons, more than half of them women.

He said Friday he'll repeat the feature each Thursday "as long as people keep coming, and I think that'll be quite a while."

At Thursday's luncheon, the nude waitresses which the club has been featuring for months worked along with the newly hired waiters.

"We offer a little something for everyone," Cione says.

The show features nude female dancers.

Cione said he decided to hire nude waiters because, "frankly, the topless and bottomless waitresses bit has about had it."

Reaction from women members of the audience was mixed.

"My face is still burning," said one young secretary as she left.

Another woman, asked if she planned to attend the luncheon again, replied, "Oh no. I've seen everything there is now, haven't I?"

Mark Spitz engaged to coed from UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Olympic swimming champion Mark Spitz will marry UCLA coed Susan Weiner next May, a family spokesman has announced.

The spokesman said Thursday that the 22-year-old Spitz became engaged to the 20-year-old Miss Weiner on New Year's Day. They had been introduced last October by their fathers, who are executives in steel businesses and close friends, the spokesman said.

Opinion And Comment

Amtrak's high-speed experiment

Since Amtrak took over operation of United States rail passenger service its major success has been in high-density areas of the East Coast. Officials of the publicly subsidized railroad corporation have, however, drawn from this experience some conclusions as to possibilities in other parts of the country.

Basically, what they conclude — and in this they appear to be on solid ground — is that there is considerable public demand for good railroad passenger service as a supplement to air and automotive travel. Amtrak President Roger Lewis put it this way: "We are convinced from our experience with electrified Metroliners in the Washington - New York corridor that the public is eager to have modern, high-performance railway service."

That comment was made when it was announced that Amtrak would begin operating turbine-powered passenger trains on high-speed runs in the Midwest next summer. These trains, said Lewis, "will be the start of a major program to improve our high-potential, non-electrified services."

That is an undertaking which makes eminently good sense. For though Amtrak has been less successful on long-distance routes than on the densely populated Eastern Seaboard, high-speed trains seem likely to extend this success to such routes as those on which they are to operate, runs connecting Chicago with Milwaukee and St. Louis. The distances are substantially greater than in the New York - Washington corridor, but speeds of up to 125 miles an hour ought to compensate for this.

It is an experiment Amtrak will go slow on purchase of turbine-powered trains until public reaction to high-speed service can be assessed. Our hunch is that this expansion of service, providing fast and comfortable transportation between major cites of the Midwest, will go over big.

THE NATION ...by Martin F. Nolan

Freeing mass transit

WASHINGTON — The ungainliest moppet in the orphanage of public concerns, mass transportation, is finally mving from wallflower status into the spotlight of crisis.

As usual, this transformation is occurring not because of inherently critical conditions, but due to an outside influence. Congress and the Administration, in other words, aren't really alarmed at traffic jams and the economic, social and gastrointestinal maladies attendant thereto.

There is a new crisis, discovered in a report to the Environmental Protection Agency. Excessive amounts of lead in the air — more than 90 per cent of it from auto exhausts — really can kill people.

In urban areas "excessive lead exposures among children have approached what many consider epidemic proportion," the EPA report said. "Although these adversely affected children are often residents of homes coated with lead-based paints, lead in the air and consequently in the dust and dirt present additional sources of exposure which may contribute to and aggravate this problem."

THE CRISIS may seem environmental, calling for drastic moves like banning autos from central cities and even providing free mass transit, but the first chilling effects of the crisis will be economic.

Consumers may be startled when they drive up to the gas pump in 1975 and find that it costs $1 a gallon.Getting all of the lead out of gasoline will be expensive, it seems, and new safety devices will make the cars themselves more costly.

According to a Transportation Department survey, "The Cost of Operating an Automobile," the price of gas is far from the most expensive item in the care and feeding of the old V-8.

"In fact," says the report, "during the past 30 years the price of gasoline has risen less, relatively, than many of the other costs associated with highway transportation. Gasoline is still one of the best bargains on today's market."

But still, a daily commuting tour of 20 miles each way costs $5.44 every day, based on the cost of the car, maintenance, gas, oil, insurance, taxes and a generously low estimate of $10 monthly for parking and tools.

MOST CITY transit systems are in the round-trip range of 70-to-90 cents daily. Despite this disparity, a giant American fixation with the private car — fueled by public funds — has helped lead 86 per cent of American commuters to choose private cars.

When Congress again decides whether to tap the $5 billion annual Highway Trust Fund to provide money for mass transit, the environmental argument and its economic implications may change the lines of the debate.

Mass transit has so long suffered from grandiose overviews of futuristic splendor that it may be time to regard transportation as a basic public service like police, fire and sanitation, and offer it "free."

Subways and buses may never be beautiful, but they will always be necessary. Just saving the price of coin-changers and ticket-takers ought to make the trains run more smoothly.

If public transit is free, it will no longer compete on the runway of public fashion and fantasy with the latest lovelies from Detroit. Its very necessity may become its charm. "Free" mass transit? Such a radical thought may in 1975 sound like the hardheaded essence of Chamber of Commerce sobriety.

THESE DAYS....by John Chamberlain

Native Taiwanese are taking over

For reasons of power politics, which is all that counts these days, the U. S. has been dealing with dictatorships in East Asia in order to combat other dictatorships. We use airfields in Thailand, where constitutional rule has been suspended, in order to bomb North Vietnam, which is run by the most ferocious military dictatorship imaginable.

We do this to protect President Thieu in South Vietnam, a ruler who came to power in an uncontested election. Our warships go out to patrol the South China Sea and the Gulf of Tonkin from bases in the Philippines, where President Ferdinand Marcos has had to cope with the opposition by invoking martial law. As for the great land mass of Red China, Richard Nixon visited its chairman — i.e., dictator —Mao Tse-tung in order to build a balance-of-power relationship capable of restraining dictator Brezhnev in the Soviet Kremlin.

The little Republic of China on Taiwan tends to get lost in the shuffle while the Metternichean game of choosing between friendly and malevolent dictatorships goes on. Theoretically, Red China is free to gobble up Taiwan any time it is able to muster a force capable of crossing Formosa Strait. It is by a strange irony, then, that the Taiwanese, who should be shaking in their boots and running for authoritarian cover, have become increasingly scrupulous about maintaining democratic processes.

IT WAS with a defiant insouciance that 70 per cent of the island's 7.5 million eligible voters went to the polls on Dec. 23 in an election open to all parties. The basic reason for calling the election was to bring more native-born Taiwanese into the government in spite of a constitution that confirms the "invader" mainlanders in parliamentary office until they die or until the Chinese mainland has been recovered.

To "free up" an admittedly semi-static situation in Taiwan, where the incumbents have maintained power for more than a generation on the fiction that their constituencies are on the mainland and hence are prevented by the usurper Mao from calling new elections, the decision was made to elect 53 "additional" members to the National Assembly and 36 "additional" members to the Legislative Yuan.

The Kuomintang, which has the same prestige in Taiwan that the Party of Revolutionary Institutions has in Mexico, easily dominated the vote, winning 43 out of 53 "additional" seats in the National Assembly and 30 out of 36 of the new seats in the Legislative Yuan.

However, the big point is that regardless of party membership mostof the new seats were captured not by refugees from the mainland but by native Taiwanese. Forty-eight of the new members of the National Assembly and 32 of the "additions" to the Legislative Yuan were born on the island. A few of them are members of the Young China Party; others were elected as "independents."

With this new native blood infused into the ruling structure of Taiwan the old criticism that President Chiang Kai-shek's group of mainlanders has suppressed the native culture must lose much of its force. The old-timers from the mainland still have a three-to-one advantage, but attrition will soon alter the balance. Meanwhile, in the elections to the Provincial Assembly, which deals with local matters, 70 out of the 73 seats were won by native islanders. And all of the 20 new mayors and magistrates happen ho be Taiwanese by birth.

THE 36 "additional" members of the Legislative Yuan will be joined in February by 15 more "additional" legislators chosen from overseas Chinese communities throughout the world. The idea is that the "Republic of China," in contrast to the Mao dictatorship, belongs to free Chinese wherever they may happen to be.

Ten "additional" members of the Control Yuan, a "watchdog" body which has the power of impeaching elected officials, will shortly be chosen by the combined vote of the Taipei City Council and the Taiwan Provincial Assembly, and another five "additions" to the Control Yuan will be selected from Overseas.

So the Spirit of 1776, banished though it may be from most of East Asia, grows on the small island that Nixon-Kissinger diplomacy ignores. We would do well to honor what is happening in Taiwan as our own Tricentennial approaches.

Teeth in tire safety laws

Some fun is being poked at Wayne B. Brewer, president of the Cooper Tire & Rubber Company, and not wholly without justification. It was Brewer who in 1967 told a congressional committee it was "a remote possibility" that his firm would ever need to recall tires that didn't meet safety standards. It is Brewer's firm which by now has called back more possibly defective tires than any other.

One need not dwell on it; his assessment was wrong. It is of no small importance, However, that the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has been pushing an active tire recall program just as it seeks recalls of defective cars.

There is one fly in the ointment: civil penalties imposed on manufacturers for selling bad tires have been mostly compromise settlements, too small to be much of a deterrent. To get effective compliance, the NHTSA must use its teeth.

Break the chain or break the law

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that lady who felt guilty if she didn't continue to circulate "chain letters," please tell her she should feel guilty if she DOES. They are against the law and should be turned over to the local postmaster.

Only last week I received a "prayer" chain letter in the mail. It said:

"Trust in the Lord Jesus Christ with all your heart and always acknowledge Him and He will light your way. This prayer has been sent to you to bring you luck. The original copy came from the Holy Land and has been sent around the world 23 times. Make four copies and send them to your friends. You must do this within four days or you will suffer dire consequences. One man in Hawaii broke the chain and on the sixth day he died. On the seventh day he won $50,000, which he was unable to collect."

Such rot!

I am a Presbyterian minister, over 80 years of age. I still preach every Sunday and I believe in prayer, but I broke the chain, and my "four days" are long past and I still feel great!

I shall surely tell my congregation to forward any chain letters to their postmaster and feel repaid for having headed off at least one more piece of superstitious junk.

HAROLD A. SMITH,
ATLANTIC GA.

DEAR REV. SMITH: Thanks. And I'll tell my readers the same.

DEAR ABBY: You have said many times in your column that it is not considered good etiquette to put "No children, please" on wedding reception invitations.

Well, I don't care what you say. If you had to pay a caterer $15 a person you would make sure Mom and Pop didn't bring their six kids along to get a free meal.

Some people have to be told in plain English to leave their kids at home, and I say, "TELL 'EM!"

PLAIN TALKER IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR PLAIN: For another point of view, let's hear it from a reader in Coon Rapids, Minn.

DEAR ABBY: So often you hear from people who want to exclude children from a wedding reception. I find this distressing. Such occasions are ideal for families to be together. The father has to work away from his home all day, and in many cases the mother also works. The kids are involved in their various school activities, or just left to bum around with their peers while the parents run off and leave them.

Children should be included with their parents at weddings so they will see the beauty and sacredness of marriage ceremony. And at the reception, if the refreshments were limited to cookies and punch, children could be included without running the cost up. Who cares what is served? After all, people are supposed to be celebrating the union of two people in love-not food and drink!

The family unit is held together by love and togetherness. It is the only thing that will keep our country strong and save mankind from destroying itself. Where else but with his parents should a child learn how adults should conduct themselves?

MARY K. BERG

DEAR ABBY: To the lady with four children by her first husband who married a man who had five children by his first wife and was frequently asked, "Are all those children yours?" here is the best reply I've ever heard:

When traveling by train from Wichita, Kas., to Oklahoma, a lady with 11 children was seated just ahead of us. The conductor asked, "Are all these children yours, lady, or is it a picnic?"

She replied, "Yes, they are all mine. And since you asked, it sure ain't no picnic!"

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 8, the eighth day of 1973. There are 357 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, President Woodrow Wilson outlined 14 points for peace after the first World War.

On this date:

In 1642, Italian astronomer Galileo died at the age of 77.

In 1679, French explorer La Salle reached Niagara Falls.

In 1806, the British occupied Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1815, U.S. forces defeated the British in the Battle of New Orleans at the end of the War of 1812.

In 1959, Premier Charles de Gaulle became president of France.

In 1971, the U.S. apologized for a bomb explosion outside a Soviet cultural building in Washington.

Ten years ago: Outer Mongolia defied China and gave its unqualified support to the Soviet Union in the ideological dispute dividing the two Communist nations.

Five years ago: Budget Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze resigned.

One year ago: India granted full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam.

Today's birthdays: Former White House aide Sherman Adams is 74. Business executive Thomas Watson Jr. is 59.

Thought for today: Never forget what a man says to you when he is angry — H.W. Beecher, American clergyman, 1813-1887.

An increment of daylight

Admit it, now: the winter solstice sneaked up on you and sneaked away again without your being aware of it. If not, you are a rare exception to the human generality.

Most of us were too preoccupied with the Yuletide to realize that Dec. 21 was the shortest day of 1972. Since then there has been a very gradual movement toward more sunshine and less darkness. It is scarcely noticeable as yet; perhaps, if the truth be told, not noticeable at all. But it is happening, all the same. Little by little, the earth has begun edging toward spring.

Ohio thoroughbred election is held

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Sunday elected officers, including Canfield industrialist John A. Logan as president.

Other officers are Albert F. Polk, of Dayton, vice president; Mrs. Mabel Leckey, of Sidney, secretary, and Harold Snyder, of Dover, treasurer.

Elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were Landon Knight, Akron; Marvin L. Warner, Cincinnati, and George Smith, Dayton.

In 1927, naturalists estimated that house mice in one section of Kern County, Calif., averaged 17 to the square yard or 82,000 per acre.

His goal : Low cost, comprehensive medicine

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Alexander Russell is the children's advocate of Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center.

He dreams of teams of medical specialists building a circle of defense around every handicapped child in Jerusalem. Short, full of energy, Dr. Russell punctuates his comments with gestures and scribbled notes.

Traveling in the United States to visit child care centers, take a look at children's diseases and to receive a pediatrics award, Russell had praise at each stop for his own hospital's approach to pediatrics.

"Our cooperative, all-discipline program has neurologist, psychologist, social worker, orthodontist — whoever is needed — looking at the complete family and appraising the need of family as well as sick child," he said.

IN OUR hospital, we have a plaque that I've always been very proud of. It points out that we take responsibility for the weakest of the population. That means not only the handicapped child, but also his mother and family, whether they be Jewish, Islamic, or Christian.

"These people are our responsibility for life and for free," Russell added. "I have long felt that the first city which should take responsibility for the aged and afflicted should be Jerusalem."

The interdisciplinary program for handicapped children is, Russell believes, the most effective principle for every handicap. All the specialists involved in a case see a child together. It is less time-consuming for the child and the mother.

"Doctors can talk over time tables. For example, the plastic surgeon might not want to begin his work unless all orthopedic surgery was completed," Russell said. "This is returning us to the helping professions, for we no longer waste precious time dictating memos to other doctors on the staff or reading them. We all learn faster.

"It is utopian only because it demands that the physician work only for the profit of the child, not in terms of surgeons or money," he added.

THE JERUSALEM child and family development center is under the theoretical roof of the teaching hospital and Dr. Russell feels this is its proper place.

"For coordination, all these services should be under one roof: preventive medicine, curative medicine and rehabilitation. These are services demanded by the handicapped child and his family, and such a system is overdue all over the world," he said.

American medicine is too concerned with money, Russell says bluntly.

"Believe me, we run our center on a shoestring compared to the average in the United States. In the child care clinic, our basic commodity is good will and it is a small world. We try to get the best people in each field so that they are respected by others working in their area. We reap benefits from this system.

"Each field is a ring related to the clinic. A respected authority in the field leads each team, and the hospital has the best available."

Russell encountered a computer card file in an American children's clinic which was one of the most modern he had seen.

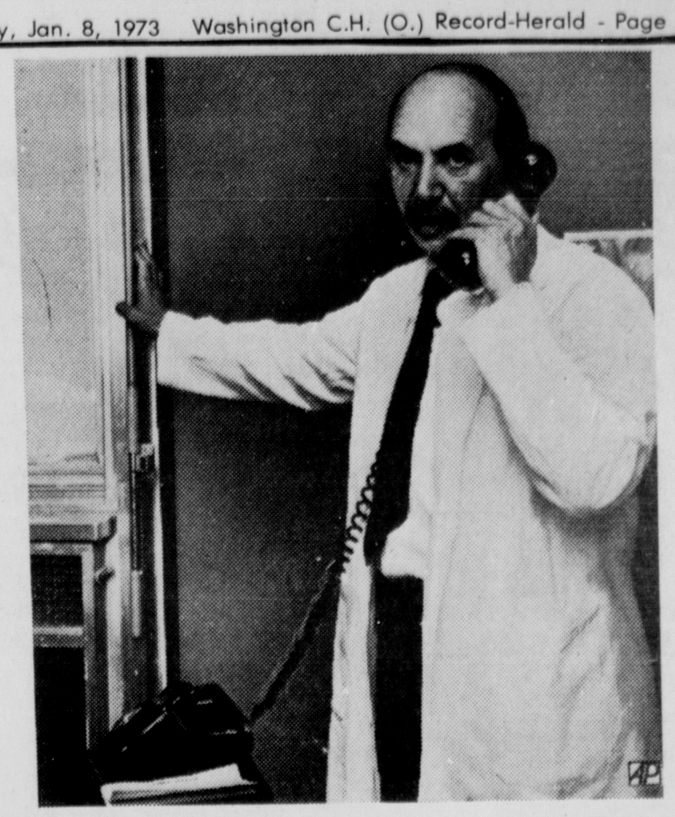

"To my dismay, I learned it was used for billing, and the prices were quite high. In Jerusalem our computer file, which is less elaborate and less expensive, is used to detail high risk mothers. These are individuals who are especially vulnerable to having malformed children," Russell said.

THE MEDICAL center does research on preconceptual problems such as hereditary disease, prenatal problems and labor difficulties. The lot of them are on tape and, when delivery comes, there is complete registration of all children born in Jerualem who arehandicapped.

"At this stage of development in the United States, the society ought to be responsible for all these problems. If an individual is physically unable to bear the crushing burden of medical care, if a child is afflicted with a physical or mental handicap, we believe that society should accept the responsibility in full," Russell added.

"It is immoral of a doctor who represents the instrument of social progress to also be the instrument of exploitation."

There are at least four million recreational vehicles for camping, leisure travel and other purposes on U.S. roads today, and the number may double by 1978, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports. With more than 800 companies producing such vehicles, the research-engineering firm adds, retail sales in 1971 exceeded $1.6 billion, an increase of 41 per cent over 1970.

PROTECTOR — Dr. Alexander Russell is a children's advocate in his Jerusalem child and family care clinic.

MRS. JAMES SHIPLEY

Poinsettias, holly and greenery with red velvet bows, and candles made the background for the marriage of Miss Gay Lynn Jenkins and James Steven Shipley, in First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 23. Mrs. Wayne Spangler, organist, presented nuptial music. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Donald R. Jenkins, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Gloria Jenkins, of Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Shipley, of New Holland, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Victorian style gown with empire bodice, of Alencon lace, with full sleeves which ended in tight cuffs. The gown had a wedding ring neckline and self covered buttons down the front. The flowing train was floor-length. Her four-tier shoulder length veil was caught to an Alencon bow. The bride's gown was made by Mrs. Jack Flax. Miss Jenkins carried long-stemmed white roses entwined with holly.

Miss Kristi Cross, of New Holland, was maid of honor. Gay Flax, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Ronald Pope, of Hartsville, were the bridesmaids. They wore long A-line gowns of emerald green velvet with bell sleeves.each carried a red poinsettia with red velvet streamers.

The bride's mother chose a long pale lavender double knit gown with long sleeves with which she combined black accessories. The groom's mother wore a long dark purple velvet gown with gold brocade jacket and gold accessories. Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

The grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Straud Mathena, of Washington C.H., Mrs. Bernice Crowe, of Milledgeville, Mrs. Clifford Hughes, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Frances Shipley, of New Holland, wore white carnations and holly. Mr. Mathena and Mr. Hughes, the grandfathers, were also present.

Hostesses for the reception held in Persinger Hall following the wedding ceremony were Mrs. Mark J. Shipley, of Columbus, Mrs. David R. Jenkins and Mrs. Norman Chaney, both of Washington C.H., and Mrs. David Cook, of Bloomingburg, Mrs. Bruce Kirkpatrick, of New Holland, presided at the guest book.

The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake encircled with greenery and holly, and topped with a holly ball. The crystal punch bowl was also encircled with holly.

The new Mrs. Shipley, and her husband are both graduates of Miami Trace High School. She has been employed by the Fayette County Board of Education. Her husband is a student majoring in forestry at Ohio University, Athens.

The couple will reside in Athens.

Bride wears cluny lace for Saturday wedding

MRS. ROBERT D. MACK JR.

The Linden Church of Christ in Columbus was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Dianne Lynn Ferguson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, of Newark, and the late Mr. Ferguson, and Robert Donald Mack Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donald Mack Sr., 239 Draper St.

The Rev. Jack Conder performed the double ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. The altar was enhanced with arrangements of pink and white carnations and the family pews were marked with satin bows.

Rick Bennett, of Columbus, organist, nephew of the bride, presented a prelude of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Richard Bennett, the bride wore a floor-length dress of white cluny lace with bishop sleeves, square neckline accented with seed pearls and empire waist accented with pink velvet ribbon. Her ballerina-length veil was of silk illusion and she carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Joyce Burns, F Columbus, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of light blue and carried pink carnations and lilac pompons.

William Jerry Mack, brother of the groom, was the bestman. Rod Burns and John Rumberger were the ushers.

Mrs. Ferguson chose a rose colored long sleeved knit frock for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a lilac knit dress with long sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of white and pink sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception in the church social room following the wedding were Miss Joanne Flood, of West Lafayette, Ind., Miss Renee Bennett, of Columbus, niece of the bride, and Miss George Anne Dixon, of Columbus.

Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the young couple will reside at 3329 Homecraft Dr., Columbus, 43224.

The new Mrs. Mack, a graduate of Upper Arlington High School and attended Ohio State University for two years. She is a secretary for Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery. Her husband, a graduate of Washington Senior High School and Ohio State University, is a metallurgical engineer at Electric Heat Treating cCo. in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mack Sr., were hosts at a party at the Jai Lai following rehearsal Friday evening.

Miss Pero, Mr. Columb are married in Michigan

MRS. JOSEPH COLUMB

Miss Frances Pero became the bride of Joseph Columb in St. Charles Borromeo Church in Rapid River, Mich., with the Rev. Fr. Robert A. Haas officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pero, Rt. 2, and the bridegroom in the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Columb, Rt. 2, Rapid River. Miss Pero was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, Sam Hews, of Comstock Park, Mich.

Miss Pero designed and made her wedding dress and the dress for her matron of honor. The bridal gown was floor-length and princess - style of white tzxtured double knit with lantern sleeves of white polyester crepe. She wore a cameo brooch on the roll collar. A petal headpiece of lace and pearls secured her elbow-length veil and she carried a nosegay of fall flowers.

Mrs. Dan Johnson, of Rapid River, her matron of honor, wore an navy blue gown styled like that of the bride. Her dress featured Juliet sleeves in a print of fall colors. She also carried a nosegay of fall flowers.

The junior bridesmaids, the Misses Debra and Wendy Larsen, nieces of tthe groom, were dressed in floor-length gowns with solid color orange skirts accented with multi-colored print bodices and sleeves. Their dresses were made by their aunt. They carried baskets of fall flowers.

Serving as best man was James Trepanier, of Rapid River. Billy Larsen, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer and Gerald Pyke the usher.

A reception and dance followed the ceremony at the Stonnington Community Hall.

Following a Copper Country honeymoon to the northern Upper Peninsula, the couple now reside in Rapid River.

The bride is a 1966 Miami Trace High School graduate and of Mount Carmel School of Nursing in Columbus. She served two years with the Army Nurse Corps, including a year's tour in Vietnam.

Mr. Columb, a Rapid River High School graduate, is employed as an apprentice, heavy equipment operator by Hedrich Construction Co., Iron Mountain, Mich. He also served two years with the U. S. Army.

What causes chapping and rough skin around the nose? The accumulation of dry skin exposed to the cold causes chapping and rough skin. Look at the areas where men shave and are constantly removing dead layers of skin with their razors. You won't see chapping or the rough edges of dead skin. But men chap constantly near their noses where they don't shave. Women have no means of removing this dry layer, so they suffer from chapped and roughened skin. A good skin conditioner can remove these dry layers of skin from the face gently and quickly.

Mrs. Harold Anderson conducted an installation service for the 1973 officers at the meeting of the Jeffersonville United Methodist church women.

Mrs. Howard Burnett Jr., was installed as president; Mrs. Don Dennewitz, secretary; and Mrs. J.W. Vannorsdall, treasurer.

Mrs. Burnett presented a past president's pin to Mrs. Anderson for her service to the society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Satterfield presented the program, "God Loves Us." Others participating were Mrs. Dottie Conley, Mrs. David Groves, Mrs. Dennewitz and Mrs. Vannorsdall.

The annual kraut supper will be held Jan. 30 in the church, with Mrs. Vannorsdall, chairman, and Mrs. Dennewitz, co-chairman.

Members voted to purchase supplies for the children's department of the Sunday School.

The dining room tables were decorated with planters and candles for the salad course served to 15 members and one guest by the Esther Circle, with Mrs. Clyde Rings, leader, and Mrs. Carrol Ritenour, assistant, hostesses.

Club to meet at Anderson's

Members of the Fayette Garden Club will be greeted at Anderson's Restaurant Friday at noon by Mrs. Maryon Mark and Mrs. George Trimmer, when they meet for a Dutch treat luncheon.

Miss Norma Dodd will present the program, "Oriental Splendor," and show slides of East Asia.

The design, "New Beginnings," will be brought by Miss Jeanette Roush.

Keep shelled nuts in the refrigerator so there will be no danger of rancidity.

If you are storing ground meat in the refrigerator, use it within two days.

To hurry up the cutting job, slice several stalks of celery at once. Cut scallions the same way.

Chamber executive looks back on 1972—and ahead

By JAMES DUNN
Chamber of Commerce
Executive Vice President

In 1972 Washington C.H. and Fayette County weathered difficulties seldom experienced in our community: the loss of a major industry and inclement weather that impeded both planting and harvest seasons for area farmers.

While these adverse conditions were not met with open arms, they prevailed in reuniting the community and instilling a sense of teamwork and togetherness. Our industrial loss was quickly reversed when Mac Tools, Inc. purchased the former NCR properties and began their move here. Favorable weather conditions and luck are now needed by our farm friends to complete this year's harvest.

Between these circumstances the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce has molded a program of work designed to fulfill immediate needs and plan for the future. As you may recall, three program divisions, Business Development, Community Development and Chamber Development were initiated this past July. The purpose of this structure was to pinpoint areas needing attention, and to develop proper planning.

In brief review, last year's accomplishments were highlighted by Mac Tools' decision to locate here, a well received Business - Industry - Education Day for high school seniors, a successful Home Show week-end sponsored by local businesses, a well received Businessmen's - Cattle Feeders jointure, Teacher Get-Acquainted Day for new teachers, formation of a uniform Chamber Ambassador Club, initiation of a Selective Development Program for industry, planning and layout completed for a new community brochure, a daily Salute to Business series in conjunction with WCHO radio, formation of a Search for Physicians Committee, and the sizable number of new building improvements that were made.

Internally, the Chamber expanded its coverage of activities through a monthly membership Newsletter, close liaison with the Record-Herald, a weekly Chamber report over WCHO radio, and a monthly television report on WOSS television.

Just the brief mention of these activities points out the involvement and interest expressed by our local business, agricultural, industrial and professional members. Their financial support and willingness to serve on various committees have made our accomplishments possible.

What does 1973 and the future hold for Washington C.H. and Fayette County? PROGRESS THROUGH PLANNING.

1970 census figures show a population of 25,461 for our community. Forecasted projections for the year 2000, now only 27 years away, indicate a population of 37,500. Efficient and well-construed planning must provide an orderly path for this growth.

In 1973, the Chamber and Community Improvement Corporation will proceed with a Selective Search for Industry Program that is now being conducted in conjunction with the State of Ohio's Economic and Community Development Department. Through thoughts and opinions of local leaders and a computer analysis, attempts will be made to secure compatible industries for our area.

Efforts are already under way to bring new physicians to Fayette County. With preliminary groundwork having been laid, program action for this effort will have a high priority as we begin the new year.

While the cycle of events and continuous planning seems never ending, the Chamber will constantly strive to make our community a better place in which to live, work, and play.

Smaller steel inventories seen for beginning of year

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Steel users started a new year with smaller inventories of the metal than at the beginning of any recent year, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Not only were there fewer tons of steel in users' inventories at the start of 1973 but, in days of supply, they were much lower than last year because of the higher rate at which steel is being used," the magazine said.

It added that without a large cushion of inventories and with consumption at a high level, steel buyers will have to figure their purchases closely to make sure that steel will arrive when needed.

"At the beginning of January last year, the nation's manufacturing plants had 10 million net tons of steel on hand," Industry Week said. It estimated that at the beginning of 1973 they had only slightly more than nine million tons, the lowest since the start of 1963.

"With steel users determined to keep their inventories low and to depend upon mills for one-time deliveries," Industry Week continued, "U.S. mills have boosted their inventories so as to be able to fill orders when wanted. From a total of 19.7 million net tons at the mills on Jan. 1 a year ago, their inventories rose to 21.6 million tons by the beginning of November, latest government figures show."

The magazine said the high demand is expected to put first quarter U.S. mill shipments close to the 24.5 million net tons during the fourth quarter of 1972.

U.S. raw steel output in 1972 totaled approximately 133.1 million net tons, compared with 120,443,000 tons in 1971, Industry Week said. It estimated last week's production at 2,665,-000 net tons.

The bright outlook for steel production is pushing up prices of scrap, a raw material for steelmaking. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose last week to $46.17 per gross ton from the preceding week's $44.83.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" on public television will stand down next May unless the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has a last-minute change of heart.

The one-hour show, first aired on public television in May 1971, was put on "deferred" status by CPB when the agency approved 30 other shows for the 1973 fall season.

An option to renew the show expired New Year's Day without CPB action. And the contract that now keeps new "Firing Line" segments on the air ends May 1.

Several other hard-hitting public-affairs programs — most notably "Bill Moyers' Journal" and "Washington Week in Review" — also are missing from CPB's approved list for next fall.

But the absence of "Firing Line" from the list surprised many who have enjoyed the probing questions and sophisticated, sardonic repartee of an eloquent conservative.

It startled Buckley, too.

"I was told this was going to happen about three weeks ago, but I was very much surprised at that particular point because the program has rated very high among stations," he said.

Did CPB explain why "Firing Line" was deferred?

"They said they were going to do away with all public-affairs programs that are centered on an individual," Buckley said. "In other words, they will finance documentaries and that kind of thing, but they will decline henceforth to back any public-affairs programs in which an individual is in the center."

Henry Loomis, the new CPB president, gave a different explanation last month in a separate interview in which he was asked why the Buckley and Moyers shows were being deferred.

Buckley says he thinks the CPB is trying to eliminate public-affairs programming but he doesn't view the move as an attack on him personally.

"I know it's not an attack on me because, after all, I'm simply part of a category," he said. "And it's the whole of the category that is being let go, so I don't take it personally at all."

"Firing Line" began in 1966 as a syndicated show for commercial television. Buckley did 240 of those shows before switching to public television and logging another 72 programs.

What now?

"I hope to stay in public television, but I'm not making any commitment," he said. "I may go back to commercial."

Hal Boyle . . . Are you getting older?

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting older?

Well, you don't even have to ask the question if —

You have more friends inside the cemetery than out of it.

The last thing you do before going to bed is write down a list of things you know you won't be around to doing tomorrow.

You spend more time looking backward than looking forward.

When you hear a new funny story, a picture flashes in your mind of the guy who first told it to you 25 years ago. But you can't quite recall his name or what became of him.

Your wife calls you Dad or Father.

Every year you buy a garden seeds a few days earlier.

Getting a new tie for Christmas is no longer an ordeal, but a kind of consolation — because it is one tradition that is changeless. Instead of hiding the tie or giving it away, you wear it yourself the day after you get it, no matter what it looks like.

When you see a man going up steps two at a time, you think he must be slightly balmy.

You have forgiven yourself your own youth, but you can't forgive it in others.

Let the first snowflake of winter fall, and you lift your voice to all within hearing distance and bleat out, "You should have seen the great snowfall here in December 1947. There's never been anything like it before or since — except maybe the great blizzard of '88."

Without your realizing it, your daily speech is larded with faded colloquialisms, such as "They're spitting images of each other or "I was only kneehigh to a grasshopper in those days."

That little round paunch you call a flat tire is getting alarmingly bigger, but you never carry out your threats to do anything about it.

You wonder often how some people manage to hold their jobs, but you no longer wonder how you hold yours.

Any morning you come to work and find the janitor has left your wastepaper basket beside somebody else's desk, you ask aloud why nobody seems able to leave things where they find them anymore. You don't really simmer down until you're halfway through your second martini at lunch. That luncheon is more and more likely to consist of chicken a la king than steak, not only because it's cheaper but because it's easier to chew.

Recognize yourself?

Well, if you do, you may not be Methuselah yet, old-timer — but you're getting there.

HAPPY BLUEBIRDS

The weekly meeting of the Eastside Happy Bluebirds was held after school Thursday in the home of Mrs. Herbert Satterfield, leader.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Bluebird Wish led by Sherry Haithcock. Marcia Anthony called the roll. The girls answered by naming their favorite Christmas present. Mrs. Satterfield told the girls that tours of the Fayette County Museum and Cudahy Packing Company were being planned in the near future. Following the meeting, the girls made bird feeders using milk cartons.

Kathy Scott served refreshments to Brenda Annon, Marcia Anthony, Diana Bellar, Amberly Custer, Rikki Edwards, Sherry Haithcock, LaDonna Jackson, Debra Penn, Terri Phillips, Kris Satterfield and Cindy Williams.

3 injured in 9 area accidents

Three persons were injured in nine traffic accidents reported in the Fayette County area by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. One driver was cited in the crashes which caused extensive property damage.

A single car accident on U. S. 35 at Hutchinson - Yeoman Road early Monday sent two persons to Memorial Hospital with injuries.

Everett N. Fitch, 20, of 718 Eastern Ave., driver in the car and Carol F. Woods, 20, of 522 Fifth St., a passenger, were both released after treatment in the emergency room for minor bruises and abrasions.

Sheriff's deputies said Fitch was pulling from the M & M Restaurant lot when the car swerved to the right across the highway and collided with a utility pole.

Fitch's 1968 model car received extensive damage to the front in the 2:56 a.m. crash. The accident is still under investigation.

DONALD R. PAYTON, 20, of 522 Peddicord Ave., was slightly injured when he was pinned between a backing car and a parked auto on the Bordon Burger lot Saturday morning.

Police said Payton suffered bruises and abrasions on his legs but did not require treatment for the injuries.

According to investigating officers, a car driven by Edna N. Self, 19, of 523 Fifth St., was backing westbound on the lot and struck Payton, pinning him against a parked car.

She was not cited.

A 1972 foreign model compact car was demolished Sunday morning when it flipped over a guardrail on U. S. 35, a half mile north of Inskeep Road, the Sheriff's Department reported.

Officers said Roger M. Garringer, 23, of 248 North Bend Ct., was traveling southeast and lost control of the car as it ran off the right berm. The car slid back onto the pavement then skidded broadside into the guardrail. The car came to rest on its wheels in the ditch after flipping over the guardrail. Garringer was uninjured in the crash.

OTHER mishaps investigated over the weekend were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 5:03 p.m. — A pickup truck driven by Elmer Blevins, 68, West Union, and a parked car owned by Alfred M. Hidy, 326 Sixth St., were involved in a minor mishap on the Kroger lot; damage slight.

SUNDAY, 11:52 a.m. — Albert E. Randolf, 80, of 416 East St., was cited for a stop sign violation following a collision with a car driven by David Munyon, 23, Greenfield, at the intersection of North Street and Rose Avenue; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 2:10 p.m. — A parked car owned by Harry Warfield, 920 E. Temple St., was involved in a hitskip accident in the Municipal parking lot Sunday. The Warfield car sustained minor damage to the right rear.

SUNDAY, 2:44 p.m. — A car driven by William L. Rodgers, 20, of 1119 N. North St., and a stalled truck driven by Larry G. Newland, 23, Rt. 3, were involved in a minor mishap on Main Street at Court Street.

BancOhio OKd for purchase of Cleveland bank

COLUMBUS — Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio Corporation of Columbus, announced today that the Federal Reserve Board of Governors has given approval to BancOhio to purchase Capital National Bank of Cleveland from Shelter Resources Corporation.

According to Searle, approval of the $8.5 million cash sale means that the affiliation could become effective following a 30-day waiting period required by the Justice Department.

In its approval, the Federal Reserve Board stated that the acquisition should have "substantial beneficial effect on competition among commercial banks in the Cleveland market in which the four largest banking organizations accounting for approximately 77 per cent of the deposits".

Searle explained that through affiliation with BancOhio, Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company, Capital National Bank would be able to extend its banking services in the northeastern Ohio market area. For example, he said, Capital National's legal lending limit to a single customer would be increased to $12 million through the combined lending capacity of all the BancOhio affiliated banks, placing Capital National in a much stronger competitive position.

The First National Bank of Washington C.H. is affiliated with BancOhio.

State faces school suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A private school group has threatened to file suit against the state of Ohio for what it says are efforts to establish an "educational monopoly" in the state.

Robert P. Woodman, executive director of the Ohio Parents Rights in Education, said the monopoly would be the result of private schools' being forced to close.

Several legislative attempts to offer state financial aid to nonpublic schools have been overruled by state courts as unconstitutional, but Woodman said the stand actually prevents "many groups of parents and others from establishing alternative forms of education and schools."

Woodman said that the U.S. Supreme Court "long ago ruled that no state has the power to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only" and that Ohio was "doing indirectly that which the court has declared no state has the power to do directly."

Woodman, who said only that court action was planned, said that he was also urging Ohio's congressional delegation to spur the U.S. Justice Department to take action against the state.

Police recruit hurt in Cincy liquor sweep

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A police recruit, injured and arrested while on duty as an undercover man, doesn't believe he'll shy away from further undercover work.

"I guess you can expect anything when you're involved in things like this," Lawrence Henderson said about his role of undercover man in a liquor raid. "It's nothing to get all upset about. I don't think it would keep me from doing it again."

In his 11th week of a 17-week police training program, the 26-year-old Cincinnatian went unrecognized by policemen who arrested him during a raid on a jammed night spot here early Saturday.

Some of those on the scene said policemen beat Henderson, although they didn't know who he was, and that Henderson picked a fight with them. After Henderson was taken from the establishment, a policeman identified him as an undercover agent.

Nursing an injured leg, but not requiring hospitalization, Henderson said he was disguised in a "mod outfit. I didn't think anybody who knew me all my life could recognize me."

Henderson wouldn't confirm or deny whether it was fellow policemen who injured him.

"Just say I got hurt in a raid," he said. "It wasn't that serious."

Henderson appeared to have been knocked down a stairway during the raid, but he said, "It was one of those fake deals.

"I wanted to get arrested. It was somthing that happened in there — the night spot — I had to get some information out."

The raid occurred about 3:30 a.m. and Henderson aid he had been at the establishment since about 10:30 p.m. Friday. He said the place had been under watch for some time.

Eleven people were arrested on charges relating to liquor law violations. Police took the names of another 96 people, telling them they would have to appear in court on a charge of violating a city ordinance prohibiting people from being where liquor is served illegally.

Cleveland building collapse $1 million mystery for firm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The old Watson Building was only a pile of rubble for Cleveland commuters this morning-but it's a $1 million mystery for the engineers who began sifting through the debris this morning.

The building was ordered demolished over the weekend by Cuyahoga County commissioners after a rear portion collapsed two weeks ago, a few days after a private firm moved the building 23 feet south to make room for other construction.

The firm, Mural & Son, Inc., contends the collapse was caused by something out of its control. The county, noting that relocating the offices and equipment inside the building will run to $1 million, wants to hold Mural responsible and contracted for engineers to make a final probe of the building's ruins.

"Everything we did was done correctly," a Mural spokesman said. He said that one theory for the collapse involves the nearby excavation for the new county justice center.

Another building in the same area was recently shaken by vibrations from the excavating machinery, he said.

Another possibility is that the sandy downtown Cleveland soil-the bed of a prehistoric lake-just simply wouldn't support the building's weight on its new foundation.

Demolition of the building began Thursday night, and the 7,-000-ton, six-story structure lay in ruin today.

Asst. County Prosecutor John L. Dowling said that the commissioners may hold the firm responsible no matter what the investigation reveals.

"As a contractor he takes the job with full knowledge of all the risks," he said.

Voters approve Sunday liquor

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The first legalized Sunday liquor sales in Kentucky will occur in two northern counties in about 60-90 days, or sooner, if Gov. Wendell Ford gives his blessing.

Sunday sales were overwhelmingly approved by voters in Kenton and Campbell Counties Saturday in the first local option elections of their kind in Kentucky. Ohio has permitted such elections since 1971.

Leaders of opposing drives said the elections will serve as precedent for other eligible Kentucky counties considering such referendums.

Seek funds for Garfield home repair

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Lawnfield, the home of President James A. Garfield, needs some repairs, but a proposal to raise repair money through taxes has drawn less than applause from Lake County historical officials.

Mentor City Councilman Joseph A. Atzberger suggested last week that the city establish a .1 mill levy to raise about $15,000 annually for Lawnfield's upkeep.

Lake County Historical Society Administrative Secretary Mrs. William Slack said she was upset by the implication Lawnfield was "falling apart."

"Things need to be done as they would in any house of this vintage," she said. "We have been able to keep pretty well abreast, but small problems always are cropping up."

The three-story frame home and grounds, which Garfield bought in 1876, also features a log cabin similar to the one Garfield in which Garfield was born. Everyone admits the log cabin is in far worse shape than the house.

"It's a happy home for woodchucks and rodents," said Jack E. Daniels, former president of the society. "It's not safe to let the public in there. It got to the point we were afraid somebody might fall through the floor."

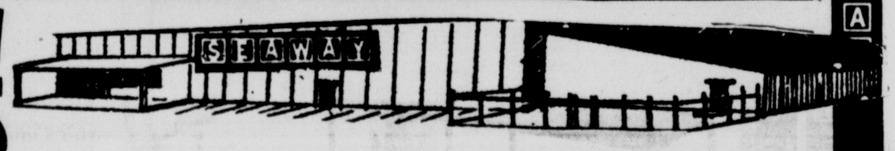

Mrs. Slack said that new logs are ready to repair the cabin when it warms up and that the society plans to put in a permanent foundation.

County cage teams suffer non-loop losses

London's late spurt nips Panthers, 70-68

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The Miami Trace Panthers and London Red Raiders locked horns in Miami Trace gym Saturday night with London coming out on top with a thrilling 70-68 victory.

It was a close contest all the way; an eight-point lead by the Panthers midway through the third quarter was the biggest margin of the evening.

Statistics for both teams were fairly even, London hitting 44 per cent of its shots, 31 of 67, while Miami Trace connected on 26 of 62 shots for 42 per cent.

THE RED RAIDERS were led by forward Steve Chadwell with 26 points on 13 field goals, and freshman Cecil Russell who tossed in 12 markers and played an excellent board game.

Four men hit in double figures for the Panthers as they exhibited a well balanced scoring attack. Pete Jones led the way with 17 followed by Dave Persinger with 15, and Muff Jones with 13. Glenn Gifford tossed in 10 points, most of them coming from long range.

Both teams opened the game with zone defenses and got off to a slow start offensively. Two quick buckets by 6-7 London center Ken Tumblison gave the Raiders an early 4-1 lead. Muff Jones closed the margin to one point, 6-5 on a layup with three minutes remaining, but London still clung to a 14-11 lead at the quarter.

Miami Trace captured the lead briefly in the second period when Randy Reiber, who had replaced Pete Jones, hit a 15-foot jumper to make the score 27-26 with 2:50 left in the half.

The Panthers, however, could manage only one basket in the remaining two minutes and London took a 30-29 lead into the lockeroom as Russell tipped in a missed shot in the waning seconds.

A full-court zone press by Miami Trace forced London into several turnovers and bad passes in the opening minutes of the third quarter as the Panthers tied the game at 36-all with three minutes gone in the period.

Miami Trace roared for eight straight points while holding London scoreless and opened up a 44-36 lead with 2:39 left on the clock.

London fought back and closed the margin to two points, 46-44, with less than a minute remaining but two baskets by Pete Jones in the last 20 seconds gave the Panthers a six point 50-44 lead at the buzzer.

The Ray Chadwell-coached Red Raiders outscored the Panthers 9-3 in the first four minutes of the final period to tie the score at 53-53. Pete Jones gave Miami Trace its last lead of the night when he hit two free throws to make the score 55-53 with 4:23 showing.

THE MADISON Countians suddenly caught fire and rossed in seven points in the next minute and a half to take a commanding 60-55 lead.

Miami Trace closed the margin to three 67-64, on a three point play by Cottrill with just over a minute remaining, but a free throw and a layup by guard Bob Ernst sealed the London victory.

The loss, the third in the last four games for Miami Trace, gives the Panthers a 5-5 record for the season. London's record rose to a healthy 7-3.

MT jayvees cop seventh win of year

The scrappy Miami Trace reserves upped their record to 7-3 with a 60-50 victory over visiting London Saturday night.

The Panthers exhibiting a tough defense xeld London to just 19 points during the first half of play. The Dale Creamer-coached Panthers in the meantime poured in 36 points, 22 of them coming in the second period.

Robin Zurface tossed in 20 points to lead Miami Trace. He was followed by Mark Spears with 10 and Phil Skinner with eight.

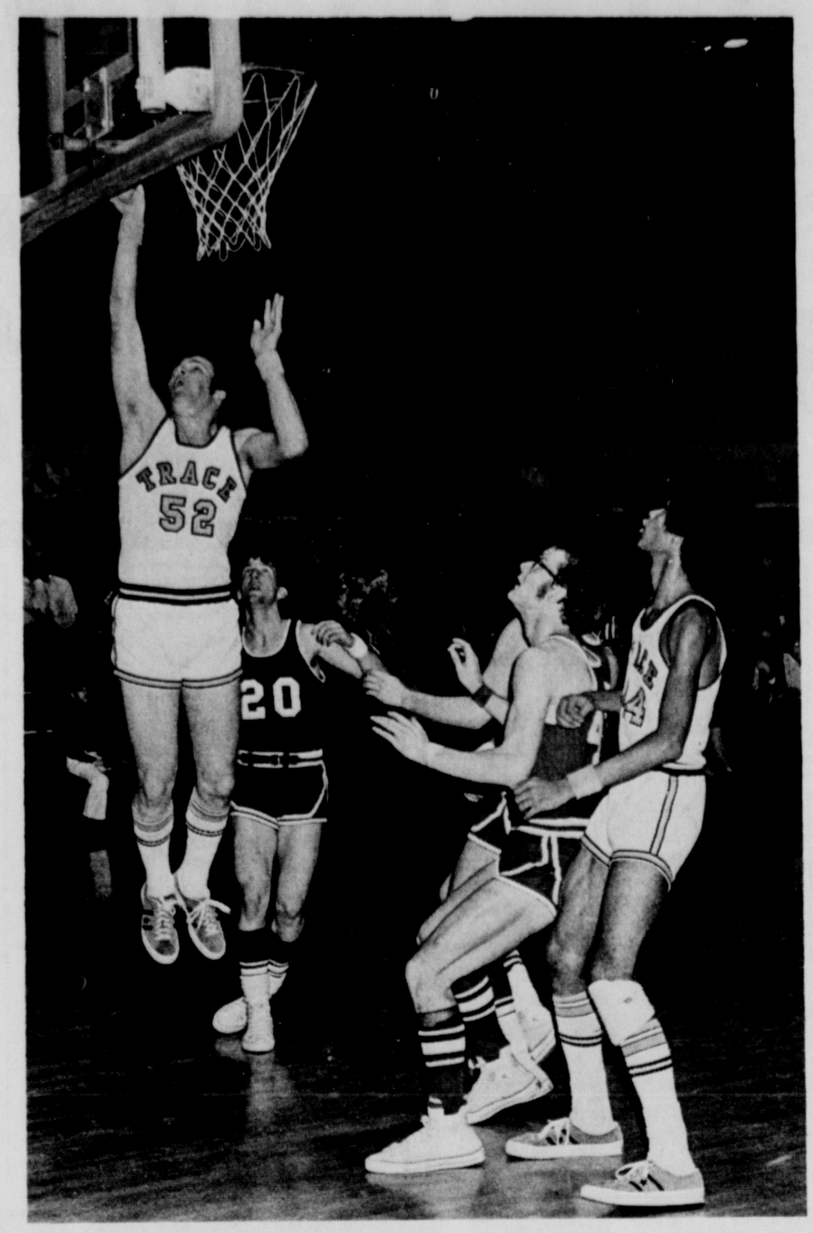

Kevin Weese led London with 15 markers.

Sluggish Lions drop 67-45 fray to Cavs

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

A lack-luster offensive performance spelled the doom for Washington C.H.'s Blue Lions as always-tough Chillicothe sashayed to a ho-hum 67-45 win Saturday night before a fine crowd under the WSHS rafters.

The Blue Lions, who connected on a meager 16 of 54 attempts from the floor for a lowly 29.6 per cent rate, suffered from a sluggish scoring punch which produced only 30 points by the end of three quarters and had only one player finish in double figures for the first time this season.

Chillicothe, coming off an upset win over state-ranked Newark on Friday, received a fine supporting role from its deep bench as head coach Tom Cuppett's starting quintet provided only 22 points.

SUBSTITUTE GUARD Kevin Blevins, a 6-foot-0 junior, sparked a balanced scoring effort for Chillicothe, which pumped its all-games record to 7-3. Blevins canned 12 points after bouncing off the bench in the second quarter while pivotman Dan Beverly hooped 11 points and Ted Gatliff and Mike Ratzlaff contributed 10 markers apiece.

Senior smoothie Dick Witherspoon worked from outside for 16 points to pace a sluggish attack for head coach Gary Shaffer's Blue Lions, who have experienced more than their share of problems against non-league teams this year.

The Lions, who absorbed their fifth setback in 10 outings, were successful from the charity stripe where they made good on 13 of 18 attempts for a sizzling 72 per cent figure. The Cavaliers connected on 11 of 20 free throws for a 55 per cent mark.

Other statistics were nearly even. The Lions turned the ball over 20 times while Chillicothe was guilty of 16 mistakes. In rebounding, Chillicothe held a 33-27 edge and used the margin to trigger a partially successful fast break mode of attack.

Fourteen personal fouls were called in the slow-moving first quarter and three were logged in the scorebook before Washington C.H. grabbed a shortlived 2-0 lead on a driving layup by senior forward Mike Domenico after two and a half minutes had elapsed from the clock.

Jeff Wallace scored on a rebound goal moments later to hand the Lions a 4-2 advantage, which was to be the last time Washington C.H. held the upper hand in the contest as the Cavaliers spurted to a 10-6 opening period edge.

IN THE second quarter Chillicothe scored 10 straight points to increase its lead to 20-6 with 5:24 remaining and added 10 more markers before the period ended to grab a 30-16 bulge at intermission.

Chillicothe's fast break became effective in the third period as the Cavaliers bucketed 14 more points to claim a 44-30 advantage heading into the final period.

Mark Bayless, Chillicothe's prize forward, was hurt in the early going of the final frame, but the Ross Countians coasted to a 48-30 bulge before both coaches started to substitute freely.

Cavaliers nip Lion reserves in overtime

A quick Chillicothe reserve team used an overtime period to nip Washington C. H. 60-56 in a thrilling non-league struggle Saturday night at the WSHS gym.

Chillicothe rebounded from a 41-38 third quarter deficit to knot the game at 53-53 at the end of regulation play and then outscored the determined Blue Lions 7-3 in the overtime frame for its sixth straight win of the season.

Scrappy junior guard Mark Johnson ripped the nets with 25 points on the basis of 11 field goals and three frees, but more importantly was Washington C. H.'s hero in the late stages of the tight contest.

JOHNSON NETTED eight points in the see-saw scoring fourth quarter and accounted for all of Washington C. H.'s markers in the overtime period before he was sidelined with the maximum number of personal fouls.

Chillicothe fought back to tie the game at 43-43 with 4:55 left to play and then received a five-point overtime performance from Curtis Hambuck to post its sixth win in 10 starts.

Terry Richardson topped the Chillicothe scorers with 15 points and Hambuck added 14.

Jim Vess provided ample backing for Washington C. H., which suffered its fourth loss of the year. Vess scored 13 points in the first half and finished with 17.

Panthers set mat record

Miami Trace's wrestling team established a team scoring record by waltzing away with honors in a triangular match with Athens and Ironton Saturday.

Head coach Chuck Wallace's improving Panthers stacked up 104 points, while Athens garnered 63 and Ironton compiled only 30. In dual matches, Athens defeated Ironton 39-20; Miami Trace downed Athens 51-24 and scored a 53-10 margin over host Ironton.

Eleven of 12 Miami Trace grapplers participating in the meet walked away with victories and nine of the wrestlers pinned their opponents which also set a new high for the Panthers.

Eight double winners paced the Miami Trace romp. The double winners were Tom Eddleman (98), Rick Cassey (119), Alan Fennig (126), Keith Earley (145), Ron Bays (167), Donald Dunton (175), Gardner Cobb (185), and heavyweight Karl Neiswenter.

Fennig, Earley and Neiswenter won both of their matches of pins while 138-pound freshman Jim Woods and Bays picked up their first wins of the season for the Panthers, now 3-0 in dual competition.

The Panthers will meet a tough Columbus Bishop Ready team at 5:45 Thursday on the Silver Knight mats.

Arizona Kiddy Korps tops Texas-El Paso, New Mexico

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA's national collegiate basketball champions keep rolling along with 55 straight victories so maybe you haven't heard about Arizona's Kiddy Korps.

The Arizona Kiddy Korps, socalled because of four freshmen starters, muscled their way into national prominence over the weekend while mighty UCLA was running up an 87-61 score on Oregon State for their 55th in a row.

On Friday the Kiddy Korps upset Texas-El Paso 79-73 and demonstrated it was no fluke by upsetting New Mexico, one of the Top Twenty in the Associated Press rankings, with a come-from-behind 83-73 victory Saturday night.

That put Arizona, which lost 20 of 26 games last season, into a first place tie in the Western Athletic Conference over the pre-season favorite Brigham Young.

Coniel Norman, one of the four frosh, threw in 34 points against the Lobos and led a 24-12 spurt that put the Wildcats ahead after they trailed by 41-36 at halftime.

Norm Ellenberger, New Mexico coach, called Norman one of the premier shooters in the country. "You need a canoe paddle to guard him," Ellenberger said. "Unfortunately we didn't have one."

"These kids are proving something to themselves that not many kids their age get to do," said Arizona Coach Fred Snowden, referring to Norman, Eric Money, Al Fleming and Jim Rappis. "They're learning they have to be adults now."

Snowden said Saturday's game with Arizona State on the road at Tempe "is going to be a real barn burner. It could be the civil war all over again." Arziona State also beat New Mexico and Texas-El Paso over the weekend to tie Arizona for the lead in the WAC.

Minnesota and Southwestern Louisiana, two of the Top Ten in last week's AP ratings, were knocked out of the unbeaten ranks on Saturday.

South posts 2 victories, North 1 in bowl contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's top seniors, playing in sun and rain more than 5,000 miles apart, finally rang down the curtain on the the college football season over the weekend and sat back to await the lure of the dollar in the pro draft later this month.

Rain was the order of the day Saturday as the South posted a pair of victories over the North—33-30 in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., and 17-3 in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu.

However, the sun shone brightly Sunday for the last of all the postseason games, a 10-6 victory for the North over the South in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

Chuck Foreman, a running back from Miami of Florida, got an early bonus. He picked up a $1,500 winner's share plus a new automobile as the most valuable player in the Senior Bowl.

Foreman scored on a 10-yard sweep, carried 24 times for 167 yards and caught three passes for 59 more before reams of pro scouts. Pete Van Valkenburg of Brigham Young, the nation's leading rusher, gained 159 on 22 carries, including a 75-yard sprint for the game's first touchdown.

The South dominated the contest, building a 33-16 lead with 12½ minutes left. The North was able to close the margin because of a Senior Bowl rule which allows a team nine points behind to keep receiving kickoffs after scores.

Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt, the Heisman Trophy runner-up, was named the Hula Bowl's outstanding player over Heisman winner Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska. Pruitt gained 61 yards on a field that was more like a quagmire, including a 15-yard burst to the three-yard line from where Southern Cal's Sam Cunningham barreled over for the game's only touchdown generated by either offense. Stanford linebacker Jim Merlo intercepted a pass and ran eight yards for the only other touchdown.

Two long-range field goals by Auburn's Gardner Jett gave the South a 6-3 lead in the American Bowl. But the North stormed 75 yards in nine plays in the final period, with Louisville's John Madeya firing a 16-yard touchdown pass to Nebraska's Jerry List with 4:55 left.

Illinois quarterback Mike Wells was the North's most valuable player while defensive tackle John Matuszak of Tampa won the award for the South.

Three Post 25 members attend baseball meet

Three members of the Paul H. Hughey Post 25 American Legion attended the annual District 7 American Legion baseball meeting which was held Sunday at Chillicothe Post 62.

Representing Post 25 were Richard Kelly, Charles Mallow and Clarence Wallace, all members of the post's baseball committee. Dennis Morris, the new Post 25 coach who is athletic director and head baseball coach at Madison Plains High School, also attended Sunday's meeting.

Managers and coaches representing Chillicothe, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Portsmouth and Washington C. H. reviewed rules and schedules the district tournament date.

The District 7 tournament will be held July 21-29 at Hillsboro with Washington C. H. Post 25 as the host team.

Fourteen Legion districts from throughout Ohio will compete for the state championship beginning Aug. 6 at Ashland.

Michigan tops OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Campy Russell thinks Michigan has solved its second-half laxness just in time for the Big Ten basketball chase.

"We came back too relaxed and too confident in the second half. That's been our problem all season. We all know it now," said the slim, 6-foot-7 Wolverine sophomore, toweling off in the Michigan dressing room.

"That's the only reason Ohio State came back," said Russell. His 23 points paced the Wolverines to a 68-62 opening Big Ten victory over Ohio State before a regional television audience Saturday.

Michigan blew a 32-21 halftime lead before rallying in the final minutes behind Russell to win for the first time in six seasons at Ohio State.

Russell pumped in 8 of 10 Wolverine points in one stretch, leading his team from a 54-52 deficit to a tell-tale 62-56 lead with two minutes to go.

"He's had the flu most of the week and missed practice three days," Michigan mentor John Orr said of his sophomore prize.

Ohio State owned a 29-24 advantage in field goals, but sank only four of nine free throws. Michigan hit 20 of 31 free ones for its eighth victory in 11 games.

Circleville extends non-league mastery

CIRCLEVILLE — Circleville's Tigers continued their mastery over non-league teams Saturday night by soundly thrashing Pickaway County rival Westfall 101-57 in the Roundtown gym.

Head coach John Lawhorn's Tigers connected on 59 per cent from the floor, hitting 47 of 79 shots, to pump their all-games record to 8-1 and hand the hapless Westfall team its 11th straight setback of the year.

Smooth-shooting pivotman Dan Graham popped in 22 points to pace Circleville to its fifth consecutive win over non-league teams this year. Senior playmaker Glen Gillespie provided ample backing with 21 markers.

Score by Quarters:

West.	10	13	16	18—	57

Joe Paterno nixes deal with Patriots

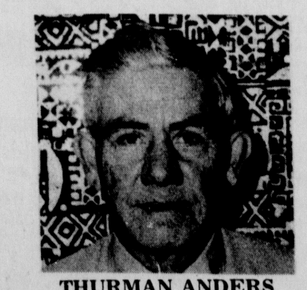

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Joe Paterno, admitting he wants to be more than a football coach who has to win to remain employed, says that was why he decided not to jump to the National Football League.

Ending weeks of speculation, Paterno shocked many people Saturday morning when he told newsmen, "I've decided to remain at Penn State."

The 46-year-old Paterno rejected an offer to become coach-general manager of the New England Patriots of the NFL. The offer included a stock interest in the franchise.

Fayette County Airport notes

By JUDY DENNIS

Several of the pilots and students have been urging me to resume my "gossip column" of the airways, which I was forced to give up this summer. I was off work for several weeks due to illness, and there was such a backleg of work when I returned, that something had to go. Anyway, it's nice to know it was missed.

As we ring in the new year, 1973, here at the airport, again I have done a little research to sum up the various activities of the past year.

We instructed 40 students during 1972, retaining 35, which I think is a pretty good average.

Primary students working towards their private licenses were: Louie Poole, Gary Meyers, "Tex" Guerra, Steve Meyers, Phil Thornhill, Barbara Abernathy, Elmer Reed, Charles Dodds, Don Jackson, Marvin Cook, Gary Smith, Mark Merritt, Dennis Mickel, Bob Wilson, Mike Pierson, Owen Prince, Deane Carter and the Vess Family - Shirley, Jim and fifteen year-old son, Jimmie.

We purchased another Cessna 150 trainer for our students in the wild "Discover Flying" colors of aqua and orange, which Cessna used in their advertising campaign in 1969. Our 1966 Cessna trainer was sold to Ted Minton of Columbus.

Jack Patton, Steve Warner, Tom Preston, and Keith Houghton were working on their commercial licenses. In fact, Keith has been working on his multi-engine, commercial, instrument and instructor's ratings all at the same time. Keith is beginning to have his doubts about our Ohio weather. He came in from Kansas the first of November to get all his ratings, and it has been raining or snowing ever since.

"UNCLE SAM'S" students working on various licenses and ratings on the G.I. Bill were Jim Roberds, Bob Sowers, Ed Elliott, Tom Romph, Ken Mathias, Ron Fitzwater, Tim Vehenkamp, Bob LaGard, Norman Clark and Howard Wright. We purchased a Cherokee 180 for rental and also equipped it will full instruments for the VA students to use for instrument training. Of course, it is also available to others wanting instrument ratings.

I now own my first plane, a Bonanza, which we are re-painting and installing a new interior. Bill went to Mississippi in November to bring back a T-34 which he purchased for the Civil Air Patrol. The T-34 is a Navy trainer with a sliding canopy. Tom Romph, Eddie Pendergraft, and Bill flew down in the Cherokee to pick it up. The plans were for Eddie and Bill, in the T-34, to follow Tom back in the Cherokee. This was a necessity, because none of the navigation instruments in the T-34 were in working order. Bill had never flown a T-34, before, and he and Eddie were pretty busy on take-off, finding out what everything was. When they got off the ground, they looked around and couldn't find Tom, who had taken off ahead of them. They hadn't even gotten out of sight of the airport and their "leadman" had dsappeared! After some little difficulty navigating in strange country, they made it in to Tupelo, Mississippi, where they again joined Tom, and followed him the rest of the way home.

Bill administered 65 flight tests, this past year, of which 16 were students from our Fayette and Ross County Airports. Our students receiving the coveted paper designating them private pilots were Mel Hubbard, Tony Woodfork, Ken Jackson, Keith Houghton, "Shag" Ulen, Jim Davis, Jake Noble, Jim Patton, Jerry Morkassel, Jack Patton, and Clem and Marty Wright (a husband and wife team).

PILOTS RECEIVING commercial licenses were Ed Elliott, Steve Ingle, Howard Wright, and Mike Thompson. Mike received his commercial training out west while in service with the Air Force, but was flight-tested by Bill when home on leave this fall. Bill had taught Mike to fly while he worked for us as line boy, and we thought it was nice he came back to us for his commercial license.

Howard Wright and Keith Houghton also received multi-engine ratings, this fall.

The Fayette County Pilots' Association completed their second successful year, headed by President Maurice Hopkins, in his second year in office. The ADF beacon they worked so hard for has been delivered. However, it is not yet installed due to the fact that it has been too wet to get into the field where it is to be located. The Association sponsored a fly-in drive-in beef barbecue in July, which fell a little short of our expectations due to a weather forecast of thunderstorms for the day. However, the beef was delicious, and the people who attended had a very good time. The annual association picnic was again held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Graumlich, who surprised us with Carl Wilt and his square dance band. Everyone had so much fun, that Bill and I sponsored another picnic at the airport in September, with Carl Wilt and his band again on hand for a good old "foot-stomping" dance in the maintenance hangar.

THE WET weather this fall has not only been a headache to the local farmers, but also to the flying business. The students have had quite a struggle getting their cross-country flights out of the way, as well as local flying, due to the extremely bad weather.

During the summer of 1972, we completed the final arrangements for our F.A.A. and VA flight school at our Ross County Airport, and subsequently, we had picked up several new students there.

This past fall, Bill started another primary ground school for students working on their private licenses, and also as a refresher course for any pilots wishing to enroll. We are again using the Sanderson course, with 10 people enrolled, and expect the course to be completed in another month.

We hired Dennis Mickle as aircraft mechanic in June, and have since done several annual inspections for our customers, as well as general aircraft maintenance.

In conclusion, according to our records, our company aircraft have flown close to a half million miles, and 3,500 ACCIDENT FREE hours. We appreciate the support the airport has received in the past, and are looking forward to a bigger and better year in 1973.

The Marines' motto is "Semper Fidelis" which means "Always Faithful."

Master of disguises resumes his identity

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patrick Wolfe wears a conservative suit and tie now and spends most days behind a desk.

But there was a time when his life was a parade of disguises — from the frenzied appearance of a long-haired heroin addict, to the leather costume of a tough motorcyclist, to the slick garb of an out-of-town cocaine dealer.

"People used to talk to me about me," said Wolfe, for three years an undercover San Francisco narcotics officer.

"I sat in a restaurant one day with a guy who spent an hour warning me about Pat Wolfe. He even gave me a perfect description of myself.

"I thought he was trying to tell me he knew who I was, and I was getting pretty nervous. But when he left, he sold me two balloons of heroin," Wolfe, now an assistant police inspector, said.

AT VARIOUS times, Wolfe, 33, used at least six different identities. He wore long hair, grew a beard and learned the language of the street.

Wolfe says he made some 1,500 narcotics "buys" and played a role in thousands of drug arrests.

"You wanna know how good he was? " asks Sgt. John O'Shea, Wolfe's immediate supervisor.

"He would make the connection, make a few buys, arrest the suspect, and testify against him in court. And when he got out of jail, the man would sell Pat more narcotics."

Sometimes Wolfe found his disguise too convincing.

"I was walking along Grant Avenue one night with this dealer," he recalled recently. "A radio car pulled up, and the officer threw us both in the back seat."

It's just like playing a part. For each case I'd be somebody different, whatever seemed to fit. It was almost like a game — except I had the advantage."

ALTHOUGH he never carried a badge or handcuffs, Wolfe was armed with a handgun, a symbol of what he says is the rampant violence common to drug underworld.

"I'm glad it's over," Wolfe added of his role-playing.

"I would never have long hair now. Or a beard. Maybe a mustache. But I wasn't brought up that way. I'm very conservative. I always have been," he said.

Great future ahead for radial tires

NEW YORK (AP) — Radial tire sales will grow from 15 million in 1972 to 41 million in 1975, according to a projection by Alan R. Kerivan, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

"Of these 41 million radials, approximately six million will use fiber glass tire cord," he said.

The traditional automobile tire is called bias-ply. Bias-ply tires have their cords running at angles of about 35 degrees to the line of travel. On radial tires, the piles run at 90 degrees to the direction of travel, which is said to give much better performance to the tires.

Your Stomach Contains Acid

I know that the stomach contains hydrochloric acid. I also know that this powerful acid can destroy metal.

I asked my teacher why the hydrochloric acid in the stomach doesn't dissolve the stomach itself. She told me to look it up, and I can't find the answer anywhere.

Miss F. B. B., Tenn.

Dear Miss B.:

The question is an enchanting one and has been the source of study for many years by scientists.

The stomach juices, the digestive enzymes, and the hydrochloric acid are kept from "destroying" the stomach by the protective lining and the cells in that lining.

It seems that these cells act as a remarkable protective barrier and, in a complicated way, keep the acid from injuring the stomach itself.

Under some circumstances, the hydrochloric acid and the juices do produce ulcers which may even penetrate through the stomach wall if untreated.

New knowledge about the resisting power of the protective barrier in the stomach is constantly being sought. Much is known, but there are wonders of the body that still elude even the most diligent scientists.

What is the difference between an osteopath and a chiropractor? Do they have the same schooling?

Mrs. H. B., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. B.:

These two fields are distinctly separate from the point of view of training.

Both are involved with the manipulation of the bones and the joints of the body.

Here the similarity stops.

A Doctor of Osteopathy is one who has completed a four-year course in the techniques of osteopathy. Although he does not have an M.D. degree, he does have a D.O. degree.

He can treat patients with drugs and can perform surgery. He can become a specialist in any of a number of different areas.

Doctors of Osteopathy have attained positions in universities and in hospitals, and are respected members of the medical community.

A chiropractor uses the title Doctor of Chiropractic.

The chiropractor uses manipulative treatment on the spine and the bones of the body. He is not permitted to prescribe drugs nor to perform surgery.

I have previously mentioned that when chiropractors know their limitations and work under the supervision of physicians or osteopaths they can be a real contribution to some patients.

When, however, a chiropractor presumes to be an all-encompassing diagnostician there is the danger that some basic, underlying disease may be overlooked.

In my daughter's high school class, the girls pass around their cosmetics. Is this an unwise practice?

Mrs. R. P., Tex.

Dear Mrs. P.:

Only recently, a group of young girls had severe eye infections that were traced to an infected mascara brush.

I think it is not a good idea for adolescents or adults to share cosmetics, powder puffs, and other such personal items.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	4 ♥
Pass	7 ♥

Opening lead - three of spades.

This deal occurred in a European championship in the match between Finland and Belgium. Playing a highly artificial system, the Finnish North-South pair arrived at seven hearts on the sequence shown.

The final contract — with a 3-3 trump fit — was quite obviously due to a misunderstanding in the bidding. The two club bid was normal and designated a very powerful hand. Two hearts, however, was artificial; it announced an ace and a king, but not necesasarily a heart suit.

North marked time with two notrump, over which South bid four hearts. This was likewise an artificial response; it was a transfer bid commanding North to bid four spades so that he, with the stronger hand, would become declarer in spades instead of South.

But in the heat of the moment, North forgot that the leap to four hearts was conventional, and he thought his partner had lots of hearts in addition to the A-K of spades that South had already identified. In line with this, North jumped to seven hearts.

South realized that his partner might possibly have forgotten the convention, but he decided to take his chances at seven hearts. Accordingly he passed, expecting to find a string of hearts in dummy headed by the A-K.

West led a spade, whereupon declarer cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of clubs, followed by the A-K of diamonds and a diamond ruff. When he then led a spade, it did not matter whether or not West ruffed. South made the rest of the tricks on a crossruff and racked up 2,210 points for making the grand slam in hearts.

A trump lead would have defeated the contract — but it would have spoiled a good story.

State board eyes special education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Education was to review an interim report special education for the state when it met today, for the first time in 1973.

Last year's legislature ordered the board to develop a comprehensive plan for special education by July 1. The board was also told to submit an interim report to the chairman of the education committees of both houses by Feb. 1.

Also on the board's agenda was selection of a president to succeed Bryce Weiker of Tiffin. Weiker did not seek re-election to the board.

In addition, the 23 board members will draw lots to see how long their terms will be. From now on, the board will be elected to staggered, six-year terms with one-third of its members elected every two years.

All 23 of the current members were elected last November. To begin the new system, seven will serve two years, seven for four years and eight for six years.

The board will be asked to dissolve the existing Neil A. Armstrong Joint Vocational School District and establish a new one. The new district will include the Wapakoneta City Schools in Auglaize County and the Elida, Bath, and Shawnee Local Schools of Allen County.

Districts that will have an option to join include Bluffton Exempted Village School District and the local districts of Spencerville, Allen East and Perry in Allen County, and the Ada Exempted Village School District in Hardin County.

Police officer injured in tavern gun incident

A city police officer was injured in a scuffle at police headquarters Saturday night with a 78-year-old Washington C.H. who had been arrested on a concealed weapons charge.

Police Chief Rodman Scott said Capt. Charles Foster was assisting Patrolman Larry Hott in searching Russell Day, of 307 N. North St., disarmed and arrested a few minutes earlier at the Emerald Inn, S. Fayette St., when Day struck Foster in the mouth, Chief Scott said Foster sustained a laceration of his upper lip and broken tooth, and was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Day, who had allegedly displayed a .38 caliber pistol while in the bar, was forcibly disarmed and arrested by Foster and Patrolman Larry Walker.

Walker, first to arrive at the bar after receiving a complaint of a man with a gun, said Day, sitting at the front of the bar, was pointed out to him by Peggy Bryan, 529 E. Market St., a barmaid, as he entered through the rear door.

Day apparently pulled the gun and held it against his left leg as Walker approached him in the crowded bar. Walker said Day had refused to hand over the weapon and had put it behind his back when Capt. Foster walked in the front door and grabbed Day's arm.

WALKER AND FOSTER forced the pistol away from Day and wrestled him into the police cruiser. Officers said Day refused to leave the bar and had to be forcibly removed.

Day again became violent after hitting Foster while being searched and officers were forced to carry him into a jail cell.

He was also charged with resisting arrest and is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday for a hearing to set bond.

Chief Scott said Day had been arrested once before on a concealed weapons charge.

A 16-YEAR-OLD Washington C. H. girl who apparently ran away from home Friday night was found Sunday evening at a Washington C. H. residence by her parents, police reported.

Officers said the girl had told her parents she was spending Friday night with a friend in Greenfield, but had never gone to the residence.

Police reported that the girl had run away from home once before during the past summer and was later found in Atlanta, Ga.

Teresa Lloyd, of 824 Columbus Ave., reported that someone entered the employe's locker room at Frisch's Coffee Shop, Clinton Ave., and removed a pair of shoes from her locker. The incident occurred Wednesday. Loss was set at $2.

Grooms named Milledgeville Council head

MILLEDGEVILLE — John Grooms was named president of Village Council at its annual reorganization meeting Saturday. He succeeds Larry Anderson.

Ron Anderson was sworn in as a member of Council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sonny Morgan. The latter retired because of conflict with his work.

One more seat on Council remains to be filled since Councilman Tom Anderson's place was declared vacant last December for failure of the incumbent to attend the required number of meetings.

Ron Anderson was appointed street superintendent and Mayor Johnny Blair reported that a $200-a-year contract with the Sheriff's Department has been reviewed. The contract provides that officers of the Sheriff's Department will patrol the village occasionally and enforce the ordinances. The contract is required because Milledgeville is an incorporated village and, thus, outside the normal jurisdiction of the Sheriff's Department.

Council also took steps to clamp down on owners of unlicensed junk cars left on streets and in alleys.

Mayor Blair was authorized to purchase a filing cabinet to be placed in the Township Hall at Plymouth, where Council meetings are held.

New quints doing fine in Illinois

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Baer quintuplets are "doing fine and the father is calming down," says a spokesman at Evanston Hospital.

Even Thomas Allen, the first born who had developed a respiratory problem, was being fed orally and was being given oxygen "just once in a while," the spokesman said Sunday night.

The three girls and two boys were born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. James Baer of Northbrook. Thomas Allen, Elizabeth, Douglas Edward, Leslie and Vickie were moved from Highland Park Hospital to Evanston Hospital, a referral center for premature and highrisk babies.

The father has shuttled back and forth from Evanston to Highland Park, where his wife Lynn, 26, was recovering from 10 hours' labor.

Dr. Melvin Cohen, medical director of Fertility Institute, Ltd., said Sunday he had treated Mrs. Baer daily with the fertility drug Perganol before she became pregnant. He declined to discuss her case further.

Perganol is administered on a carefully monitored basis, usually daily, to women who fail to ovulate.

In Israel, where the drug is used more widely than in the United States, a medical team reported in 1970 that, of 78 pregnancies that followed treatment with the drug, 31 resulted in multiple births.

Mine removed from hazard list

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Mines says it was in error last year when it included the Valley Camp Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine as one of the 10 most hazardous mines in the U. S.

The No. 3 mine, located at nearby Triadelphia, was included in a listing released last fall. At the time Valley Camp Vice President Alvey B. Rushton protested the rating and usked an investigation.

The original news release said the No. 3 mine had been subject to 512 man-hours of inspection by federal mine officials, but the Bureau in a letter of apology to the mining firm explained that the number of man-hours should have been only 34.

Courts

MONEY SOUGHT

Joseph Sauer, 220 Delaware St., has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court seeking to recover $5,200 he alleges is owed him by Wilson Furnace Service, Inc., 1020 S. Hinde St. The petition also asks that a receiver be appointed for the corporation, which, the petition claims, is insolvent, or nearly so.

YOUTH COMMITTED

A 16-year-old boy, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was temporarily committed to the Ohio Youth Commission Friday in Juvenile Court.

The boy was arrested Dec. 30 by city police on Water Street, near W. Temple St. He was charged with carrying a loaded .32 caliber pistol.

Gun range mishap injures man, 28

James A. Armstrong, 28, of Chillicothe, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a laceration of his forehead suffered in an accident at the Fayette County Fish and Game Lodge, Stafford Rd., Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Armstrong was attempting to set the trap machine on the range when the throwing mechanism released, hitting Armstrong on the head.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Widen search for lost boys

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland police today appealed to residents and businessmen on the city's East Side to search "every foot" of their property for signs of two small boys missing for a full week.

The two children, 7-year-old Renaldo B. Goldsby and his 6-year-old cousin Virgil G. Stone, walked away from the Goldsby home the afternoon of New Year's Day. Neither has been seen since, despite a massive search involving more than 1,-000 police and volunteers.

Police said the appeal for people to search their own property might turn up clues since searchers have been frustrated in attempts to search many businesses and homes during certain hours.

Sheriff's work keeps climbing

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department received 354 complaints during December, including 33 which involved criminal offenses of a serious nature.

The complaint total was up by nearly 60 over the same month a year ago according to a report issued by Sheriff Don Thompson.

Sheriff Thompson said there were five burglaries, an auto theft, and 21 larceny complaints among the more serious crimes. Also investigated were six destruction of property reports and a bad check complaint.

Sheriff's deputies during the month investigated 88 traffic accidents in which one person was killed and 30 injured. The accident total was up by 22 over December of 1971.

Activity for the month included the investigation of a suicide attempt, two trash-dumping complaints, an accidental shooting, one animal bite case, three fires, 14 emergency blood or mental runs, 11 funeral escorts, 50 civil papers processed and 16 special duty assignments.

A total of 55 persons were either incarcerated in the county jail or given traffic citations. A total of 400 jury notices were handled by the department.

The 1,051 actions taken by sheriff's deputies during the month brought the year's activity total to 9,436, an increase more than 1,000 over the same period last year.

Auxiliary deputies logged 295 hours during the month.

Safety assemblies in city's schools

A series of life safety assemblies is being presented this week in the city elementary schools by the National Child Safety Council, in cooperation with the Washington C.H. Police Department. The assemblies feature "Mr. McFeely", a magician who incorporates various safety messages into his performance.

Assemblies Tuesday will be held at 1 p.m. at Sunnyside School and at 2:15 p.m. at Rose Avenue School Tuesday. Wednesday performances will include a 9 a.m. show at Eastside School and 10:15 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. shows at Belle Aire School. Thursday there will be performances at 9 and 10 a.m. at Cherry Hill School.

The safety programs are presented in the elementary schools each year by the National Child Safety Council, which is headquartered in Jackson, Mich. In addition, pamphlets and folders are distributed to elementary pupils. The literature deals with all aspects of personal safety, with particular emphasis on drug abuse.

Philadelphia hit by school strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's 18,000 public-school teachers struck today for the second time in four months after last-ditch talks failed to reach a contract agreement.

The strike, which came after the teachers' union said an offer of binding arbitration came too late, officially began at midnight Sunday.

A school-board spokesman said it would seek an injunction from Common Pleas Court Judge D. Donald Jamieson today in an effort to end the strike which affects 260,000 students.

Republican senators rip seniority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans today begin considering changes in the seniority system, the method of selecting committee members for 127 years.

A reform proposal by Sens. Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio and Robert Packwood of Oregon would allow the GOP caucus to make Republican assignments by secret ballot. The caucus also would designate the ranking Republican on each committee.

The measure also includes a 'grandfather" clause which would preserve the seniority of senators who held ranking positions in the last Congress.

But the secret balloting aspect of the Taft and Packwood measure is opposed by Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, who says he will move to have all votes put on the caucus record.

Secret balloting, Baker says, "would lead to all sorts of log rolling."

Another proposal by Sen. James Buckley, New York Conservative Party who takes part in the GOP caucus, would bar any Republican age 70 or older from holding ranking or chairman positions, current senators excepted.

Multiple strikes worry Massillon

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—It was a day for striking in Massillon today, with teachers and street workers already manning picket lines and the city's garbage collectors threatening to join them.

City officials, school board members and the Massillon Education Association met until 12:30 a.m. today before talks in the six-day teachers strike broke off with no agreement.

"I hope we made some progress," said Mayor Mark Ross after the negotiations stopped. The talks lasted nearly 10 hours.

Escapee charged in fatal shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus police have charged Robert Lee Schieb, 27, a Dec. 19 escapee from the Marion Correctional Institution, with first-degree murder in the shooting death last Friday of an east side bar owner.

Schieb is accused of shooting Edward Demier, 52, of Columbus inside GJ's Bar early Friday morning.

He was arrested late Saturday night.

Since 1952, the governors-general of Canada have been native-born.

Bourchier promoted to vice presidency

Paul J. Bourchier, 431 E. Market St., manager of the Avoset Co. plant on Leesburg Avenue, has been named the company's vice president in charge of manufacturing for the Eastern Region.

Bouchier, who came to the plant here in April, 1971, will be in charge of both the plant here and the one in Newburgh, N.Y.

Frank Giacomini became assistant manager of the local plant, reporting to Bourchier.

Bourchier's new post is part of a company-wide reorganization. Robert S. Manlove, company president and former manager of the plant here, retired as of the beginning of the year, being succeeded by Ernest Glaser, who was executive vice president.

Bourchier said production capabilities have been reorganized to parallel sales operations, dividing the country into eastern and western regions.

Common Mart panel sets 1980 union

BRUSSELS (AP) — A young, high-powered, supranational executive has taken office in Western Europe with a pledge to bring the nine countries of the Common Market into a "European union." The target date is 1980.

The executive is not a single man but a board — the 13-man European Commission. They seem to have no superstitious fear of working on the 13th floor of Berlaymont, the steel and glass capitol of the European Economic Community.

They will run its daily affairs and prepare to turn it into something more.

Two of the leading members belong to a conservative, nationalist tradition. Politicians have a saying that it takes a liberal to carry out a reactionary policy and a conservative to push a progressive one.

President Francois-Xavier Ortoli, 47, made his political name as finance minister to President Charles de Gaulle, one of the most militant nationalists in postwar Europe.

Sir Christopher Soames, one of the five vice presidents, is a son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill. He got credit for patching up British relations with De Gaulle after the French blackballed Britain's first attempt to join the Common Market.

New Orleans snipers elude copter gunners

Watergate trial gets under way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.

The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.

The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Five of the men were captured at gunpoint inside the sixth-floor offices at 4:30 a.m. last June 17 at a time when Democrats were winding up a long run of presidential primary races.

The incident immediately became a campaign issue because of the links between the men and the Nixon administration and campaign. But the White House and Republican party have consistently denied any connection with the break-in and the alleged related electronic eavesdropping and theft of documents.

Congressional attempts to bring some kind of official inquiry into the open before the Nov. 7 presidential election failed, making this trial the first public display of an official investigation.

So far, most of the investigation which has reached the public has been conducted by news media, which have reported allegations that the break-in was part of a wide-scale campaign of political espionage and sabotage against Democrats.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield disclosed over the weekend that he has ordered a full-scale Senate investigation, ensuring a probe into any political areas that might be overlooked by the trial.

In a pretrial hearing last week, Charles Morgan Jr., a lawyer representing a number of Democratic officials and party employes, said he had information that the government prosecutors would try to show that blackmail, and not politics, was the motive behind the bugging.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert has said he intends to offer evidence "from which the jury may draw, we think, an appropriate inference as to perhaps a variety of interests."

Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has said he would not brook a prosecution which treats the case as just another burglary.

"This jury is going to have to know what did these men go into that headquarters for," Sirica said at a pretrial conference. "Was their sole purpose political espionage? Were they paid? Was there financial gain? Who hired them? Who started this?"

Six dead in hotel gun battle

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police gunners at the ready in a Marine helicopter hovered over a battle-scarred downtown hotel today but couldn't spot two snipers believed to be still alive after an overnight shooting spree in which 6 persons were killed and 16 injured.

It was one of the few passes by the big Chinook chopper that did not draw gunfire.

City officials blockaded many streets around the downtown Howard Johnson Hotel for fear somebody might be hit by stray bullets or ricochets if firing resumes.

Police were moving cautiously in an effort to prevent further fatalities. The 18-floor hotel was deserted except for police and the surviving snipers.

One of the snipers was killed Sunday night, gunned down by policemen riding the big Marine Sikorsky chopper during one of many assaults on the concrete structure atop the roof where the snipers holed up.

A firefight flared before dawn, passing overhead by the chopper, with policemen, firing, forced one of the snipers down a stairwell — where three policemen were trying to get into firing range.

The three policemen were superficially wounded in the gunfight before it was broken off.

It all started about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when the snipers, described by police as blacks, began setting fires in the hotel. When firemen arrived, they came under gunfire.

At one point during the predawn darkness, one of the surviving snipers was reported to have crawled to the other end of the hotel roof. Police sharpshooters in surrounding buildings opened fire, but Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except by marksmen 600 yards away in the federal building.

His order came when policemen on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were being fired upon, apparently by their own men.

Giarrusso, who lost his No. 2 man and two other officers in the sniping which began Sunday, had said earlier he would take no chances.

"Time is our ally," he said. "They're at our will now. We're going to win.'

The snipers had started their shooting before noon Sunday, peppering the area with gunfire throughout the day after setting sections of the hotel afire. The hotel is

Kissinger, Tho in showdown talks

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho resumed their peace talks in an apparently icy atmosphere today, conferring for 4½ hours in a suburban villa owned by the French Communist party.

It was the first meeting of the two top negotiators since the talks were suspended Dec. 13 and followed by massive American bombing raids on North Vietnam.

Resumption of the peace talks was reportedly part of a backstage deal under which President Nixon ordered the raids halted above the 20th Parallel on Dec. 30. North Vietnamese public statements since then have given no hint of a softening in Hanoi's position.

Tho, as host of today's meeting, seemed to go out of his way to demonstrate Hanoi's anger over the bombing. For the first time since the secret talks began, Kissinger and his aides were given no handshake when they arrived and left the meeting.

On their arrival, the Americans were left standing for almost a minute at the front door of the villa in suburban Gif sur Yvette. Kissinger finally pushed open the door and went inside. The American negotiators emerged grim-faced after the meeting, again with no North Vietnamese official on hand to bid them farewell as in the past. During previous meetings, Tho and Kissinger were frequently seen shaking hands and smiling together. There was no information from either delegation on what was discussed at the meeting, or when the two sides would meet again.

HIGH-FLYING ROMANCE — The first "airborne wedding" at the Fayette County Airport took place Saturday afternoon when Eddie Pendergraft, of 508 Carolyn Dr., center, and Miss Betty Shatz, exchanged vows a mile high over the landing strip. Jeffersonville Mayor Donald M. Morrow, left, performed the civil ceremony and Airport Manager Bill Dennis piloted the plane. Two other planes carrying friends of the betrothed couple flew in formation beside the nuptial aircraft and "witnessed" the rites. The bridegroom, maintenance superintendent at Memorial Hospital, holds a pilot's license.

U.S. planes err, bomb Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — An American flight leader mistakenly guided five U.S. fighter-bombers into an accidental attack on the Da Nang Air Base today.

Ten Americans and one Vietnamese were reported wounded by shrapnel or injured while running for cover. No deaths were reported. The western part of the base where be the bombs hit is thinly populated.

The U.S. Command reported that about half a dozen U.S. AC119 gunships and one helicopter were lightly damaged by flying shrapnel and four fuel tanks were destroyed.

The command first reported the explosions at 8:20 a.m. as an enemy shelling attack. Seven hours later, it announced that an investigation showed five Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers "flying above a heavy overcast accidentally dropped 34 500-pound bombs at Da Nang Air Base."

The intended target was suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions near Da Nang. The flight leader reportedly ordered the bombs dropped at the wrong map coordinates.

The planes — an Air Force F4 Phantom, two Marine F4s and two Navy A7 Corsairs — came from two bases in Thailand and from a carrier off the coast, and the pilots may have been unfamiliar with the Da Nang area.

The U.S. Command reported continued heavy aerial assaults on North Vietnam's southern panhandle with the object of slowing war materiel moving down to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Forty-five B52s dropped about 1,300 tons of bombs, and there were 124 strikes by fighter-bombers during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks in South Vietnam dropped from an average of 100 per day during the past five days to 77 for the 24 hours ending at dawn today, the Saigon command said. Sixty of the attacks were carried out by rockets and mortars and involved no infantry assaults, headquarters said.

Laird says Vietnamization makes U.S. pullout viable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, the first Cabinet official to face Congress since last month's heavy bombing of North Vietnam, said today that Vietnamization has made possible the total withdrawal of U.S. forces once POWs are released.

"The South Vietnamese people today, in my view, are fully capable of providing for their own in-country security against the North Vietnamese," Laird said in a final report to Congress prepared for the House Armed Services Committee.

He said the Saigon government's ability to defend itself makes possible a settlement in which American war prisoners could be returned and the South Vietnamese would have a chance to survive as an independent nation.

Laird's 104-page report reviewed his four-year stewardship of the Pentagon and his recommendations for the future. but made no reference to the recent heavy bombing of North Vietnam.

But as the first high-level administration official to go before Congress since the bombing was broadened on Dec. 16 and then restricted to below the 20th Parallel Dec. 30, Laird was certain to be questioned closely on the matter.

The defense secretary said the equipment and training provided Saigon in the Vietnamization program, of which he has been an architect, "has significantly enhanced the prospect for successful negotiation, but should negotiations fail, Vietnamization makes possible the complete termination of American involvement in the war."

This, he added, is contingent on the safe return of American POWs and an accounting of the missing in action.

Laird, who leaves office Jan. 20, apparently believes that even if President Nixon's efforts to reach a broader peace settlement for Indochina fail, South Vietnam is now strong enough to hold on even with the presence of an estimated 140,00 North Vietnamese troops within its borders.

Tax payment deadline now Feb. 20

Fayette Countians have received another extension of time for payment of 1972 taxes.

County Treasurer Harold A. Hise announced Monday that the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals has extended the deadline until Feb. 20, following an earlier extension until Jan. 20 approved by the Board of Commissioners.

The normal deadline is Dec. 20, but a series of complications, principally at the state level, delayed the preparation of bills which Hise hopes to have in the mails by the end of the week.

Commissioners re-elect Mace

REORGANIZED BOARD — Robert Mace (right) was re-elected as chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at the annual reorganization meeting Monday morning. Left to right are the new members of the board, Ray Warner and J. Herbert Perrill, both Republicans and Mrs. Mary Morris, county auditor and board clerk, who also is a Republican. Mace, a veteran holdover, is a Democrat.

Robert Mace, Ohio 238-NE, was re-elected chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday as the board reorganized for the new year. J. Herbert Perrill was elected vice chairman and County Auditor Mary Morris was renamed the board's clerk.

Although he is now the only Democrat on the three-man board, Mace was still the choice for the chairmanship. Perrill, who, along with Ray Warner is a new Republican commissioner, said Mace was re-elected to show "Decisions will not be made on a partisan basis." Perrill also pointed to Mace's experience on the board as a factor in his election to head it.

Mace is serving his third term as a commissioner, having first taken office in 1963. This will be his fifth term as chairman. He previously was chairman in 1964, 1966, 1969 and 1972.

Perrill said the board's "keynote is cooperation" for the coming year. "We won't go out of our way to be uncooperative in any way. We'll try to do what is best for the public welfare, and we mean that."

The commissioners spent Monday morning wrestling with the county budget for 1973. Commissioners Mace and Perrill spent most of last week (Warner was ill) working on appropriations for the various county offices, trying to balance expenditures with anticipated revenues.

The commissioners expect to complete work on the budget Monday afternoon.

Crisis phone becomes many-faceted service

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—The volunteers who man this city's crisis intervention telephone service hope t offer a comforting ear to the would-be suicide, the despondent person who has nowhere else to go for help.

But they've found themselves operating a many-faceting listening and advice service, and the callers have also included the lonely, the lovesick and a lady who simply needed a recipe for white sauce.

"I thought everyone knew how to make white sauce," smiled the elderly CONTACT volunteer who fielded the request. "I gave her the recipe...and I found out later she called back the next day to ask how to get the lumps out of the white sauce."

Other calls, most of them from people under 25, involve love problems, drugs, pregnancies, sex education and, occasionally, a bad report card.

Volunteers say they also spend a great deal of time talking to persons whose only problem is simple loneliness.

"It is a fact of our society that a person can be among people constantly and still be lonely," said the Rev. James L. Sager, the director of CONTACT.

He trains and coaches the volunteers and is available to debrief them after they end a four-to six-hour stint answering phones.

"Sometimes they call about an especially complex problem to see if they handled it properly," he said. "Sometimes it is a matter of the worker becoming so emotionally worked up by a caller's problems that the worker needs to talk it out with someone else to unwind."

The ultimate object of the CONTACT program is to offer the potential suicide a last-ditch handhold. Because the program works best in anonymity, the REv. Mr. Sager said, volunteers' names and even the CONTACT office's whereabouts are never revealed.

The service is supported by 25 Warren area churches who contribute from $50 to $1,500 a year toward the operation. More than 160 volunteers man the phones, usually spacing their services several weeks apart to prevent themselves from becoming emotionally drained or apathetic.

Senior counselors-ministers, priests, social workers and doctors-are always on call to aid the housewives and laymen who actually man the phones.

So far, the Rev. Mr. Sanger said, the program has worked smoothly over the 15 months it has been in operation. And even though the phone calls may include an occasional request for white sauce recipes, no caller is taken lightly, he said.

Because wide worth of mouth publicity is the service's most valuable advertising, the volunteers do their best to respond to every request, he said.

In some respects, that has paid off, too. He said CONTACT has now compiled probably the most complete directory of community services in the Warren area and can quickly refer many calls to the exact agency or person that can help.

The volunteers, who undergo up to 50 hours of "basic training" and never learn the names of the people they help, say they receive something from the service, too.

"When they call up crying fearfully and then they are practically laughing when they hang up two hours later..." explained one volunteer, "well, that's a sense of accomplishment that is hard to beat."

Soviets launch lunar spacecraft

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union sent an unmanned spacecraft toward the moon today.

Tass news agency said Luna 21's mission "is to further scientific studies of the moon and near-lunar space."

"The station was launched to the moon from the orbit of an artificial satellite of the earth and was placed on a trajectory close to the estimated one," the agency added.

Deaths, Funerals

John Lugenbeel

Services for John L. Lugenbeel, 73, of 1120 N. North St., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home.

Mr. Lugenbeel, a retired employe of the former Hagerty Shoe Co., died at 10:45 a.m. Saturday in Fayette Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since Dec. 24. He had been in failing health seven years and seriously ill two weeks.

A native of Madison County, he had spent most of his adult life in Fayette County. He was an Army veteran of World War II and a member of the First Christian Church and the Moose and Eagles lodges.

Never married, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Alfred Troute, 731 S. North St.; a niece, Mrs. Carl Wilt Sr., Rt. 4, Washington C. H., and a nephew, Norman Dale Troute, 804 Dayton Ave.

The Rev. Don Baker will conduct the services, and burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 9 p.m. Monday and until time of services.

Stanley J. Holdren

Relatives here have received word of the death of Stanley J. Holdren, 81, of 429 E. 23rd Ave., Columbus, Saturday.

Born near Good Hope, he had spent most of his life in Columbus. He was a retired furniture store manager and in early life was a professional baseball player with the Columbus Senators and was the Midwest middleweight boxing champion.

He is survived by his wife, Mary. Frank Holdren, of Good Hope, is a nephew, and Mrs. Willard Rutledge, 558 Comfort Lane., is a niece.

He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church where the funeral Mass will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Rosary rites will be held at 7:30 p.m. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery. Friends may call at the Egan-Ryan Funeral Home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Monday.

James Dwight Massey

GREENFIELD — James Dwight Massey, 76, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head at 9:15 a.m. Sunday in his home, 521 N. Washington St., according to the Highland County coroner, Dr. Paul W. Terrell, of Hillsboro.

The body of Mr. Massey, who lived alone, was found a short time after the shooting by a nephew, Robert Strain.

A retired engineer and fireman for the former American Pad and Textile Co. here, he had been in failing health for some time. He was a member of the United Methodist Church, a veteran of World War I and a member of Robert Smart post No. 298, American Legion.

His wife, Vivian Ross Massey, died in 1969. His closest surviving relatives are nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. James Heininger, pastor of the United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

MOUNT STERLING — Services for Henry C. Hummel, 77, of Rt. 2, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Porter Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert McNeely officiating.

Mr. Hummel, a retired factory sales representative, died Saturday at his residence. He was a member of the Elks at Marysville and past commander of American Legion Post 417 here.

Surviving is his wife, Gertrude; two sons, Kermit Richard, of Lansing, Mich., and Robert Leighton, of McLean, Va.; eight grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Friends may call anytime Monday at the funeral home. Burial will be in Forest Grove Cemetery near Plain City. Contributions may be made to the Heart Fund in lieu of flowers.

Ernest G. Blackmore

WILMINGTON — Services for Ernest G. Blackmore, 88, of Wilmington, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Marsh Funeral Home here, where friends may call from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Sugar Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Blackmore, born in Bloomingburg the son of George and Elizabeth Sollars Blackmore, died Saturday morning in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. A retired Clinton County employe for 31 years, he had spent most of his life here.

He is survived by his wife, Frances Hurley Blackmore, and a grandson, William C. Patrick, of Clarksville.

CLIFFORD A. BOWDLE — Services for Clifford A. Bowdle, 94, formerly of Clarksburg and New Holland, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Orville Farmer, pastor of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Bowdle, a retired farmer, died Wednesday in Valley View Manor Nursing Home, near Frankfort.

Burial was in Brown's Chapel Cemetery with Elza, Lloyd, Russell, Robert Bowdle, Homer Bowdle Jr. and Clark Martin as the pallbearers.

MISS HELEN ATER — Services for Miss Helen Ater, 68, of Columbus, were held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Printis Spear officiating. The Rev. Lester Woosley assisted. Miss Ater died Thursday.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Gordon Dunkle, James Connors, Warren and Harold Dundon and Fred and Mike Baughn.

Kissinger, Tho

Technical experts met independently to continue their discussion of details of a possible future cease-fire agreement. These discussions apparently were not concerned with the major political problems still under dispute between the two sides.

Tho and Xuan Thuy, the head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, arrived more than 20 minutes before the Americans and smiled and waved at the waiting newsmen.

Most of the Americans had tense, serious expressions when they arrived.

It has been more than 10 weeks since Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand." Arriving from Washington Sunday night in a more subdued mood, he said: "The President has sent me back to Paris to make one more major effort to conclude the negotiations. "We expect that the talks this time will be serious and worthy of the yearning of people all over the world for an early end of the war," Kissinger continued. "As far as the United States is concerned, we shall dedicate ourselves to this effort with patience, good will and hope."

But Tho — on his arrival Saturday from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow — gave no indication he was ready to concede anything. He said the decisive moment had come for the United States to sign the draft agreement he and Kissinger worked out in October "or continue the war."

Kissinger and Tho broke off their last round of secret talks Dec. 13. The United States reportedly demanded that Hanoi recognize the Saigon government's sovereignty over all of South Vietnam, and North Vietnam charged that Nixon was trying to perpetuate the division of Vietnam.

Following the breakdown of the last Kissinger-Tho talks, Nixon ordered the war's heaviest bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area. After two weeks of enormous destruction on the ground and the loss of at least 29 U.S. planes and 97 American airmen, Nixon halted the bombing above the 20th parallel, and Hanoi agreed to another round of negotiations with Kissinger.

Officials in Washington have refrained from predictions about the outcome of the new talks. Nixon told congressional leaders Friday: "I cannot tell you the prospects are optimistic or pessimistic."

The President said he wants three elements in the agreement: "the return of American prisoners of war, a cease-fire in Vietnam and an agreement to allow all parties in South Vietnam to determine their future."

Although President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam continues to demand that the agreement provide for withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, sources in the Nixon administration said the United States is not insisting on this.

2 men escape CCI in truck

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Authorities were searching for two honor inmates from the Chillicothe Correctional Institute who escaped early today.

Officials said Gerald Sullivan, 38, and Denzil C. Stout, 51, both serving terms for armed robbery, drove a truck out of the institution. Sullivan was sentenced from Franklin County, Stout from Summit.

An airplane and a helicopter joined in the three-county search, authorities said.

Congress begins campaign to better control budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing to begin its organized effort to get better control of the budget—and in the process to regain some of the power which, its members contend, has slipped over the years to the White House.

The 16 House members of a special committee created by the last Congress to devise effective legislative budget machinery have set their first meeting for Wednesday, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., said.

Ullman is author of the provision creating the committee, enacted when Congress turned down President Nixon's request for sweeping authority to cut back funds the legislators had already authorized.

Ullman said he will propose establishment of permanent budget committees in both House and Senate, composed of senior members of the two taxing and spending committees in each body.

These committees would be charged, he said, with examining the president's spending proposals and developing, within 60 days, a congressional budget that would set limits on all appropriations.

The regular congressional committees then would take over and produce the money bills for the various government activities.

At the end of the appropriating process, the budget committees would make a final review, recommending cutbacks and adjustments or, if the state of the economy required it, modifying the original budget ceiling

Snow, sleet, freezing rain hit wide areas of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, sleet and freezing rain glazed areas from Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley to the Atlantic early today, causing hazardous driving conditions and downing trees and power lines.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas residents were again looking for snow shovels, wondering where to pile the latest 4 to 10 inches on top of last week's accumulation. Three thousand electric customers in Kansas City were shivering again early today as power lines snapped.

Moist air from the Gulf of Mexico clashed with cold air over North Carolina and Tennessee Sunday, dumping 7 inches of snow at some spots. U.S. 441 across the Smoky mountains into North Carolina was closed.

At least two deaths in Georgia and one in Tennessee were caused in part by icy roads, and 17 persons were injured slightly when an ice-ladden tree topped onto U.S. 61 near Leland, Miss., forcing a Greyhound bus off the road.

Northern Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and western South Carolina were blanketed with snow and sleet. Flashflood warnings were issued for north Georgia as the Gulf system brought more rain. Ice warnings were posted for the area.

Snow whitened most of the central Plains and mid-Mississippi Valley. Travelers advisories were posted for Kansas, Kentucky, Illinois, southern Indiana and Louisiana.

Kansas City reported a total of 15 inches of snow so far this winter, most of it coming the past week.

Elsewhere, a band of freezing drizzle hit central Texas, snow flurries were swirling over the northern Midwest and Great Lakes region, a storm in the Pacific spread cloudiness and rain over north and central California. Snow flurries hit the northern Rockies.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 32 below at Hibbing, Minn., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Hotel battle

about six blocks from the city's famed French Quarter.

Police on Sunday evening had reported a total of 10 persons killed. Early today, they lowered the count to seven and said the mistake apparently was made in duplicate count of the dead found on the top floor of the hotel. They said three bodies, instead of the six originally reported, were found on the top floor. The other dead included the three policemen and a body found in a stairwell.

It was not immediately known whether all of the victms died of gunshot wounds or in fires set by the snipers.

Mayor Moon Landrieu said that efforts to negotiate with the snipers were fruitless. "They said crazy things," he said. "Things like, 'come and get us.'"

A police spokesman said there was "some indication" that the incident might be related to the New Year's Eve sniping attacks on two other policemen, one of whom was killed.

There were three snipers in the bunker at one time, but one was killed by police gunfire from a Marine helicopter Sunday night.

The sniper exposed himself when he leaped from the concrete-block house to shoot at the helicopter.

Police said the snipers were armed with pistols and rifles shooting .44-caliber magnum bullets. Their big-caliber guns were a bass boom compared to the sharp crack of the smaller, high-velocity police weapons.

Police and firemen first were drawn to the hotel before noon Sunday by fires apparently set by the snipers. Firemen managed to keep the flames under control even while ducking volleys of bullets hurled at them by the gunmen.

Two separate fires in which arson is suspected and which authorities say may be linked with the shootings destroyed two downtown warehouses Jan. 1.

Another arson-suspected blaze caused five deaths at the Rault Center — a high-rise office and apartment building across the street from the Howard Johnson — just over a month ago.

Asked if police expected the two remaining snipers to be taken alive, a spokesman said: "We don't think so, because they were apparently on a suicide mission and don't want to give up."

One of the policemen killed was Deputy Supt. Louis Sirgo, who was accompanying a group of officers searching for the snipers.

They were walking down a 15th floor corridor when one of the gunmen stepped out behind them, shot Sirgo in the back and raced up the stairs to the roof.

Another patrolmen chased him, kicking open a steel door to get onto the roof only to be blown back down the stairs by a gun's blast. He was not killed.

An ambulance attendant, Chris Caton, was shot while helping load a wounded policeman into his ambulance on a grassy mall across the street from the hotel.

"This is diabolical, picking off those officers as they go to the aid of each other," said Police Chaplain Peter Rogers.

Large crowds stood in the rain and mist Sunday afternoon, pressing as close as they could to police barricades several blocks from the scene and applauding each time police opened up with a barrage of gunfire.

2 men killed

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Two men were killed today in a head-on collision of two tractortrailer rigs on U. S. 224 west of Homerville in Medina County, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol identified the victims as Larry Ginnever, 31, of Bettsville, Ohio, and Melbourne Schaller of Columbiaville, Mich., drivers of the trucks.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Ohio was on the northern fringes of a large area precipitation area surrounding a low in the Gulf of Mexico today.

The low was expected to dump one to three inches of snow over southern sections of the state today and tonight, and bring a chance of light snow to central and northern portions.

Traces of snow fell overnight in northern and eastern Ohio, with heavier amounts reported in the Cleveland area. Cleveland Hopkins Airport reported a half inch of new snow.

Winter continued its grip on the Buckeye State. Highs Sunday ranged from 16 at Youngstown to 25 at Dayton and Cincinnati. Overnight lows dropped to as low as six degrees at Youngstown and 12 at Akron-Canton Airport. Readings generally were in the 15-to-20-degree range.

Highs today were forecast from 20 to 25 and lows tonight 5 to 10 degrees in the north and 10 to 15 degrees south.

Partly cloudy skies are forecast for Tuesday with little change in temperature.

Temperatures will remain cold in Ohio Wednesday through Friday, with highs in the 30s. Lows Wednesday morning of 5-10 will moderate to the teens and low 20s Thursday and Friday, with a chance of snow both days.

Stock list irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market wobbled along today, slightly lower after Friday's sharp gains. Trading was moderate.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.28 to 1,046.21. The Dow had set another all-time closing high of 1,047.49 Friday. Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange were trailing decliners by a small margin. Most price changes were fractional.

Block trades were slower today than on Friday, indicating the institutional investors were resting on their oars.

A block of 99,900 shares of Panhandle Eastern Pipeline sold at 44⅜, up ⅛, making that issue the Big Board's most active stock.

Mountain Fuel Supply, which has been a volatile issue for several weeks, dropped 3¾ to 87½.

On the American Stock Exchange Jefferson Stores was active and 4¼ higher to 10¼. Friday the Montgomery Ward unit of Marcor announced an agreement in principle to acquire Jefferson Stores.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was off .09 to 65.28.

The Amex's price-change index was up .02 to 26.70.

Israeli planes pound Syrians

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes raided Syrian army and guerrilla bases twice today and shot down five Syrian planes, the Israeli military command announced.

The Syrian MIGs challenged the Israelis on their second strike of the day, when they attacked radar bases, a spokesman said.

Earlier, Israeli fliers hit six guerrilla and army bases.

All Israeli jets returned unharmed from both raids, the command said.

A spokesman said all five Syrian planes were MIG21s.

It was the largest aerial kill claimed by Israel since Nov. 21, when Israel claimed six Syrian MIGs. The Israelis say they have shot down 45 Syrian planes since the 1967 war, 14 of them in the past three months.

A spokesman said the raids were in retaliation for three border incidents in the last 24 hours, including a half-hour artillery barrage against Israeli positions on the Golan Heights Sunday night.

It was the fifth Israeli air attack on Syria in two months.

The spokesman said the Israeli planes first crossed the cease-fire line east of the Golan Heights at 9 a.m. and attacked a Syrian army base at Nawa, about 25 miles east of the Sea of Galilee; two guerrilla bases near Dail, about 20 miles from the frontier and near El Muzeirib, and two army outposts and an artillery battery southeast of Queneitra.

Damascus Radio said one soldier was killed and six were wounded in these attacks.

The Israelis returned less than three hours later to bomb radar stations at El Kuweiyah and Sharbah, in southern Syria, the Israeli spokesman said.

"In the course of the raid, a dogfight ensued with Syrian aircraft," a communique reported. "Five Syrian MIG21 planes were downed."

Canada's seacoast, one of the longest in the world, comprises 17,860 miles of mainland and 41,810 miles of islands.

Adolph Zukor reaches 100

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was his birthday, and Adolph Zukor sat in the unaccustomed spotlight as the movie stars he made famous rose and applauded the achievements of his 100 years.

Zukor — the man most historians claim was the Henry Ford of the movies, the man who founded mass production of motion pictures — was saluted Sunday night on his 100th birthday by the film industry which he founded.

The star-studded gathering included salutes from Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Diana Ross.

Shawnee State Lodge to open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new $3.4 million, 50-room Shawnee State Lodge 12 miles west of Portsmouth will be opened by the state Jan. 14, Natural Resources Director William Nye announced.

The facility overlooking Turkey Creek Lake includes a dining room that seats 170, two large meeting rooms, a gift shop, balcony and two large fireplaces.

It has both an indoor and outdoor pool, and facilities for various types of recreation. One feature is an extensive system of ramps to accomodate the handicapped.

The air-conditioned facility is the state's fifth lodge. The others are at Punderston, Burr Oak, Hueston Woods and Salt Fork.

Members of the United States Marine Corps earned the nickname "leathernecks" because of a distinctive part of the uniform they formerly wore. The black leather collars, formerly a part of the Marine uniform, served as protection for their throats against sabers and cutlasses.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JAN. 9

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

New opportunities indicated — some not obvious at first. Keep searching. In the meantime, however, do not neglect regular obligations.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Emphasize team work and lend a hand to those who could use it. Don't shunt aside small jobs because you think them unimportant.

GEMINI
(May 21 to June 21)

Your outlook, highly favorable, indicates that dividends are now rapidly accruing from past wise investments. However, don't offset gains by overspending.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Neither be extravagant in an effort to impress others nor fall for any ostentatiousness displayed for your benefit. Concentrate on what's REAL and dependable.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Do not overtax yourself, and do avoid anxiety. If you are doing your very best, both in job and personal matters, it will prove rewarding enough.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Good influences stimulate your skills and capabilities. You should feel enthusiastic about the way things go now.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Planetary influences point to new interests. Make sure you are ready for them — but without slighting current obligations. Don't let "moods" cause misunderstandings.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Putting "heart and soul" into your activities is fine — IF yu don't overtax yourself. Set a reasonable pace and follow it calmly, confidently.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Some interference with your plans indicated, but take it in stride. What you do with your own talents is what counts. Use THEM well, then note where other puzzle pieces fit.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan.20)

Being faithful to a trust brings its own reward. So, whether or not your efforts seem to be appreciated, keep right on — with integrity and consistent endeavor.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't try to cover too much territory at once — a tendency now — but, with well-planned procedure, aim for top goals. Going off on tangents will only slow up your progress.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Things will run smoothly in some areas, roughly in others. In all, however, maintain serenity of disposition and manner. Rewards for your efforts promised soon.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely strong-willed and determined individual, talented along both business and artistic lines; are self-reliant, mentally active and physically dexterous. If you decide on business as a career, it is more than likely that you will choose one of the arts as an avocation; could find, especially in music, poetry or writing, a splendid outlet for your very deep emotions. In the commercial world or in the professions, many fields are suited to your talents, notably: medicine, real estate, the law, teaching, banking or politics. You are strong on reform and may become an activist in one cause or another, even if not actually engaged in the political arena.

Short circuit blamed in fire on Delta Queen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A short circuit in wiring is blamed for a fire that caused $2,300 damage to the nation's only remaining overnight passenger riverboat, the Delta Queen.

No injuries were reported in the fire that struck the officers' quarters on the top deck of the boat Sunday.

Crew members used the boat's sprinkler system and other fire equipment to battle the blaze until firemen arrived.

The craft's home port is Cincinnati, and it is docked here over the winter for renovation.

UMW district installs new officers Sunday

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — United Mine Workers District Six installed its new officers Sunday. They are largely affiliated with union president Arnold Miller.

The 13,221-member district, which encompasses Ohio and West Virginia's Northern Panhandle, installed John Guzek as president.

Nightclub uses nude waiters to give business a boost

HONOLULU (AP) — A Honolulu nightclub owner, concerned over sagging interest in topless and bottomless waitresses, is offering a new twist—nude waiters.

"It's really giving business a shot in the arm," said Jack Cione. He says his Dunes nightclub is the first establishment in the United States to feature waiters in the buff.

Cione unveiled the new approach Thursday at a luncheon show which drew a capacity audience of 350 persons, more than half of them women.

He said Friday he'll repeat the feature each Thursday "as long as people keep coming, and I think that'll be quite a while."

At Thursday's luncheon, the nude waitresses which the club has been featuring for months worked along with the newly hired waiters.

"We offer a little something for everyone," Cione says.

The show features nude female dancers.

Cione said he decided to hire nude waiters because, "frankly, the topless and bottomless waitresses bit has about had it."

Reaction from women members of the audience was mixed.

"My face is still burning," said one young secretary as she left.

Another woman, asked if she planned to attend the luncheon again, replied, "Oh no. I've seen everything there is now, haven't I?"

Mark Spitz engaged to coed from UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Olympic swimming champion Mark Spitz will marry UCLA coed Susan Weiner next May, a family spokesman has announced.

The spokesman said Thursday that the 22-year-old Spitz became engaged to the 20-year-old Miss Weiner on New Year's Day. They had been introduced last October by their fathers, who are executives in steel businesses and close friends, the spokesman said.

Amtrak's high-speed experiment

Since Amtrak took over operation of United States rail passenger service its major success has been in high-density areas of the East Coast. Officials of the publicly subsidized railroad corporation have, however, drawn from this experience some conclusions as to possibilities in other parts of the country.

Basically, what they conclude — and in this they appear to be on solid ground — is that there is considerable public demand for good railroad passenger service as a supplement to air and automotive travel. Amtrak President Roger Lewis put it this way: "We are convinced from our experience with electrified Metroliners in the Washington - New York corridor that the public is eager to have modern, high-performance railway service."

That comment was made when it was announced that Amtrak would begin operating turbine-powered passenger trains on high-speed runs in the Midwest next summer. These trains, said Lewis, "will be the start of a major program to improve our high-potential, non-electrified services."

That is an undertaking which makes eminently good sense. For though Amtrak has been less successful on long-distance routes than on the densely populated Eastern Seaboard, high-speed trains seem likely to extend this success to such routes as those on which they are to operate, runs connecting Chicago with Milwaukee and St. Louis. The distances are substantially greater than in the New York - Washington corridor, but speeds of up to 125 miles an hour ought to compensate for this.

It is an experiment. Amtrak will go slow on purchase of turbine-powered trains until public reaction to high-speed service can be assessed. Our hunch is that this expansion of service, providing fast and comfortable transportation between major cites of the Midwest, will go over big.

THE NATION ...by Martin F. Nolan

Freeing mass transit

WASHINGTON — The ungainliest moppet in the orphanage of public concerns, mass transportation, is finally mving from wallflower status into the spotlight of crisis.

As usual, this transformation is occurring not because of inherently critical conditions, but due to an outside influence. Congress and the Administration, in other words, aren't really alarmed at traffic jams and the economic, social and gastrointestinal maladies attendant thereto.

There is a new crisis, discovered in a report to the Environmental Protection Agency. Excessive amounts of lead in the air — more than 90 per cent of it from auto exhausts — really can kill people.

In urban areas "excessive lead exposures among children have approached what many consider epidemic proportion," the EPA report said. "Although these adversely affected children are often residents of homes coated with lead-based paints, lead in the air and consequently in the dust and dirt present additional sources of exposure which may contribute to and aggravate this problem."

THE CRISIS may seem environmental, calling for drastic moves like banning autos from central cities and even providing free mass transit, but the first chilling effects of the crisis will be economic.

Consumers may be startled when they drive up to the gas pump in 1975 and find that it costs $1 a gallon.Getting all of the lead out of gasoline will be expensive, it seems, and new safety devices will make the cars themselves more costly.

According to a Transportation Department survey, "The Cost of Operating an Automobile," the price of gas is far from the most expensive item in the care and feeding of the old V-8.

"In fact," says the report, "during the past 30 years the price of gasoline has risen less, relatively, than many of the other costs associated with highway transportation. Gasoline is still one of the best bargains on today's market."

But still, a daily commuting tour of 20 miles each way costs $5.44 every day, based on the cost of the car, maintenance, gas, oil, insurance, taxes and a generously low estimate of $10 monthly for parking and tools.

MOST CITY transit systems are in the round-trip range of 70-to-90 cents daily. Despite this disparity, a giant American fixation with the private car — fueled by public funds — has helped lead 86 per cent of American commuters to choose private cars.

When Congress again decides whether to tap the $5 billion annual Highway Trust Fund to provide money for mass transit, the environmental argument and its economic implications may change the lines of the debate.

Mass transit has so long suffered from grandiose overviews of futuristic splendor that it may be time to regard transportation as a basic public service like police, fire and sanitation, and offer it "free."

Subways and buses may never be beautiful, but they will always be necessary. Just saving the price of coin-changers and ticket-takers ought to make the trains run more smoothly.

If public transit is free, it will no longer compete on the runway of public fashion and fantasy with the latest lovelies from Detroit. Its very necessity may become its charm. "Free" mass transit? Such a radical thought may in 1975 sound like the hardheaded essence of Chamber of Commerce sobriety.

Native Taiwanese are taking over

For reasons of power politics, which is all that counts these days, the U. S. has been dealing with dictatorships in East Asia in order to combat other dictatorships. We use airfields in Thailand, where constitutional rule has been suspended, in order to bomb North Vietnam, which is run by the most ferocious military dictatorship imaginable.

We do this to protect President Thieu in South Vietnam, a ruler who came to power in an uncontested election. Our warships go out to patrol the South China Sea and the Gulf of Tonkin from bases in the Philippines, where President Ferdinand Marcos has had to cope with the opposition by invoking martial law. As for the great land mass of Red China, Richard Nixon visited its chairman — i.e., dictator —Mao Tse-tung in order to build a balance-of-power relationship capable of restraining dictator Brezhnev in the Soviet Kremlin.

The little Republic of China on Taiwan tends to get lost in the shuffle while the Metternichean game of choosing between friendly and malevolent dictatorships goes on. Theoretically, Red China is free to gobble up Taiwan any time it is able to muster a force capable of crossing Formosa Strait. It is by a strange irony, then, that the Taiwanese, who should be shaking in their boots and running for authoritarian cover, have become increasingly scrupulous about maintaining democratic processes.

IT WAS with a defiant insouciance that 70 per cent of the island's 7.5 million eligible voters went to the polls on Dec. 23 in an election open to all parties. The basic reason for calling the election was to bring more native-born Taiwanese into the government in spite of a constitution that confirms the "invader" mainlanders in parliamentary office until they die or until the Chinese mainland has been recovered.

To "free up" an admittedly semi-static situation in Taiwan, where the incumbents have maintained power for more than a generation on the fiction that their constituencies are on the mainland and hence are prevented by the usurper Mao from calling new elections, the decision was made to elect 53 "additional" members to the National Assembly and 36 "additional" members to the Legislative Yuan.

The Kuomintang, which has the same prestige in Taiwan that the Party of Revolutionary Institutions has in Mexico, easily dominated the vote, winning 43 out of 53 "additional" seats in the National Assembly and 30 out of 36 of the new seats in the Legislative Yuan.

However, the big point is that regardless of party membership mostof the new seats were captured not by refugees from the mainland but by native Taiwanese. Forty-eight of the new members of the National Assembly and 32 of the "additions" to the Legislative Yuan were born on the island. A few of them are members of the Young China Party; others were elected as "independents."

With this new native blood infused into the ruling structure of Taiwan the old criticism that President Chiang Kai-shek's group of mainlanders has suppressed the native culture must lose much of its force. The old-timers from the mainland still have a three-to-one advantage, but attrition will soon alter the balance. Meanwhile, in the elections to the Provincial Assembly, which deals with local matters, 70 out of the 73 seats were won by native islanders. And all of the 20 new mayors and magistrates happen ho be Taiwanese by birth.

THE 36 "additional" members of the Legislative Yuan will be joined in February by 15 more "additional" legislators chosen from overseas Chinese communities throughout the world. The idea is that the "Republic of China," in contrast to the Mao dictatorship, belongs to free Chinese wherever they may happen to be.

Ten "additional" members of the Control Yuan, a "watchdog" body which has the power of impeaching elected officials, will shortly be chosen by the combined vote of the Taipei City Council and the Taiwan Provincial Assembly, and another five "additions" to the Control Yuan will be selected from Overseas.

So the Spirit of 1776, banished though it may be from most of East Asia, grows on the small island that Nixon-Kissinger diplomacy ignores. We would do well to honor what is happening in Taiwan as our own Tricentennial approaches.

Teeth in tire safety laws

Some fun is being poked at Wayne B. Brewer, president of the Cooper Tire & Rubber Company, and not wholly without justification. It was Brewer who in 1967 told a congressional committee it was "a remote possibility" that his firm would ever need to recall tires that didn't meet safety standards. It is Brewer's firm which by now has called back more possibly defective tires than any other.

One need not dwell on it; his assessment was wrong. It is of no small importance, However, that the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has been pushing an active tire recall program just as it seeks recalls of defective cars.

There is one fly in the ointment: civil penalties imposed on manufacturers for selling bad tires have been mostly compromise settlements, too small to be much of a deterrent. To get effective compliance, the NHTSA must use its teeth.

Break the chain or break the law

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that lady who felt guilty if she didn't continue to circulate "chain letters," please tell her she should feel guilty if she DOES. They are against the law and should be turned over to the local postmaster.

Only last week I received a "prayer" chain letter in the mail. It said:

"Trust in the Lord Jesus Christ with all your heart and always acknowledge Him and He will light your way. This prayer has been sent to you to bring you luck. The original copy came from the Holy Land and has been sent around the world 23 times. Make four copies and send them to your friends. You must do this within four days or you will suffer dire consequences. One man in Hawaii broke the chain and on the sixth day he died. On the seventh day he won $50,000, which he was unable to collect."

Such rot!

I am a Presbyterian minister, over 80 years of age. I still preach every Sunday and I believe in prayer, but I broke the chain, and my "four days" are long past and I still feel great!

I shall surely tell my congregation to forward any chain letters to their postmaster and feel repaid for having headed off at least one more piece of superstitious junk.

HAROLD A. SMITH, ATLANTIC GA.

DEAR REV. SMITH: Thanks. And I'll tell my readers the same.

DEAR ABBY: You have said many times in your column that it is not considered good etiquette to put "No children, please" on wedding reception invitations.

Well, I don't care what you say. If you had to pay a caterer $15 a person you would make sure Mom and Pop didn't bring their six kids along to get a free meal.

Some people have to be told in plain English to leave their kids at home, and I say, "TELL 'EM!"

PLAIN TALKER IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR PLAIN: For another point of view, let's hear it from a reader in Coon Rapids, Minn.

DEAR ABBY: So often you hear from people who want to exclude children from a wedding reception. I find this distressing. Such occasions are ideal for families to be together. The father has to work away from his home all day, and in many cases the mother also works. The kids are involved in their various school activities, or just left to bum around with their peers while the parents run off and leave them.

Children should be included with their parents at weddings so they will see the beauty and sacredness of marriage ceremony. And at the reception, if the refreshments were limited to cookies and punch, children could be included without running the cost up. Who cares what is served? After all, people are supposed to be celebrating the union of two people in love-not food and drink!

The family unit is held together by love and togetherness. It is the only thing that will keep our country strong and save mankind from destroying itself. Where else but with his parents should a child learn how adults should conduct themselves?

MARY K. BERG

DEAR ABBY: To the lady with four children by her first husband who married a man who had five children by his first wife and was frequently asked, "Are all those children yours?" here is the best reply I've ever heard:

When traveling by train from Wichita, Kas., to Oklahoma, a lady with 11 children was seated just ahead of us. The conductor asked, "Are all these children yours, lady, or is it a picnic?"

She replied, "Yes, they are all mine. And since you asked, it sure ain't no picnic!"

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 8, the eighth day of 1973. There are 357 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, President Woodrow Wilson outlined 14 points for peace after the first World War.

On this date:

In 1642, Italian astronomer Galileo died at the age of 77.

In 1679, French explorer La Salle reached Niagara Falls.

In 1806, the British occupied Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1815, U.S. forces defeated the British in the Battle of New Orleans at the end of the War of 1812.

In 1959, Premier Charles de Gaulle became president of France.

In 1971, the U.S. apologized for a bomb explosion outside a Soviet cultural building in Washington.

Ten years ago: Outer Mongolia defied China and gave its unqualified support to the Soviet Union in the ideological dispute dividing the two Communist nations.

Five years ago: Budget Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze resigned.

One year ago: India granted full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam.

Today's birthdays: Former White House aide Sherman Adams is 74. Business executive Thomas Watson Jr. is 59.

Thought for today: Never forget what a man says to you when he is angry — H.W. Beecher, American clergyman, 1813-1887.

An increment of daylight

Admit it, now: the winter solstice sneaked up on you and sneaked away again without your being aware of it. If not, you are a rare exception to the human generality.

Most of us were too preoccupied with the Yuletide to realize that Dec. 21 was the shortest day of 1972. Since then there has been a very gradual movement toward more sunshine and less darkness. It is scarcely noticeable as yet; perhaps, if the truth be told, not noticeable at all. But it is happening, all the same. Little by little, the earth has begun edging toward spring.

Ohio thoroughbred election is held

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Sunday elected officers, including Canfield industrialist John A. Logan as president.

Other officers are Albert F. Polk, of Dayton, vice president; Mrs. Mabel Leckey, of Sidney, secretary, and Harold Snyder, of Dover, treasurer.

Elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were Landon Knight, Akron; Marvin L. Warner, Cincinnati, and George Smith, Dayton.

In 1927, naturalists estimated that house mice in one section of Kern County, Calif., averaged 17 to the square yard or 82,000 per acre.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Alexander Russell is the children's advocate of Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center.

He dreams of teams of medical specialists building a circle of defense around every handicapped child in Jerusalem. Short, full of energy, Dr. Russell punctuates his comments with gestures and scribbled notes.

Traveling in the United States to visit child care centers, take a look at children's diseases and to receive a pediatrics award, Russell had praise at each stop for his own hospital's approach to pediatrics.

"Our cooperative, all-discipline program has neurologist, psychologist, social worker, orthodontist — whoever is needed — looking at the complete family and appraising the need of family as well as sick child," he said.

IN OUR hospital, we have a plaque that I've always been very proud of. It points out that we take responsibility for the weakest of the population. That means not only the handicapped child, but also his mother and family, whether they be Jewish, Islamic, or Christian.

"These people are our responsibility for life and for free," Russell added. "I have long felt that the first city which should take responsibility for the aged and afflicted should be Jerusalem."

The interdisciplinary program for handicapped children is, Russell believes, the most effective principle for every handicap. All the specialists involved in a case see a child together. It is less time-consuming for the child and the mother.

"Doctors can talk over time tables. For example, the plastic surgeon might not want to begin his work unless all orthopedic surgery was completed," Russell said. "This is returning us to the helping professions, for we no longer waste precious time dictating memos to other doctors on the staff or reading them. We all learn faster.

"It is utopian only because it demands that the physician work only for the profit of the child, not in terms of surgeons or money," he added.

THE JERUSALEM child and family development center is under the theoretical roof of the teaching hospital and Dr. Russell feels this is its proper place.

"For coordination, all these services should be under one roof: preventive medicine, curative medicine and rehabilitation. These are services demanded by the handicapped child and his family, and such a system is overdue all over the world," he said.

American medicine is too concerned with money, Russell says bluntly.

"Believe me, we run our center on a shoestring compared to the average in the United States. In the child care clinic, our basic commodity is good will and it is a small world. We try to get the best people in each field so that they are respected by others working in their area. We reap benefits from this system.

"Each field is a ring related to the clinic. A respected authority in the field leads each team, and the hospital has the best available."

Russell encountered a computer card file in an American children's clinic which was one of the most modern he had seen.

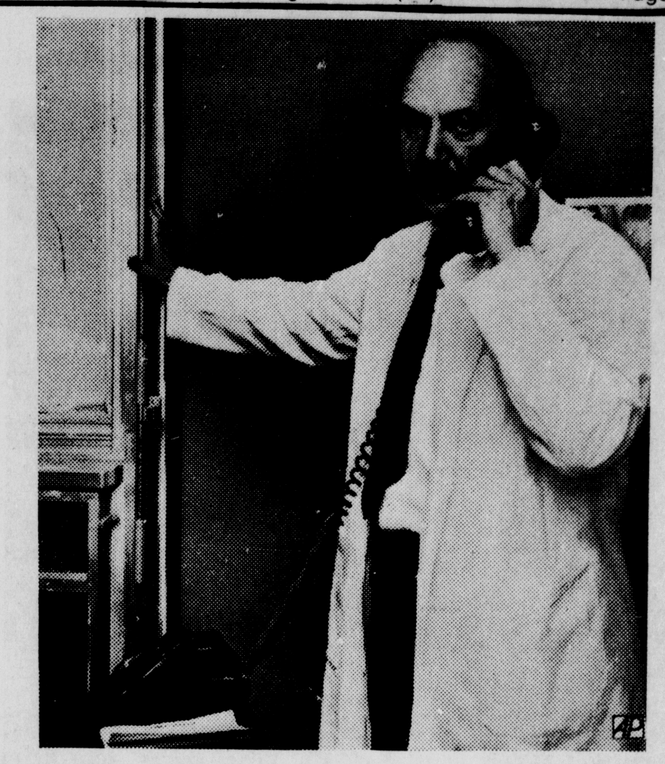

"To my dismay, I learned it was used for billing, and the prices were quite high. In Jerusalem our computer file, which is less elaborate and less expensive, is used to detail high risk mothers. These are individuals who are especially vulnerable to having malformed children," Russell said.

THE MEDICAL center does research on preconceptual problems such as hereditary disease, prenatal problems and labor difficulties. The lot of them are on tape and, when delivery comes, there is complete registration of all children born in Jerualem who arehandicapped.

"At this stage of development in the United States, the society ought to be responsible for all these problems. If an individual is physically unable to bear the crushing burden of medical care, if a child is afflicted with a physical or mental handicap, we believe that society should accept the responsibility in full," Russell added.

"It is immoral of a doctor who represents the instrument of social progress to also be the instrument of exploitation."

There are at least four million recreational vehicles for camping, leisure travel and other purposes on U.S. roads today, and the number may double by 1978, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports. With more than 800 companies producing such vehicles, the research-engineering firm adds, retail sales in 1971 exceeded $1.6 billion, an increase of 41 per cent over 1970.

PROTECTOR — Dr. Alexander Russell is a children's advocate in his Jerusalem child and family care clinic.

Poinsettias, holly and greenery with red velvet bows, and candles made the background for the marriage of Miss Gay Lynn Jenkins and James Steven Shipley, in First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 23. Mrs. Wayne Spangler, organist, presented nuptial music. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Donald R. Jenkins, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Gloria Jenkins, of Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Shipley, of New Holland, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Victorian style gown with empire bodice, of Alencon lace, with full sleeves which ended in tight cuffs. The gown had a wedding ring neckline and self covered buttons down the front. The flowing train was floor-length. Her four-tier shoulder length veil was caught to an Alencon bow. The bride's gown was made by Mrs. Jack Flax. Miss Jenkins carried long-stemmed white roses entwined with holly.

Miss Kristi Cross, of New Holland, was maid of honor. Gay Flax, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Ronald Pope, of Hartsville, were the bridesmaids. They wore long A-line gowns of emerald green velvet with bell sleeves.each carried a red poinsettia with red velvet streamers.

The bride's mother chose a long pale lavender double knit gown with long sleeves with which she combined black accessories. The groom's mother wore a long dark purple velvet gown with gold brocade jacket and gold accessories. Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

The grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Straud Mathena, of Washington C.H., Mrs. Bernice Crowe, of Milledgeville, Mrs. Clifford Hughes, of Washington C.H., and Mrs. Frances Shipley, of New Holland, wore white carnations and holly. Mr. Mathena and Mr. Hughes, the grandfathers, were also present.

Hostesses for the reception held in Persinger Hall following the wedding ceremony were Mrs. Mark J. Shipley, of Columbus, Mrs. David R. Jenkins and Mrs. Norman Chaney, both of Washington C.H., and Mrs. David Cook, of Bloomingburg, Mrs. Bruce Kirkpatrick, of New Holland, presided at the guest book.

The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake encircled with greenery and holly, and topped with a holly ball. The crystal punch bowl was also encircled with holly.

The new Mrs. Shipley, and her husband are both graduates of Miami Trace High School. She has been employed by the Fayette County Board of Education. Her husband is a student majoring in forestry at Ohio University, Athens.

The couple will reside in Athens.

Delta Rho Operation redball project

At the first meeting of the new year for Delta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority the philanthropic project, "Operation Redball," was discussed. Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 15 and 16, members of Delta Rho and the Jaycees and Jayceettes will distribute the Redballs from house the house here in the city and in the country. The Redballs are to be placed in the window of a room where an elderly person or child may be in danger in case of fire. No one distributing the redballs will enter your home.

The date for the ESA dance is May 5. Delta Rho chapter will again be in charge ofrefreshments for the May 5 ESA dance.

A visit to the Emily Jones Home the state philanthropic project was postponed until Saturday, Feb. 10 when more members will be able to go.

Formal pledging of new members will take place at the next meeting on Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Wil Bergdolt, 549 Waverly Ave.

After the close of the business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Gary McCollim to the guests, Miss Debbie Dill, Miss Pam Heiny, Mrs. Steve Smalley and Mrs. Rober Snider, and members, Mrs. Bergdolt, Miss Gayle Sullivan, Mrs. Randy Schneider, Mrs. Robert Kunz, Mrs. David Loudner, Mrs. Glenn Jacobson, Mrs. Terry Lane, Miss Sharon Kellogg.

Bride wears cluny lace for Saturday wedding

MRS. ROBERT D. MACK JR.

The Linden Church of Christ in Columbus was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Dianne Lynn Ferguson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, of Newark, and the late Mr. Ferguson, and Robert Donald Mack Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donald Mack Sr., 239 Draper St.

The Rev. Jack Conder performed the double ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. The altar was enhanced with arrangements of pink and white carnations and the family pews were marked with satin bows.

Rick Bennett, of Columbus, organist, nephew of the bride, presented a prelude of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Richard Bennett, the bride wore a floor-length dress of white cluny lace with bishop sleeves, square neckline accented with seed pearls and empire waist accented with pink velvet ribbon. Her ballerina-length veil was of silk illusion and she carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Joyce Burns, F Columbus, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of light blue and carried pink carnations and lilac pompons.

William Jerry Mack, brother of the groom, was the bestman. Rod Burns and John Rumberger were the ushers.

Mrs. Ferguson chose a rose colored long sleeved knit frock for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a lilac knit dress with long sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of white and pink sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception in the church social room following the wedding were Miss Joanne Flood, of West Lafayette, Ind., Miss Renee Bennett, of Columbus, niece of the bride, and Miss George Anne Dixon, of Columbus.

Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the young couple will reside at 3329 Homecraft Dr., Columbus, 43224.

The new Mrs. Mack, a graduate of Upper Arlington High School and attended Ohio State University for two years. She is a secretary for Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery. Her husband, a graduate of Washington Senior High School and Ohio State University, is a metallurgical engineer at Electric Heat Treating cCo. in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mack Sr., were hosts at a party at the Jai Lai following rehearsal Friday evening.

MRS. TIMOTHY L. FANNIN

Wedding in Newark

Miss Colleen Fant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Fant, of Newark, and Timothy L. Fannin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Fannin, Waverly Ave., were married Dec. 16 in the Church of Christ in Newark.

Mr. John M. Fant, father of the bride, performed the ceremony with the assistance of Mr. Ellis Webb, of Columbus.

The bride is a junior at Ohio State University, Newark campus, and the groom is a senior. They are now residing in Newark.

Mrs. John McCullough was the matron of honor and Miss Torey Fant, sister of the bride, the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hull and Mrs. Richard Berry, sister of the groom. Miss Beth Ann Meadows, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

Jeff Litten was the best man and Tim Fant, brother of the bride, Jeff Fannin, brother of the grom, and John Dearing, seated the guests. Jay Fant, another brother of the bride, was the ringbearer.

A reception followed at the Buckingham House in Newark.

Now You Know!

Use your kitchen knives for cutting food — not for cutting paper or string or for sharpening pencils. Store the knives in a knife holder or in sheaths that fit over the blades.

Before broiling a steak, slash the fatty edges at intervals with a sharp knife. This will keep the edges of the steak from curling up.

Pure flavoring extracts are made by dissolving the aromatic essential oils of flavorful foods in pure alcohol. Pure vanilla extract, for example, is made from selected vanilla beans.

Miss Pero, Mr. Columb are married in Michigan

MRS. JOSEPH COLUMB

Miss Frances Pero became the bride of Joseph Columb in St. Charles Borromeo Church in Rapid River, Mich., with the Rev. Fr. Robert A. Haas officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pero, Rt. 2, and the bridegroom in the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Columb, Rt. 2, Rapid River. Miss Pero was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, Sam Hews, of Comstock Park, Mich.

Miss Pero designed and made her wedding dress and the dress for her matron of honor. The bridal gown was floor-length and princess - style of white tzxtured double knit with lantern sleeves of white polyester crepe. She wore a cameo brooch on the roll collar. A petal headpiece of lace and pearls secured her elbow-length veil and she carried a nosegay of fall flowers.

Mrs. Dan Johnson, of Rapid River, her matron of honor, wore an navy blue gown styled like that of the bride. Her dress featured Juliet sleeves in a print of fall colors. She also carried a nosegay of fall flowers.

The junior bridesmaids, the Misses Debra and Wendy Larsen, nieces of tthe groom, were dressed in floor-length gowns with solid color orange skirts accented with multi-colored print bodices and sleeves. Their dresses were made by their aunt. They carried baskets of fall flowers.

Serving as best man was James Trepanier, of Rapid River. Billy Larsen, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer and Gerald Pyke the usher.

A reception and dance followed the ceremony at the Stonnington Community Hall.

Following a Copper Country honeymoon to the northern Upper Peninsula, the couple now reside in Rapid River.

The bride is a 1966 Miami Trace High School graduate and of Mount Carmel School of Nursing in Columbus. She served two years with the Army Nurse Corps, including a year's tour in Vietnam.

Mr. Columb, a Rapid River High School graduate, is employed as an apprentice, heavy equipment operator by Hedrich Construction Co., Iron Mountain, Mich. He also served two years with the U. S. Army.

What causes chapping and rough skin around the nose? The accumulation of dry skin exposed to the cold causes chapping and rough skin. Look at the areas where men shave and are constantly removing dead layers of skin with their razors. You won't see chapping or the rough edges of dead skin. But men chap constantly near their noses where they don't shave. Women have no means of removing this dry layer, so they suffer from chapped and roughened skin. A good skin conditioner can remove these dry layers of skin from the face gently and quickly.

Jeff Methodists install officers

Mrs. Harold Anderson conducted an installation service for the 1973 officers at the meeting of the Jeffersonville United Methodist church women.

Mrs. Howard Burnett Jr., was installed as president; Mrs. Don Dennewitz, secretary; and Mrs. J.W. Vannorsdall, treasurer.

Mrs. Burnett presented a past president's pin to Mrs. Anderson for her service to the society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Satterfield presented the program, "God Loves Us." Others participating were Mrs. Dottie Conley, Mrs. David Groves, Mrs. Dennewitz and Mrs. Vannorsdall.

The annual kraut supper will be held Jan. 30 in the church, with Mrs. Vannorsdall, chairman, and Mrs. Dennewitz, co-chairman.

Members voted to purchase supplies for the children's department of the Sunday School.

The dining room tables were decorated with planters and candles for the salad course served to 15 members and one guest by the Esther Circle, with Mrs. Clyde Rings, leader, and Mrs. Carrol Ritenour, assistant, hostesses.

Club to meet at Anderson's

Members of the Fayette Garden Club will be greeted at Anderson's Restaurant Friday at noon by Mrs. Maryon Mark and Mrs. George Trimmer, when they meet for a Dutch treat luncheon.

Miss Norma Dodd will present the program, "Oriental Splendor," and show slides of East Asia.

The design, "New Beginnings," will be brought by Miss Jeanette Roush.

Keep shelled nuts in the refrigerator so there will be no danger of rancidity.

If you are storing ground meat in the refrigerator, use it within two days.

To hurry up the cutting job, slice several stalks of celery at once. Cut scallions the same way.

Chamber executive looks back on 1972—and ahead

By JAMES DUNN
Chamber of Commerce
Executive Vice President

In 1972 Washington C.H. and Fayette County weathered difficulties seldom experienced in our community: the loss of a major industry and inclement weather that impeded both planting and harvest seasons for area farmers.

While these adverse conditions were not met with open arms, they prevailed in reuniting the community and instilling a sense of teamwork and togetherness. Our industrial loss was quickly reversed when Mac Tools, Inc. purchased the former NCR properties and began their move here. Favorable weather conditions and luck are now needed by our farm friends to complete this year's harvest.

Between these circumstances the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce has molded a program of work designed to fulfill immediate needs and plan for the future. As you may recall, three program divisions, Business Development, Community Development and Chamber Development were initiated this past July. The purpose of this structure was to pinpoint areas needing attention, and to develop proper planning.

In brief review, last year's accomplishments were highlighted by Mac Tools' decision to locate here, a well received Business - Industry - Education Day for high school seniors, a successful Home Show week-end sponsored by local businesses, a well received Businessmen's - Cattle Feeders jointure, Teacher Get-Acquainted Day for new teachers, formation of a uniform Chamber Ambassador Club, initiation of a Selective Development Program for industry, planning and layout completed for a new community brochure, a daily Salute to Business series in conjunction with WCHO radio, formation of a Search for Physicians Committee, and the sizable number of new building improvements that were made.

Internally, the Chamber expanded its coverage of activities through a monthly membership Newsletter, close liaison with the Record-Herald, a weekly Chamber report over WCHO radio, and a monthly television report on WOSS television.

Just the brief mention of these activities points out the involvement and interest expressed by our local business, agricultural, industrial and professional members. Their financial support and willingness to serve on various committees have made our accomplishments possible.

What does 1973 and the future hold for Washington C.H. and Fayette County? PROGRESS THROUGH PLANNING.

1970 census figures show a population of 25,461 for our community. Forecasted projections for the year 2000, now only 27 years away, indicate a population of 37,500. Efficient and well-construed planning must provide an orderly path for this growth.

In 1973, the Chamber and Community Improvement Corporation will proceed with a Selective Search for Industry Program that is now being conducted in conjunction with the State of Ohio's Economic and Community Development Department. Through thoughts and opinions of local leaders and a computer analysis, attempts will be made to secure compatible industries for our area.

Efforts are already under way to bring new physicians to Fayette County. With preliminary groundwork having been laid, program action for this effort will have a high priority as we begin the new year.

While the cycle of events and continuous planning seems never ending, the Chamber will constantly strive to make our community a better place in which to live, work, and play.

Smaller steel inventories seen for beginning of year

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Steel users started a new year with smaller inventories of the metal than at the beginning of any recent year, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Not only were there fewer tons of steel in users' inventories at the start of 1973 but, in days of supply, they were much lower than last year because of the higher rate at which steel is being used," the magazine said.

It added that without a large cushion of inventories and with consumption at a high level, steel buyers will have to figure their purchases closely to make sure that steel will arrive when needed.

"At the beginning of January last year, the nation's manufacturing plants had 10 million net tons of steel on hand," Industry Week said. It estimated that at the beginning of 1973 they had only slightly more than nine million tons, the lowest since the start of 1963.

"With steel users determined to keep their inventories low and to depend upon mills for one-time deliveries," Industry Week continued, "U.S. mills have boosted their inventories so as to be able to fill orders when wanted. From a total of 19.7 million net tons at the mills on Jan. 1 a year ago, their inventories rose to 21.6 million tons by the beginning of November, latest government figures show."

The magazine said the high demand is expected to put first quarter U.S. mill shipments close to the 24.5 million net tons during the fourth quarter of 1972.

U.S. raw steel output in 1972 totaled approximately 133.1 million net tons, compared with 120,443,000 tons in 1971, Industry Week said. It estimated last week's production at 2,665,-000 net tons.

The bright outlook for steel production is pushing up prices of scrap, a raw material for steelmaking. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose last week to $46.17 per gross ton from the preceding week's $44.83.

Lighting no barrier to crime rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland is scheduled to complete its $6.5 million anticrime street lighting program this year, but the final bulb won't be screwed in with quite the same expectations that flowered in the light of the first.

Crime in Cleveland, apparently briskly efficient under all sorts of light, has nearly doubled in the six years since the program began. Police listed 32,371 reportable crimes in 1966 and 59,593 in 1971.

Figures for 1972 are still incomplete, but street lighting officials admit few Clevelanders will notice any immediate decrease from the brighter streets.

The program began under a $1 million appropriation, substituting traditional street lights with the three-times brighter mercury bulbs. Over the years since, another $6.5 million has gone toward the better lighting.

Raymond K. Miller, chief of the city's street lighting bureau, feels that the brighter streets were unfairly tested over the six years.

Police layoffs by former Mayor Carl Stokes and inferior police equipment probably hampered the lighting's effect, he said.

Current Mayor Ralph Perk, who is openly hoping for a crime decrease this year, has poured $3 million into the street lights, beefed up the police department's fleet of squad cars and also announced plans to increase the force by 188 men.

"You can't quote figures on reduced crime and say the better lighting did it, unless the enforcement in the neighborhoods was adequate," Miller said.

City Utilities Director Raymond Kudukis, noting that much of the brighter lighting was installed on the city's West Side where crimes are fewer, argues that "if the lights hadn't been installed, crime rates might have increased even more since 1966."

Another problem that has cropped up so far is the matter of burned out bulbs, although the city has started to recruit neighborhood organizations to keep watch over their own street lights.

Street, highway projects slated

Various jobs and projects are expected to keep street and road crews in Fayette County busy this week.

"We're still waiting for all that snow they said we were going to get," Richard Duffy, city street superintendent, said. "We had all our snow plows and salt trucks ready."

Assuming it doesn't snow, city crews still have plenty of work, including replacement and straightening of street signs. Duffy said his department, in making a survey of street signs, found about 50 signs missing.

City crews also will be removing old asphalt from several alleys in preparation for resurfacing them in the spring, and hauling stone.

Fayette County Engineer Charles Wagner said his men will be doing ditch work along Creek Road and drainage work along Jones and Snow Hill roads. In addition, they will be cutting brush in Jefferson Township and repairing machinery in the county garage, 224 Mulberry St.

Gene Fitzpatric, state highway superintendent for Fayette County, said work crews will be sealing cracks on U. S. 35-N and patching various roads throughout the county. They'll probably also seal cracks on Ohio 41-N between South Solon and the Fayette - Madison County line.

State crews will also be picking up trash and doing emergency berm work as the need arises.

Musical billed at Greeneview

JAMESTOWN — Greenview High School's dramatic club, The Greenview Players, will present the musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown, at 8 p.m. Jan. 13 and Jan. 20 in the junior high school auditorium. The musical is based on the comic strip, "Peanuts," with the music and lyrics by Clark Gesber.

Members of the cast include Mark Bon Durant, Paula Dennis, Steve Pierson, Pam Smith, Tom Wolf and Mike Young. Members of the production staff include Marcia Long, Jayne Williamson, Mary Ann Nock, Ellen Steiner, Debbie Pickering and Larry Rees, the director.

20 killed on Ohio highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven persons killed in two double fatals and a triple fatal were among the 20 persons who died in accidents on Ohio's roads during the weekend, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The triple fatal happened on Friday about five miles south of Newark on Ohio 79. The double fatals were on Saturday and happened on Ohio 347 in Union County and on Interstate 70 west of the Ohio 149 interchange near St. Clairsville.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

NEWARK — Ronald E. Bennett, 18, Robert D. Robinson, 31, and Saundra Robinson, 31, in a head-on smashup on Ohio 79 about five miles south of Newark.

SPRINGFIELD — Mrs. Easter E. Lemaster, 58, of Springfield, when the car in which she was riding went out of control on U.S. 68 north of Springfield and crashed over an embankment.

PORT CLINTON — Norman Lanier, 45, Port Clinton, when his car went out of control and crashed into a tree on an Ottawa County road on Catawba Island.

TIFFIN — Steven Eisenhart, 16, Tiffin, in a two-car accident in Tiffin.

MARYSVILLE—Dale F. Lynd, 32, Marysville, when his car struck a truck that was backing onto Ohio 31 in Union County.

SATURDAY

CLEVELAND — Jeanetto Thomas, 50, Bratenahl, in a two-car crash in Cleveland.

IRONTON — Bobby Lynn Miller, 22, Ashland, Ky., when his car struck a guard rail on U.S. 52 near Ironton.

FREMONT — Gregory Austin, 17, Chesanig, Mich., in a one-car accident on a Sandusky County road north of Woodville.

MARYSVILLE — Gretchen Sue Bailey, 29, and her son Christopher, 4, both of Powell, in a two-car crash at an intersection on Ohio 347 in Union County.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE—Darlene Hargis, 21, Harrisburg, Pa., and Jill Lyons, 23, Institute, W. Va., in a two-car collision on Interstate 70 just west of the Ohio 149 interchange.

YOUNGSTOWN — Dave Manning, Youngstown, hit by a car in Youngstown.

LOGAN — David Colliton, 65, rural Laurelville in a two-car smashup at a Hocking County intersection.

SUNDAY

TOLEDO — Robert Liner, 3, Toledo, ran from between two parked cars and was struck by an automobile.

BUCYRUS — Michael Brown, 20, of Bucyrus, in a two-car accident on Brant and Dice Roads in Crawford County.

NORTON — Doretha Houff, 43, Norton, in a two-car accident on Interstate 76 in Summit County.

BRYAN — William Kerr, 20, Bryan, in a two-car collision at the junction of County 1150 and Ohio 34 in Williams County.

State to promote foreign trade via computer use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's Division of International Trade plans to begin an innovative computer program Feb. 1 to spur the state's export business.

Division Director Merrill Katz said the purpose of the program will be to provide Ohio manufacturers interested in foreign trade with fast, specialized information about prospective export markets around the world.

Katz, named division director in December, conceived the idea and says that it is unmatched in the United States.

"By direct mail and advertising, we are going to request Ohio manufacturers to contact us and advise us of their interests in developing an export market" he said. "We, in turn, will supply them with a listing of foreign manufacturers, distributors or wholesalers in countries that are particularly interested in their products."

For instance, he said, "We know the market for frozen cattle semen is in South America and Australia and not in Europe, where counterparts of our Food and Drug Administration do not permit such exports."

Katz said the state will supply the Ohio manufacturer with about 10 companies in each of three countries with whom they can correspond.

One of the innovations of the program will be speed. He said when Ohio manufacturers contact the division for a list of export possibilities, "we will give them answers in 15 working days. Our program of direct mail has been taking 35 to 77 days and costing $5 to $50. Now we will be able to provide the information free to any Ohio manufacturers."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" on public television will stand down next May unless the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has a last-minute change of heart.

The one-hour show, first aired on public television in May 1971, was put on "deferred" status by CPB when the agency approved 30 other shows for the 1973 fall season.

An option to renew the show expired New Year's Day without CPB action. And the contract that now keeps new "Firing Line" segments on the air ends May 1.

Several other hard-hitting public-affairs programs — most notably "Bill Moyers' Journal" and "Washington Week in Review" — also are missing from CPB's approved list for next fall.

But the absence of "Firing Line" from the list surprised many who have enjoyed the probing questions and sophisticated, sardonic repartee of an eloquent conservative.

It startled Buckley, too.

"I was told this was going to happen about three weeks ago, but I was very much surprised at that particular point because the program has rated very high among stations," he said.

Did CPB explain why "Firing Line" was deferred?

"They said they were going to do away with all public-affairs programs that are centered on an individual," Buckley said. "In other words, they will finance documentaries and that kind of thing, but they will decline henceforth to back any public-affairs programs in which an individual is in the center."

Henry Loomis, the new CPB president, gave a different explanation last month in a separate interview in which he was asked why the Buckley and Moyers shows were being deferred.

Buckley says he thinks the CPB is trying to eliminate public-affairs programming but he doesn't view the move as an attack on him personally.

"I know it's not an attack on me because, after all, I'm simply part of a category," he said. "And it's the whole of the category that is being let go, so I don't take it personally at all."

"Firing Line" began in 1966 as a syndicated show for commercial television. Buckley did 240 of those shows before switching to public television and logging another 72 programs.

What now?

"I hope to stay in public television, but I'm not making any commitment," he said. "I may go back to commercial."

Hal Boyle . . . Are you getting older?

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting older?

Well, you don't even have to ask the question if —

You have more friends inside the cemetery than out of it.

The last thing you do before going to bed is write down a list of things you know you won't be around to doing tomorrow.

You spend more time looking backward than looking forward.

When you hear a new funny story, a picture flashes in your mind of the guy who first told it to you 25 years ago. But you can't quite recall his name or what became of him.

Your wife calls you Dad or Father.

Every year you buy a garden seeds a few days earlier.

Getting a new tie for Christmas is no longer an ordeal, but a kind of consolation — because it is one tradition that is changeless. Instead of hiding the tie or giving it away, you wear it yourself the day after you get it, no matter what it looks like.

When you see a man going up steps two at a time, you think he must be slightly balmy.

You have forgiven yourself your own youth, but you can't forgive it in others.

Let the first snowflake of winter fall, and you lift your voice to all within hearing distance and bleat out, "You should have seen the great snowfall here in December 1947. There's never been anything like it before or since — except maybe the great blizzard of '88."

Without your realizing it, your daily speech is larded with faded colloquialisms, such as "They're spitting images of each other or "I was only kneehigh to a grasshopper in those days."

That little round paunch you call a flat tire is getting alarmingly bigger, but you never carry out your threats to do anything about it.

You wonder often how some people manage to hold their jobs, but you no longer wonder how you hold yours.

Any morning you come to work and find the janitor has left your wastepaper basket beside somebody else's desk, you ask aloud why nobody seems able to leave things where they find them anymore. You don't really simmer down until you're halfway through your second martini at lunch. That luncheon is more and more likely to consist of chicken a la king than steak, not only because it's cheaper but because it's easier to chew.

Recognize yourself?

Well, if you do, you may not be Methuselah yet, old-timer — but you're getting there.

HAPPY BLUEBIRDS

The weekly meeting of the Eastside Happy Bluebirds was held after school Thursday in the home of Mrs. Herbert Satterfield, leader.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Bluebird Wish led by Sherry Haithcock. Marcia Anthony called the roll. The girls answered by naming their favorite Christmas present. Mrs. Satterfield told the girls that tours of the Fayette County Museum and Cudahy Packing Company were being planned in the near future. Following the meeting, the girls made bird feeders using milk cartons.

Kathy Scott served refreshments to Brenda Annon, Marcia Anthony, Diana Bellar, Amberly Custer, Rikki Edwards, Sherry Haithcock, LaDonna Jackson, Debra Penn, Terri Phillips, Kris Satterfield and Cindy Williams.

3 injured in 9 area accidents

Three persons were injured in nine traffic accidents reported in the Fayette County area by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. One driver was cited in the crashes which caused extensive property damage.

A single car accident on U. S. 35 at Hutchinson - Yeoman Road early Monday sent two persons to Memorial Hospital with injuries.

Everett N. Fitch, 20, of 718 Eastern Ave., driver in the car and Carol F. Woods, 20, of 522 Fifth St., a passenger, were both released after treatment in the emergency room for minor bruises and abrasions.

Sheriff's deputies said Fitch was pulling from the M & M Restaurant lot when the car swerved to the right across the highway and collided with a utility pole.

Fitch's 1968 model car received extensive damage to the front in the 2:56 a.m. crash. The accident is still under investigation.

DONALD R. PAYTON, 20, of 522 Peddicord Ave., was slightly injured when he was pinned between a backing car and a parked auto on the Bordon Burger lot Saturday morning.

Police said Payton suffered bruises and abrasions on his legs but did not require treatment for the injuries.

According to investigating officers, a car driven by Edna N. Self, 19, of 523 Fifth St., was backing westbound on the lot and struck Payton, pinning him against a parked car.

She was not cited.

A 1972 foreign model compact car was demolished Sunday morning when it flipped over a guardrail on U. S. 35, a half mile north of Inskeep Road, the Sheriff's Department reported.

Officers said Roger M. Garringer, 23, of 248 North Bend Ct., was traveling southeast and lost control of the car as it ran off the right berm. The car slid back onto the pavement then skidded broadside into the guardrail. The car came to rest on its wheels in the ditch after flipping over the guardrail. Garringer was uninjured in the crash.

OTHER mishaps investigated over the weekend were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 5:03 p.m. — A pickup truck driven by Elmer Blevins, 68, West Union, and a parked car owned by Alfred M. Hidy, 326 Sixth St., were involved in a minor mishap on the Kroger lot; damage slight.

SUNDAY, 11:52 a.m. — Albert E. Randolf, 80, of 416 East St., was cited for a stop sign violation following a collision with a car driven by David Munyon, 23, Greenfield, at the intersection of North Street and Rose Avenue; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 2:10 p.m. — A parked car owned by Harry Warfield, 920 E. Temple St., was involved in a hitskip accident in the Municipal parking lot Sunday. The Warfield car sustained minor damage to the right rear.

SUNDAY, 2:44 p.m. — A car driven by William L. Rodgers, 20, of 1119 N. North St., and a stalled truck driven by Larry G. Newland, 23, Rt. 3, were involved in a minor mishap on Main Street at Court Street.

BancOhio OKd for purchase of Cleveland bank

COLUMBUS — Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio Corporation of Columbus, announced today that the Federal Reserve Board of Governors has given approval to BancOhio to purchase Capital National Bank of Cleveland from Shelter Resources Corporation.

According to Searle, approval of the $8.5 million cash sale means that the affiliation could become effective following a 30-day waiting period required by the Justice Department.

In its approval, the Federal Reserve Board stated that the acquisition should have "substantial beneficial effect on competition among commercial banks in the Cleveland market in which the four largest banking organizations accounting for approximately 77 per cent of the deposits".

Searle explained that through affiliation with BancOhio, Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company, Capital National Bank would be able to extend its banking services in the northeastern Ohio market area. For example, he said, Capital National's legal lending limit to a single customer would be increased to $12 million through the combined lending capacity of all the BancOhio affiliated banks, placing Capital National in a much stronger competitive position.

The First National Bank of Washington C.H. is affiliated with BancOhio.

State faces school suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A private school group has threatened to file suit against the state of Ohio for what it says are efforts to establish an "educational monopoly" in the state.

Robert P. Woodman, executive director of the Ohio Parents Rights in Education, said the monopoly would be the result of private schools' being forced to close.

Several legislative attempts to offer state financial aid to nonpublic schools have been overruled by state courts as unconstitutional, but Woodman said the stand actually prevents "many groups of parents and others from establishing alternative forms of education and schools."

Woodman said that the U.S. Supreme Court "long ago ruled that no state has the power to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only" and that Ohio was "doing indirectly that which the court has declared no state has the power to do directly."

Woodman, who said only that court action was planned, said that he was also urging Ohio's congressional delegation to spur the U.S. Justice Department to take action against the state.

Police recruit hurt in Cincy liquor sweep

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A police recruit, injured and arrested while on duty as an undercover man, doesn't believe he'll shy away from further undercover work.

"I guess you can expect anything when you're involved in things like this," Lawrence Henderson said about his role of undercover man in a liquor raid. "It's nothing to get all upset about. I don't think it would keep me from doing it again."

In his 11th week of a 17-week police training program, the 26-year-old Cincinnatian went unrecognized by policemen who arrested him during a raid on a jammed night spot here early Saturday.

Some of those on the scene said policemen beat Henderson, although they didn't know who he was, and that Henderson picked a fight with them. After Henderson was taken from the establishment, a policeman identified him as an undercover agent.

Nursing an injured leg, but not requiring hospitalization, Henderson said he was disguised in a "mod outfit. I didn't think anybody who knew me all my life could recognize me."

Henderson wouldn't confirm or deny whether it was fellow policemen who injured him.

"Just say I got hurt in a raid," he said. "It wasn't that serious."

Henderson appeared to have been knocked down a stairway during the raid, but he said, "It was one of those fake deals.

"I wanted to get arrested. It was somthing that happened in there — the night spot — I had to get some information out."

The raid occurred about 3:30 a.m. and Henderson aid he had been at the establishment since about 10:30 p.m. Friday. He said the place had been under watch for some time.

Eleven people were arrested on charges relating to liquor law violations. Police took the names of another 96 people, telling them they would have to appear in court on a charge of violating a city ordinance prohibiting people from being where liquor is served illegally.

Cleveland building collapse $1 million mystery for firm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The old Watson Building was only a pile of rubble for Cleveland commuters this morning-but it's a $1 million mystery for the engineers who began sifting through the debris this morning.

The building was ordered demolished over the weekend by Cuyahoga County commissioners after a rear portion collapsed two weeks ago, a few days after a private firm moved the building 23 feet south to make room for other construction.

The firm, Mural & Son, Inc., contends the collapse was caused by something out of its control. The county, noting that relocating the offices and equipment inside the building will run to $1 million, wants to hold Mural responsible and contracted for engineers to make a final probe of the building's ruins.

"Everything we did was done correctly," a Mural spokesman said. He said that one theory for the collapse involves the nearby excavation for the new county justice center.

Another building in the same area was recently shaken by vibrations from the excavating machinery, he said.

Another possibility is that the sandy downtown Cleveland soil-the bed of a prehistoric lake-just simply wouldn't support the building's weight on its new foundation.

Demolition of the building began Thursday night, and the 7,-000-ton, six-story structure lay in ruin today.

Asst. County Prosecutor John L. Dowling said that the commissioners may hold the firm responsible no matter what the investigation reveals.

"As a contractor he takes the job with full knowledge of all the risks," he said.

Voters approve Sunday liquor

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The first legalized Sunday liquor sales in Kentucky will occur in two northern counties in about 60-90 days, or sooner, if Gov. Wendell Ford gives his blessing.

Sunday sales were overwhelmingly approved by voters in Kenton and Campbell Counties Saturday in the first local option elections of their kind in Kentucky. Ohio has permitted such elections since 1971.

Leaders of opposing drives said the elections will serve as precedent for other eligible Kentucky counties considering such referendums.

Seek funds for Garfield home repair

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Lawnfield, the home of President James A. Garfield, needs some repairs, but a proposal to raise repair money through taxes has drawn less than applause from Lake County historical officials.

Mentor City Councilman Joseph A. Atzberger suggested last week that the city establish a .1 mill levy to raise about $15,000 annually for Lawnfield's upkeep.

Lake County Historical Society Administrative Secretary Mrs. William Slack said she was upset by the implication Lawnfield was "falling apart."

"Things need to be done as they would in any house of this vintage," she said. "We have been able to keep pretty well abreast, but small problems always are cropping up."

The three-story frame home and grounds, which Garfield bought in 1876, also features a log cabin similar to the one Garfield in which Garfield was born. Everyone admits the log cabin is in far worse shape than the house.

"It's a happy home for woodchucks and rodents," said Jack E. Daniels, former president of the society. "It's not safe to let the public in there. It got to the point we were afraid somebody might fall through the floor."

Mrs. Slack said that new logs are ready to repair the cabin when it warms up and that the society plans to put in a permanent foundation.

County cage teams suffer non-loop losses

London's late spurt nips Panthers, 70-68

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The Miami Trace Panthers and London Red Raiders locked horns in Miami Trace gym Saturday night with London coming out on top with a thrilling 70-68 victory.

It was a close contest all the way; an eight-point lead by the Panthers midway through the third quarter was the biggest margin of the evening.

Statistics for both teams were fairly even, London hitting 44 per cent of its shots, 31 of 67, while Miami Trace connected on 26 of 62 shots for 42 per cent.

THE RED RAIDERS were led by forward Steve Chadwell with 26 points on 13 field goals, and freshman Cecil Russell who tossed in 12 markers and played an excellent board game.

Four men hit in double figures for the Panthers as they exhibited a well balanced scoring attack. Pete Jones led the way with 17 followed by Dave Persinger with 15, and Muff Jones with 13. Glenn Gifford tossed in 10 points, most of them coming from long range.

Both teams opened the game with zone defenses and got off to a slow start offensively. Two quick buckets by 6-7 London center Ken Tumblison gave the Raiders an early 4-1 lead. Muff Jones closed the margin to one point, 6-5 on a layup with three minutes remaining, but London still clung to a 14-11 lead at the quarter.

Miami Trace captured the lead briefly in the second period when Randy Reiber, who had replaced Pete Jones, hit a 15-foot jumper to make the score 27-26 with 2:50 left in the half.

The Panthers, however, could manage only one basket in the remaining two minutes and London took a 30-29 lead into the lockeroom as Russell tipped in a missed shot in the waning seconds.

A full-court zone press by Miami Trace forced London into several turnovers and bad passes in the opening minutes of the third quarter as the Panthers tied the game at 36-all with three minutes gone in the period.

Miami Trace roared for eight straight points while holding London scoreless and opened up a 44-36 lead with 2:39 left on the clock.

London fought back and closed the margin to two points, 46-44, with less than a minute remaining but two baskets by Pete Jones in the last 20 seconds gave the Panthers a six point 50-44 lead at the buzzer.

The Ray Chadwell-coached Red Raiders outscored the Panthers 9-3 in the first four minutes of the final period to tie the score at 53-53. Pete Jones gave Miami Trace its last lead of the night when he hit two free throws to make the score 55-53 with 4:23 showing.

THE MADISON Countians suddenly caught fire and rossed in seven points in the next minute and a half to take a commanding 60-55 lead.

Miami Trace closed the margin to three 67-64, on a three point play by Cottrill with just over a minute remaining, but a free throw and a layup by guard Bob Ernst sealed the London victory.

The loss, the third in the last four games for Miami Trace, gives the Panthers a 5-5 record for the season. London's record rose to a healthy 7-3.

MT jayvees cop seventh win of year

The scrappy Miami Trace reserves upped their record to 7-3 with a 60-50 victory over visiting London Saturday night.

The Panthers exhibiting a tough defense xeld London to just 19 points during the first half of play. The Dale Creamer-coached Panthers in the meantime poured in 36 points, 22 of them coming in the second period.

Robin Zurface tossed in 20 points to lead Miami Trace. He was followed by Mark Spears with 10 and Phil Skinner with eight.

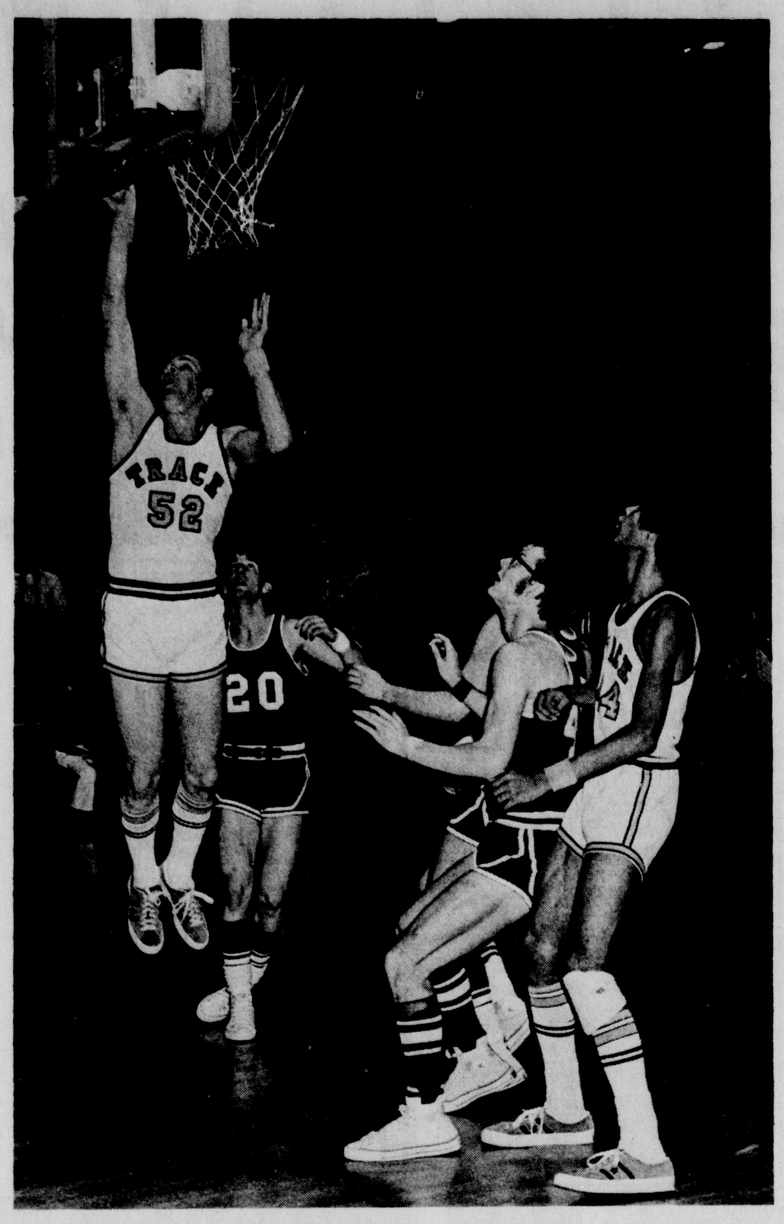

Kevin Weese led London with 15 markers.

Sluggish Lions drop 67-45 fray to Cavs

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

A lack-luster offensive performance spelled the doom for Washington C.H.'s Blue Lions as always-tough Chillicothe sashayed to a ho-hum 67-45 win Saturday night before a fine crowd under the WSHS rafters.

The Blue Lions, who connected on a meager 16 of 54 attempts from the floor for a lowly 29.6 per cent rate, suffered from a sluggish scoring punch which produced only 30 points by the end of three quarters and had only one player finish in double figures for the first time this season.

Chillicothe, coming off an upset win over state-ranked Newark on Friday, received a fine supporting role from its deep bench as head coach Tom Cuppett's starting quintet provided only 22 points.

SUBSTITUTE GUARD Kevin Blevins, a 6-foot-0 junior, sparked a balanced scoring effort for Chillicothe, which pumped its all-games record to 7-3. Blevins canned 12 points after bouncing off the bench in the second quarter while pivotman Dan Beverly hooped 11 points and Ted Gatliff and Mike Ratzlaff contributed 10 markers apiece.

Senior smoothie Dick Witherspoon worked from outside for 16 points to pace a sluggish attack for head coach Gary Shaffer's Blue Lions, who have experienced more than their share of problems against non-league teams this year.

The Lions, who absorbed their fifth setback in 10 outings, were successful from the charity stripe where they made good on 13 of 18 attempts for a sizzling 72 per cent figure. The Cavaliers connected on 11 of 20 free throws for a 55 per cent mark.

Other statistics were nearly even. The Lions turned the ball over 20 times while Chillicothe was guilty of 16 mistakes. In rebounding, Chillicothe held a 33-27 edge and used the margin to trigger a partially successful fast break mode of attack.

Fourteen personal fouls were called in the slow-moving first quarter and three were logged in the scorebook before Washington C.H. grabbed a shortlived 2-0 lead on a driving layup by senior forward Mike Domenico after two and a half minutes had elapsed from the clock.

Jeff Wallace scored on a rebound goal moments later to hand the Lions a 4-2 advantage, which was to be the last time Washington C.H. held the upper hand in the contest as the Cavaliers spurted to a 10-6 opening period edge.

Cavaliers nip Lion reserves in overtime

A quick Chillicothe reserve team used an overtime period to nip Washington C. H. 60-56 in a thrilling non-league struggle Saturday night at the WSHS gym.

Chillicothe rebounded from a 41-38 third quarter deficit to knot the game at 53-53 at the end of regulation play and then outscored the determined Blue Lions 7-3 in the overtime frame for its sixth straight win of the season.

Scrappy junior guard Mark Johnson ripped the nets with 25 points on the basis of 11 field goals and three frees, but more importantly was Washington C. H.'s hero in the late stages of the tight contest.

JOHNSON NETTED eight points in the see-saw scoring fourth quarter and accounted for all of Washington C. H.'s markers in the overtime period before he was sidelined with the maximum number of personal fouls.

Chillicothe fought back to tie the game at 43-43 with 4:55 left to play and then received a five-point overtime performance from Curtis Hambuck to post its sixth win in 10 starts.

Terry Richardson topped the Chillicothe scorers with 15 points and Hambuck added 14.

Jim Vess provided ample backing for Washington C. H., which suffered its fourth loss of the year. Vess scored 13 points in the first half and finished with 17.

IN THE second quarter Chillicothe scored 10 straight points to increase its lead to 20-6 with 5:24 remaining and added 10 more markers before the period ended to grab a 30-16 bulge at intermission.

Chillicothe's fast break became effective in the third period as the Cavaliers bucketed 14 more points to claim a 44-30 advantage heading into the final period.

Mark Bayless, Chillicothe's prize forward, was hurt in the early going of the final frame, but the Ross Countians coasted to a 48-30 bulge before both coaches started to substitute freely.

Joe Paterno nixes deal with Patriots

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Joe Paterno, admitting he wants to be more than a football coach who has to win to remain employed, says that was why he decided not to jump to the National Football League.

Ending weeks of speculation, Paterno shocked many people Saturday morning when he told newsmen, "I've decided to remain at Penn State."

The 46-year-old Paterno rejected an offer to become coach-general manager of the New England Patriots of the NFL. The offer included a stock interest in the franchise.

Panthers set mat record

Miami Trace's wrestling team established a team scoring record by waltzing away with honors in a triangular match with Athens and Ironton Saturday.

Head coach Chuck Wallace's improving Panthers stacked up 104 points, while Athens garnered 63 and Ironton compiled only 30. In dual matches, Athens defeated Ironton 39-20; Miami Trace downed Athens 51-24 and scored a 53-10 margin over host Ironton.

Eleven of 12 Miami Trace grapplers participating in the meet walked away with victories and nine of the wrestlers pinned their opponents which also set a new high for the Panthers.

Eight double winners paced the Miami Trace romp. The double winners were Tom Eddleman (98), Rick Cassey (119), Alan Fennig (126), Keith Earley (145), Ron Bays (167), Donald Dunton (175), Gardner Cobb (185), and heavyweight Karl Neiswenter.

Fennig, Earley and Neiswenter won both of their matches of pins while 138-pound freshman Jim Woods and Bays picked up their first wins of the season for the Panthers, now 3-0 in dual competition.

The Panthers will meet a tough Columbus Bishop Ready team at 5:45 Thursday on the Silver Knight mats.

Arizona Kiddy Korps tops Texas-El Paso, New Mexico

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA's national collegiate basketball champions keep rolling along with 55 straight victories so maybe you haven't heard about Arizona's Kiddy Korps.

The Arizona Kiddy Korps, socalled because of four freshmen starters, muscled their way into national prominence over the weekend while mighty UCLA was running up an 87-61 score on Oregon State for their 55th in a row.

On Friday the Kiddy Korps upset Texas-El Paso 79-73 and demonstrated it was no fluke by upsetting New Mexico, one of the Top Twenty in the Associated Press rankings, with a come-from-behind 83-73 victory Saturday night.

That put Arizona, which lost 20 of 26 games last season, into a first place tie in the Western Athletic Conference over the pre-season favorite Brigham Young.

Coniel Norman, one of the four frosh, threw in 34 points against the Lobos and led a 24-12 spurt that put the Wildcats ahead after they trailed by 41-36 at halftime.

Norm Ellenberger, New Mexico coach, called Norman one of the premier shooters in the country. "You need a canoe paddle to guard him," Ellenberger said. "Unfortunately we didn't have one."

"These kids are proving something to themselves that not many kids their age get to do," said Arizona Coach Fred Snowden, referring to Norman, Eric Money, Al Fleming and Jim Rappis. "They're learning they have to be adults now."

Snowden said Saturday's game with Arizona State on the road at Tempe "is going to be a real barn burner. It could be the civil war all over again." Arziona State also beat New Mexico and Texas-El Paso over the weekend to tie Arizona for the lead in the WAC.

Minnesota and Southwestern Louisiana, two of the Top Ten in last week's AP ratings, were knocked out of the unbeaten ranks on Saturday.

South posts 2 victories, North 1 in bowl contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's top seniors, playing in sun and rain more than 5,000 miles apart, finally rang down the curtain on the the college football season over the weekend and sat back to await the lure of the dollar in the pro draft later this month.

Rain was the order of the day Saturday as the South posted a pair of victories over the North—33-30 in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., and 17-3 in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu.

However, the sun shone brightly Sunday for the last of all the postseason games, a 10-6 victory for the North over the South in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

Chuck Foreman, a running back from Miami of Florida, got an early bonus. He picked up a $1,500 winner's share plus a new automobile as the most valuable player in the Senior Bowl.

Foreman scored on a 10-yard sweep, carried 24 times for 167 yards and caught three passes for 59 more before reams of pro scouts. Pete Van Valkenburg of Brigham Young, the nation's leading rusher, gained 159 on 22 carries, including a 75-yard sprint for the game's first touchdown.

The South dominated the contest, building a 33-16 lead with 12½ minutes left. The North was able to close the margin because of a Senior Bowl rule which allows a team nine points behind to keep receiving kickoffs after scores.

Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt, the Heisman Trophy runner-up, was named the Hula Bowl's outstanding player over Heisman winner Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska. Pruitt gained 61 yards on a field that was more like a quagmire, including a 15-yard burst to the three-yard line from where Southern Cal's Sam Cunningham barreled over for the game's only touchdown generated by either offense. Stanford linebacker Jim Merlo intercepted a pass and ran eight yards for the only other touchdown.

Two long-range field goals by Auburn's Gardner Jett gave the South a 6-3 lead in the American Bowl. But the North stormed 75 yards in nine plays in the final period, with Louisville's John Madeya firing a 16-yard touchdown pass to Nebraska's Jerry List with 4:55 left.

Illinois quarterback Mike Wells was the North's most valuable player while defensive tackle John Matuszak of Tampa won the award for the South.

Three Post 25 members attend baseball meet

Three members of the Paul H. Hughey Post 25 American Legion attended the annual District 7 American Legion baseball meeting which was held Sunday at Chillicothe Post 62.

Representing Post 25 were Richard Kelly, Charles Mallow and Clarence Wallace, all members of the post's baseball committee. Dennis Morris, the new Post 25 coach who is athletic director and head baseball coach at Madison Plains High School, also attended Sunday's meeting.

Managers and coaches representing Chillicothe, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Portsmouth and Washington C. H. reviewed rules and schedules the district tournament date.

The District 7 tournament will be held July 21-29 at Hillsboro with Washington C. H. Post 25 as the host team.

Fourteen Legion districts from throughout Ohio will compete for the state championship beginning Aug. 6 at Ashland.

Michigan tops OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Campy Russell thinks Michigan has solved its second-half laxness just in time for the Big Ten basketball chase.

"We came back too relaxed and too confident in the second half. That's been our problem all season. We all know it now," said the slim, 6-foot-7 Wolverine sophomore, toweling off in the Michigan dressing room.

"That's the only reason Ohio State came back," said Russell. His 23 points paced the Wolverines to a 68-62 opening Big Ten victory over Ohio State before a regional television audience Saturday.

Michigan blew a 32-21 halftime lead before rallying in the final minutes behind Russell to win for the first time in six seasons at Ohio State.

Russell pumped in 8 of 10 Wolverine points in one stretch, leading his team from a 54-52 deficit to a tell-tale 62-56 lead with two minutes to go.

"He's had the flu most of the week and missed practice three days," Michigan mentor John Orr said of his sophomore prize.

Ohio State owned a 29-24 advantage in field goals, but sank only four of nine free throws. Michigan hit 20 of 31 free ones for its eighth victory in 11 games.

Circleville extends non-league mastery

CIRCLEVILLE — Circleville's Tigers continued their mastery over non-league teams Saturday night by soundly thrashing Pickaway County rival Westfall 101-57 in the Roundtown gym.

Head coach John Lawhorn's Tigers connected on 59 per cent from the floor, hitting 47 of 79 shots, to pump their all-games record to 8-1 and hand the hapless Westfall team its 11th straight setback of the year.

Smooth-shooting pivotman Dan Graham popped in 22 points to pace Circleville to its fifth consecutive win over non-league teams this year. Senior playmaker Glen Gillespie provided ample backing with 21 markers.

Score by Quarters:

West.	10	13	16	18— 57
Circ.	26	22	20	33—101

WESTFALL — Pickelsimer (4-3-11); Shannon (2-2-6); Easterday (4-5-13); Graffis (2-0-4); Peterson (4-4-12); Clark (3-0-6); Angles (0-1-1); Totals (20-17-57).

CIRCLEVILLE — Gillespie (9-3-21); Martin (5-0-10); Hoskins (7-2-16); Radabaugh (0-0-0); Truex (9-0-18); Allen (2-0-4); Kline (3-0-6); Burns (1-0-2); Graham (10-2-22); Rhoads (1-0-2); Total (47-7p101).

Fayette County Airport notes

By JUDY DENNIS

Several of the pilots and students have been urging me to resume my "gossip column" of the airways, which I was forced to give up this summer. I was off work for several weeks due to illness, and there was such a backleg of work when I returned, that something had to go. Anyway, it's nice to know it was missed.

As we ring in the new year, 1973, here at the airport, again I have done a little research to sum up the various activities of the past year.

We instructed 40 students during 1972, retaining 35, which I think is a pretty good average.

Primary students working towards their private licenses were: Louie Poole, Gary Meyers, "Tex" Guerra, Steve Meyers, Phil Thornhill, Barbara Abernathy, Elmer Reed, Charles Dodds, Don Jackson, Marvin Cook, Gary Smith, Mark Merritt, Dennis Mickel, Bob Wilson, Mike Pierson, Owen Prince, Deane Carter and the Vess Family - Shirley, Jim and fifteen year-old son, Jimmie.

We purchased another Cessna 150 trainer for our students in the wild "Discover Flying" colors of aqua and orange, which Cessna used in their advertising campaign in 1969. Our 1966 Cessna trainer was sold to Ted Minton of Columbus.

Jack Patton, Steve Warner, Tom Preston, and Keith Houghton were working on their commercial licenses. In fact, Keith has been working on his multi-engine, commercial, instrument and instructor's ratings all at the same time. Keith is beginning to have his doubts about our Ohio weather. He came in from Kansas the first of November to get all his ratings, and it has been raining or snowing ever since.

"UNCLE SAM'S" students working on various licenses and ratings on the G.I. Bill were Jim Roberds, Bob Sowers, Ed Elliott, Tom Romph, Ken Mathias, Ron Fitzwater, Tim Vehenkamp, Bob LaGard, Norman Clark and Howard Wright. We purchased a Cherokee 180 for rental and also equipped it will full instruments for the VA students to use for instrument training. Of course, it is also available to others wanting instrument ratings.

I now own my first plane, a Bonanza, which we are re-painting and installing a new interior. Bill went to Mississippi in November to bring back a T-34 which he purchased for the Civil Air Patrol. The T-34 is a Navy trainer with a sliding canopy. Tom Romph, Eddie Pendergraft, and Bill flew down in the Cherokee to pick it up. The plans were for Eddie and Bill, in the T-34, to follow Tom back in the Cherokee. This was a necessity, because none of the navigation instruments in the T-34 were in working order. Bill had never flown a T-34, before, and he and Eddie were pretty busy on take-off, finding out what everything was. When they got off the ground, they looked around and couldn't find Tom, who had taken off ahead of them. They hadn't even gotten out of sight of the airport and their "leadman" had dsappeared! After some little difficulty navigating in strange country, they made it in to Tupelo, Mississippi, where they again joined Tom, and followed him the rest of the way home.

Bill administered 65 flight tests, this past year, of which 16 were students from our Fayette and Ross County Airports. Our students receiving the coveted paper designating them private pilots were Mel Hubbard, Tony Woodfork, Ken Jackson, Keith Houghton, "Shag" Ulen, Jim Davis, Jake Noble, Jim Patton, Jerry Morkassel, Jack Patton, and Clem and Marty Wright (a husband and wife team).

PILOTS RECEIVING commercial licenses were Ed Elliott, Steve Ingle, Howard Wright, and Mike Thompson. Mike received his commercial training out west while in service with the Air Force, but was flight-tested by Bill when home on leave this fall. Bill had taught Mike to fly while he worked for us as line boy, and we thought it was nice he came back to us for his commercial license.

Howard Wright and Keith Houghton also received multi-engine ratings, this fall.

The Fayette County Pilots' Association completed their second successful year, headed by President Maurice Hopkins, in his second year in office. The ADF beacon they worked so hard for has been delivered. However, it is not yet installed due to the fact that it has been too wet to get into the field where it is to be located. The Association sponsored a fly-in drive-in beef barbecue in July, which fell a little short of our expectations due to a weather forecast of thunderstorms for the day. However, the beef was delicious, and the people who attended had a very good time. The annual association picnic was again held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Graumlich, who surprised us with Carl Wilt and his square dance band. Everyone had so much fun, that Bill and I sponsored another picnic at the airport in September, with Carl Wilt and his band again on hand for a good old "foot-stomping" dance in the maintenance hangar.

THE WET weather this fall has not only been a headache to the local farmers, but also to the flying business. The students have had quite a struggle getting their cross-country flights out of the way, as well as local flying, due to the extremely bad weather.

During the summer of 1972, we completed the final arrangements for our F.A.A. and VA flight school at our Ross County Airport, and subsequently, we had picked up several new students there.

This past fall, Bill started another primary ground school for students working on their private licenses, and also as a refresher course for any pilots wishing to enroll. We are again using the Sanderson course, with 10 people enrolled, and expect the course to be completed in another month.

We hired Dennis Mickle as aircraft mechanic in June, and have since done several annual inspections for our customers, as well as general aircraft maintenance.

In conclusion, according to our records, our company aircraft have flown close to a half million miles, and 3,500 ACCIDENT FREE hours. We appreciate the support the airport has received in the past, and are looking forward to a bigger and better year in 1973.

The Marines' motto is "Semper Fidelis" which means "Always Faithful."

Master of disguises resumes his identity

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patrick Wolfe wears a conservative suit and tie now and spends most days behind a desk.

But there was a time when his life was a parade of disguises — from the frenzied appearance of a long-haired heroin addict, to the leather costume of a tough motorcyclist, to the slick garb of an out-of-town cocaine dealer.

"People used to talk to me about me," said Wolfe, for three years an undercover San Francisco narcotics officer.

"I sat in a restaurant one day with a guy who spent an hour warning me about Pat Wolfe. He even gave me a perfect description of myself.

"I thought he was trying to tell me he knew who I was, and I was getting pretty nervous. But when he left, he sold me two balloons of heroin," Wolfe, now an assistant police inspector, said.

AT VARIOUS times, Wolfe, 33, used at least six different identities. He wore long hair, grew a beard and learned the language of the street.

Wolfe says he made some 1,500 narcotics "buys" and played a role in thousands of drug arrests.

"You wanna know how good he was? " asks Sgt. John O'Shea, Wolfe's immediate supervisor.

"He would make the connection, make a few buys, arrest the suspect, and testify against him in court. And when he got out of jail, the man would sell Pat more narcotics."

Sometimes Wolfe found his disguise too convincing.

"I was walking along Grant Avenue one night with this dealer," he recalled recently. "A radio car pulled up, and the officer threw us both in the back seat."

It's just like playing a part. For each case I'd be somebody different, whatever seemed to fit. It was almost like a game — except I had the advantage."

ALTHOUGH he never carried a badge or handcuffs, Wolfe was armed with a handgun, a symbol of what he says is the rampant violence common to drug underworld.

"I'm glad it's over," Wolfe added of his role-playing.

"I would never have long hair now. Or a beard. Maybe a mustache. But I wasn't brought up that way. I'm very conservative. I always have been," he said.

Great future ahead for radial tires

NEW YORK (AP) — Radial tire sales will grow from 15 million in 1972 to 41 million in 1975, according to a projection by Alan R. Kerivan, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

"Of these 41 million radials, approximately six million will use fiber glass tire cord," he said.

The traditional automobile tire is called bias-ply. Bias-ply tires have their cords running at angles of about 35 degrees to the line of travel. On radial tires, the piles run at 90 degrees to the direction of travel, which is said to give much better performance to the tires.

Your Stomach Contains Acid

I know that the stomach contains hydrochloric acid. I also know that this powerful acid can destroy metal.

I asked my teacher why the hydrochloric acid in the stomach doesn't dissolve the stomach itself. She told me to look it up, and I can't find the answer anywhere.

Miss F. B. B., Tenn.

Dear Miss B.:

The question is an enchanting one and has been the source of study for many years by scientists.

The stomach juices, the digestive enzymes, and the hydrochloric acid are kept from "destroying" the stomach by the protective lining and the cells in that lining.

It seems that these cells act as a remarkable protective barrier and, in a complicated way, keep the acid from injuring the stomach itself.

Under some circumstances, the hydrochloric acid and the juices do produce ulcers which may even penetrate through the stomach wall if untreated.

New knowledge about the resisting power of the protective barrier in the stomach is constantly being sought. Much is known, but there are wonders of the body that still elude even the most diligent scientists.

What is the difference between an osteopath and a chiropractor? Do they have the same schooling?

Mrs. H. B., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. B.:

These two fields are distinctly separate from the point of view of training.

Both are involved with the manipulation of the bones and the joints of the body.

Here the similarity stops.

A Doctor of Osteopathy is one who has completed a four-year course in the techniques of osteopathy. Although he does not have an M.D. degree, he does have a D.O. degree.

He can treat patients with drugs and can perform surgery. He can become a specialist in any of a number of different areas.

Doctors of Osteopathy have attained positions in universities and in hospitals, and are respected members of the medical community.

A chiropractor uses the title Doctor of Chiropractic.

The chiropractor uses manipulative treatment on the spine and the bones of the body. He is not permitted to prescribe drugs nor to perform surgery.

I have previously mentioned that when chiropractors know their limitations and work under the supervision of physicians or osteopaths they can be a real contribution to some patients.

When, however, a chiropractor presumes to be an all-encompassing diagnostician there is the danger that some basic, underlying disease may be overlooked.

In my daughter's high school class, the girls pass around their cosmetics. Is this an unwise practice?

Mrs. R. P., Tex.

Dear Mrs. P.:

Only recently, a group of young girls had severe eye infections that were traced to an infected mascara brush.

I think it is not a good idea for adolescents or adults to share cosmetics, powder puffs, and other such personal items.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	4 ♥
Pass	7 ♥

Opening lead - three of spades.

This deal occurred in a European championship in the match between Finland and Belgium. Playing a highly artificial system, the Finnish North-South pair arrived at seven hearts on the sequence shown.

The final contract — with a 3-3 trump fit — was quite obviously due to a misunderstanding in the bidding. The two club bid was normal and designated a very powerful hand. Two hearts, however, was artificial; it announced an ace and a king, but not necesasarily a heart suit.

North marked time with two notrump, over which South bid four hearts. This was likewise an artificial response; it was a transfer bid commanding North to bid four spades so that he, with the stronger hand, would become declarer in spades instead of South.

But in the heat of the moment, North forgot that the leap to four hearts was conventional, and he thought his partner had lots of hearts in addition to the A-K of spades that South had already identified. In line with this, North jumped to seven hearts.

South realized that his partner might possibly have forgotten the convention, but he decided to take his chances at seven hearts. Accordingly he passed, expecting to find a string of hearts in dummy headed by the A-K.

West led a spade, whereupon declarer cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of clubs, followed by the A-K of diamonds and a diamond ruff. When he then led a spade, it did not matter whether or not West ruffed. South made the rest of the tricks on a crossruff and racked up 2,210 points for making the grand slam in hearts.

A trump lead would have defeated the contract — but it would have spoiled a good story.

State board eyes special education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Education was to review an interim report special education for the state when it met today, for the first time in 1973.

Last year's legislature ordered the board to develop a comprehensive plan for special education by July 1. The board was also told to submit an interim report to the chairman of the education committees of both houses by Feb. 1.

Also on the board's agenda was selection of a president to succeed Bryce Weiker of Tiffin. Weiker did not seek re-election to the board.

In addition, the 23 board members will draw lots to see how long their terms will be. From now on, the board will be elected to staggered, six-year terms with one-third of its members elected every two years.

All 23 of the current members were elected last November. To begin the new system, seven will serve two years, seven for four years and eight for six years.

The board will be asked to dissolve the existing Neil A. Armstrong Joint Vocational School District and establish a new one. The new district will include the Wapakoneta City Schools in Auglaize County and the Elida, Bath, and Shawnee Local Schools of Allen County.

Districts that will have an option to join include Bluffton Exempted Village School District and the local districts of Spencerville, Allen East and Perry in Allen County, and the Ada Exempted Village School District in Hardin County.

Police officer injured in tavern gun incident

A city police officer was injured in a scuffle at police headquarters Saturday night with a 78-year-old Washington C.H. who had been arrested on a concealed weapons charge.

Police Chief Rodman Scott said Capt. Charles Foster was assisting Patrolman Larry Hott in searching Russell Day, of 307 N. North St., disarmed and arrested a few minutes earlier at the Emerald Inn, S. Fayette St., when Day struck Foster in the mouth, Chief Scott said Foster sustained a laceration of his upper lip and broken tooth, and was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Day, who had allegedly displayed a .38 caliber pistol while in the bar, was forcibly disarmed and arrested by Foster and Patrolman Larry Walker.

Walker, first to arrive at the bar after receiving a complaint of a man with a gun, said Day, sitting at the front of the bar, was pointed out to him by Peggy Bryan, 529 E. Market St., a barmaid, as he entered through the rear door.

Day apparently pulled the gun and held it against his left leg as Walker approached him in the crowded bar. Walker said Day had refused to hand over the weapon and had put it behind his back when Capt. Foster walked in the front door and grabbed Day's arm.

WALKER AND FOSTER forced the pistol away from Day and wrestled him into the police cruiser. Officers said Day refused to leave the bar and had to be forcibly removed.

Day again became violent after hitting Foster while being searched and officers were forced to carry him into a jail cell.

He was also charged with resisting arrest and is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday for a hearing to set bond.

Chief Scott said Day had been arrested once before on a concealed weapons charge.

A 16-YEAR-OLD Washington C. H. girl who apparently ran away from home Friday night was found Sunday evening at a Washington C. H. residence by her parents, police reported.

Officers said the girl had told her parents she was spending Friday night with a friend in Greenfield, but had never gone to the residence.

Police reported that the girl had run away from home once before during the past summer and was later found in Atlanta, Ga.

Teresa Lloyd, of 824 Columbus Ave., reported that someone entered the employe's locker room at Frisch's Coffee Shop, Clinton Ave., and removed a pair of shoes from her locker. The incident occurred Wednesday. Loss was set at $2.

Grooms named Milledgeville Council head

MILLEDGEVILLE — John Grooms was named president of Village Council at its annual reorganization meeting Saturday. He succeeds Larry Anderson.

Ron Anderson was sworn in as a member of Council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sonny Morgan. The latter retired because of conflict with his work.

One more seat on Council remains to be filled since Councilman Tom Anderson's place was declared vacant last December for failure of the incumbent to attend the required number of meetings.

Ron Anderson was appointed street superintendent and Mayor Johnny Blair reported that a $200-a-year contract with the Sheriff's Department has been reviewed. The contract provides that officers of the Sheriff's Department will patrol the village occasionally and enforce the ordinances. The contract is required because Milledgeville is an incorporated village and, thus, outside the normal jurisdiction of the Sheriff's Department.

Council also took steps to clamp down on owners of unlicensed junk cars left on streets and in alleys.

Mayor Blair was authorized to purchase a filing cabinet to be placed in the Township Hall at Plymouth, where Council meetings are held.

New quints doing fine in Illinois

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Baer quintuplets are "doing fine and the father is calming down," says a spokesman at Evanston Hospital.

Even Thomas Allen, the first born who had developed a respiratory problem, was being fed orally and was being given oxygen "just once in a while," the spokesman said Sunday night.

The three girls and two boys were born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. James Baer of Northbrook. Thomas Allen, Elizabeth, Douglas Edward, Leslie and Vickie were moved from Highland Park Hospital to Evanston Hospital, a referral center for premature and highrisk babies.

The father has shuttled back and forth from Evanston to Highland Park, where his wife Lynn, 26, was recovering from 10 hours' labor.

Dr. Melvin Cohen, medical director of Fertility Institute, Ltd., said Sunday he had treated Mrs. Baer daily with the fertility drug Perganol before she became pregnant. He declined to discuss her case further.

Perganol is administered on a carefully monitored basis, usually daily, to women who fail to ovulate.

In Israel, where the drug is used more widely than in the United States, a medical team reported in 1970 that, of 78 pregnancies that followed treatment with the drug, 31 resulted in multiple births.

Mine removed from hazard list

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Mines says it was in error last year when it included the Valley Camp Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine as one of the 10 most hazardous mines in the U. S.

The No. 3 mine, located at nearby Triadelphia, was included in a listing released last fall. At the time Valley Camp Vice President Alvey B. Rushton protested the rating and usked an investigation.

The original news release said the No. 3 mine had been subject to 512 man-hours of inspection by federal mine officials, but the Bureau in a letter of apology to the mining firm explained that the number of man-hours should have been only 34.

Courts

MONEY SOUGHT

Joseph Sauer, 220 Delaware St., has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court seeking to recover $5,200 he alleges is owed him by Wilson Furnace Service, Inc., 1020 S. Hinde St. The petition also asks that a receiver be appointed for the corporation, which, the petition claims, is insolvent, or nearly so.

YOUTH COMMITTED

A 16-year-old boy, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was temporarily committed to the Ohio Youth Commission Friday in Juvenile Court.

The boy was arrested Dec. 30 by city police on Water Street, near W. Temple St. He was charged with carrying a loaded .32 caliber pistol.

Gun range mishap injures man, 28

James A. Armstrong, 28, of Chillicothe, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a laceration of his forehead suffered in an accident at the Fayette County Fish and Game Lodge, Stafford Rd., Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Armstrong was attempting to set the trap machine on the range when the throwing mechanism released, hitting Armstrong on the head.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Widen search for lost boys

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland police today appealed to residents and businessmen on the city's East Side to search "every foot" of their property for signs of two small boys missing for a full week.

The two children, 7-year-old Renaldo B. Goldsby and his 6-year-old cousin Virgil G. Stone, walked away from the Goldsby home the afternoon of New Year's Day. Neither has been seen since, despite a massive search involving more than 1,-000 police and volunteers.

Police said the appeal for people to search their own property might turn up clues since searchers have been frustrated in attempts to search many businesses and homes during certain hours.

Sheriff's work keeps climbing

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department received 354 complaints during December, including 33 which involved criminal offenses of a serious nature.

The complaint total was up by nearly 60 over the same month a year ago according to a report issued by Sheriff Don Thompson.

Sheriff Thompson said there were five burglaries, an auto theft, and 21 larceny complaints among the more serious crimes. Also investigated were six destruction of property reports and a bad check complaint.

Sheriff's deputies during the month investigated 88 traffic accidents in which one person was killed and 30 injured. The accident total was up by 22 over December of 1971.

Activity for the month included the investigation of a suicide attempt, two trash-dumping complaints, an accidental shooting, one animal bite case, three fires, 14 emergency blood or mental runs, 11 funeral escorts, 50 civil papers processed and 16 special duty assignments.

A total of 55 persons were either incarcerated in the county jail or given traffic citations. A total of 400 jury notices were handled by the department.

The 1,051 actions taken by sheriff's deputies during the month brought the year's activity total to 9,436, an increase more than 1,000 over the same period last year.

Auxiliary deputies logged 295 hours during the month.

Safety assemblies in city's schools

A series of life safety assemblies is being presented this week in the city elementary schools by the National Child Safety Council, in cooperation with the Washington C.H. Police Department. The assemblies feature "Mr. McFeely", a magician who incorporates various safety messages into his performance.

Assemblies Tuesday will be held at 1 p.m. at Sunnyside School and at 2:15 p.m. at Rose Avenue School Tuesday. Wednesday performances will include a 9 a.m. show at Eastside School and 10:15 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. shows at Belle Aire School. Thursday there will be performances at 9 and 10 a.m. at Cherry Hill School.

The safety programs are presented in the elementary schools each year by the National Child Safety Council, which is headquartered in Jackson, Mich. In addition, pamphlets and folders are distributed to elementary pupils. The literature deals with all aspects of personal safety, with particular emphasis on drug abuse.

Philadelphia hit by school strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's 18,000 public-school teachers struck today for the second time in four months after last-ditch talks failed to reach a contract agreement.

The strike, which came after the teachers' union said an offer of binding arbitration came too late, officially began at midnight Sunday.

A school-board spokesman said it would seek an injunction from Common Pleas Court Judge D. Donald Jamieson today in an effort to end the strike which affects 260,000 students.

Republican senators rip seniority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans today begin considering changes in the seniority system, the method of selecting committee members for 127 years.

A reform proposal by Sens. Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio and Robert Packwood of Oregon would allow the GOP caucus to make Republican assignments by secret ballot. The caucus also would designate the ranking Republican on each committee.

The measure also includes a 'grandfather'' clause which would preserve the seniority of senators who held ranking positions in the last Congress.

But the secret balloting aspect of the Taft and Packwood measure is opposed by Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, who says he will move to have all votes put on the caucus record.

Secret balloting, Baker says, "would lead to all sorts of log rolling."

Another proposal by Sen. James Buckley, New York Conservative Party who takes part in the GOP caucus, would bar any Republican age 70 or older from holding ranking or chairman positions, current senators excepted.

Multiple strikes worry Massillon

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—It was a day for striking in Massillon today, with teachers and street workers already manning picket lines and the city's garbage collectors threatening to join them.

City officials, school board members and the Massillon Education Association met until 12:30 a.m. today before talks in the six-day teachers strike broke off with no agreement.

"I hope we made some progress," said Mayor Mark Ross after the negotiations stopped. The talks lasted nearly 10 hours.

Escapee charged in fatal shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus police have charged Robert Lee Schieb, 27, a Dec. 19 escapee from the Marion Correctional Institution, with first-degree murder in the shooting death last Friday of an east side bar owner.

Schieb is accused of shooting Edward Demier, 52, of Columbus inside GJ's Bar early Friday morning.

He was arrested late Saturday night.

Since 1952, the governors-general of Canada have been native-born.

Bourchier promoted to vice presidency

Paul J. Bourchier, 431 E. Market St., manager of the Avoset Co. plant on Leesburg Avenue, has been named the company's vice president in charge of manufacturing for the Eastern Region.

Bouchier, who came to the plant here in April, 1971, will be in charge of both the plant here and the one in Newburgh, N.Y.

Frank Giacomini became assistant manager of the local plant, reporting to Bourchier.

Bourchier's new post is part of a company-wide reorganization. Robert S. Manlove, company president and former manager of the plant here, retired as of the beginning of the year, being succeeded by Ernest Glaser, who was executive vice president.

Bourchier said production capabilities have been reorganized to parallel sales operations, dividing the country into eastern and western regions.

Common Mart panel sets 1980 union

BRUSSELS (AP) — A young, high-powered, supranational executive has taken office in Western Europe with a pledge to bring the nine countries of the Common Market into a "European union." The target date is 1980.

The executive is not a single man but a board — the 13-man European Commission. They seem to have no superstitious fear of working on the 13th floor of Berlaymont, the steel and glass capitol of the European Economic Community.

They will run its daily affairs and prepare to turn it into something more.

Two of the leading members belong to a conservative, nationalist tradition. Politicians have a saying that it takes a liberal to carry out a reactionary policy and a conservative to push a progressive one.

President Francois-Xavier Ortoli, 47, made his political name as finance minister to President Charles de Gaulle, one of the most militant nationalists in postwar Europe.

Sir Christopher Soames, one of the five vice presidents, is a son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill. He got credit for patching up British relations with De Gaulle after the French blackballed Britain's first attempt to join the Common Market.
